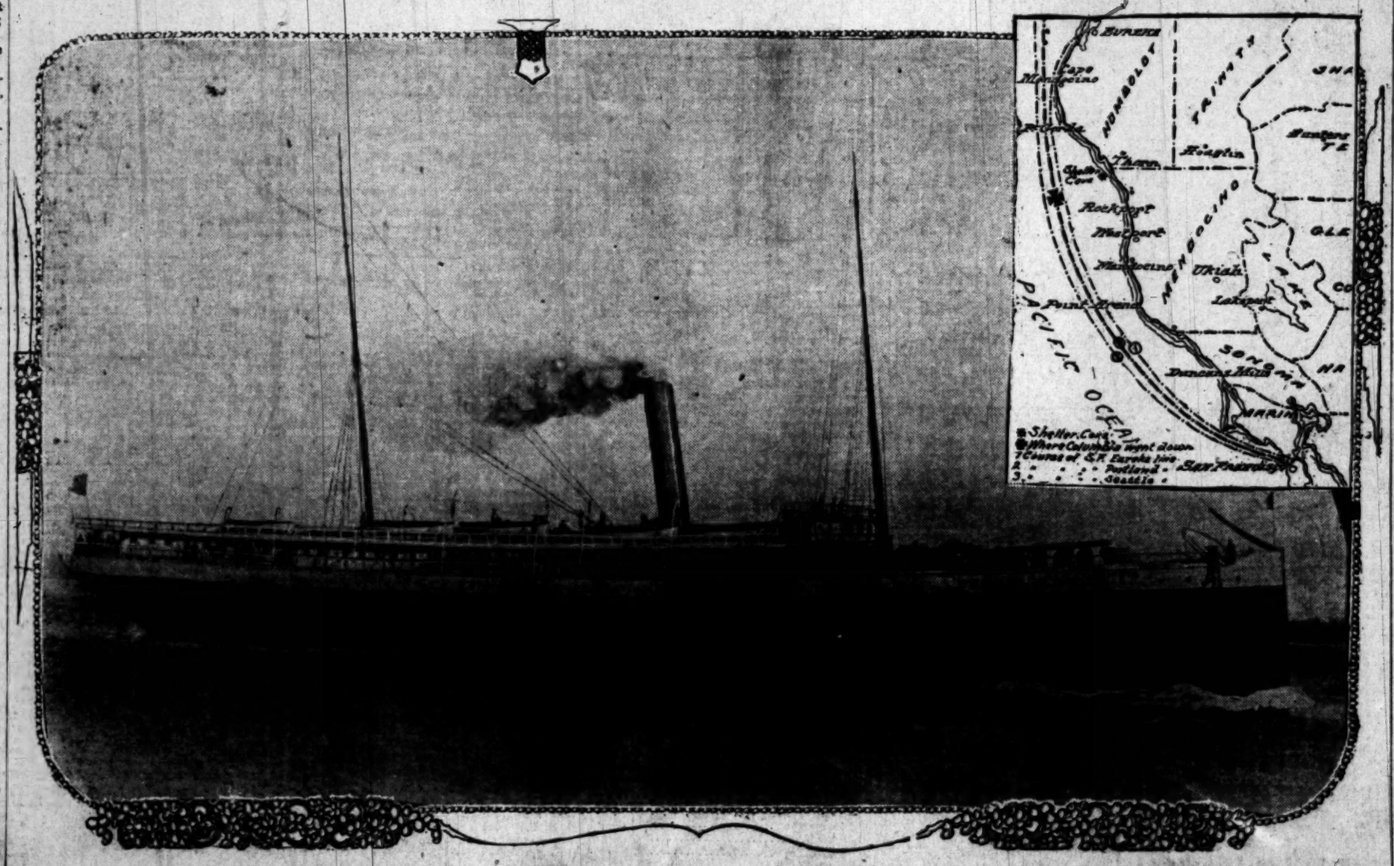
SEVENTY-TWO MISSING FROM SUNKEN COLUMBIA.



The San Francisco and Portland Steamship Company's 300 foot steel vessel, Columbia, and map showing where she was sunk off Shelter Cove on the Mendocino County Coast about 1 o'clock Sunday morning in a collision with the San Pedro, a 160 foot wooden schooner. The Columbia was bound for Portland from San Francisco while the San Pedro was south bound from Eureka. The Columbia was built at Chester, Pa., and was one of the best known passenger steamers on the coast. During the earthquake and fire the Columbia was lying at the dry dock of the Union Iron Works and the shock loosened some of her blocks, with the result that the vessel capsized. But she was entirely refitted and had been plying regularly between San Francisco and Portland for many months.

SUPERVISORS TELL OF GRAFT CARNIVAL.

Political Creatures of Labor Unions Relate How They Betrayed City and Their Debauchers—Lonergan Narrates Details of His Shame.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—In the midst of a public confession that would have driven a man of ordinary feelings to suicide, Supervisor Lonergan gave a sickly grin of self-appreciation in Judge Lawlor's court today. After that it no longer seemed cruel or pitiless in Heney to drag out of these confessed criminals one at a time the full story of their shame before a crowd of curious hundreds.

Lonergan, as the most shameless and greedy of them all, had to tell the main story. Lonergan is the finished product of labor unionism. As the labor unions by their votes elevated him to govern their city, he fairly must be assumed to be the flower of the flock. He was summoned from a bakery wagon to take a seat among the Supervisors.

He is a coarse, gritty little creature. His head seems almost flat on top and is covered with wisps of slick hair that have the effect of having been painted on his scalp. He has little, red-rimmed, pig-like eyes.

It was through him that all the grafters were caught. Lonergan was trapped through his greed for money. He knew he was walking into a snare, but could not resist the clink of gold.

He came to the witness stand with a hang-dog and mournful air, but apparently not in mental distress. Probably his sole emotion was to wish he wasn't there.

Under sharp questions from Heney, he told how he met T. V. Halsey in February, 1906, and how the agent of the telephone company asked him if he could depend on his friendship. Lonergan said they could, but it seems that they couldn't. He voted the other way.

They asked this morning why he gave the telephone company the "double cross." He said, piously, that it was because he had learned that the telephone company was opposed to union labor.

HIS DELICATE ETHICS.

From this it will be seen at once that Supervisor Lonergan was a person of delicate discrimination on morals and ethics. He said they paid him $1000 down and promised him $5000.

"Whom did you give it to?" asked Heney.

Remembering how Supervisor Boxton had declined to drag his family into the case, Lonergan answered with ill-concealed pride in his elegance:

"I prefer not to answer that question."

Heney withdrew the question and asked him for his later meeting with Halsey after he had taken the money and voted the wrong way.

"He came to the house and kind of upbraided me for having voted the other way."

Lonergan had agreed to vote to not give the Home Telephone Company a franchise and had voted for the franchise, taking money from both companies.

By the time the ordinance came to a vote, he said, he had collected the whole $5000. He called on Halsey in the Mills building and got his $4000 balance.

"What did you do with that?"

"Hi prefer not to answer," said Lonergan. But Judge Lawlor had wearied of his delicate feelings and told him to answer the question.

"Hi 'anded it to m' wife," said Lonergan.

Lonergan gulped and squirmed in his chair, apparently at the thought of what his wife is going to say to him for telling.

"What did Halsey say when he upbraided you for voting against your promise?" asked Heney.

"He said I had placed him in an ugly position and he wanted me to turn about and support him after all."

"What did you say to that?"

SUPPORTED ADMINISTRATION.

"I said," replied Lonergan grandly, "that I couldn't afford to go back on the administration. He said he had eleven or twelve votes and I found he hadn't. I told him it was him that had placed me in an ugly position."

"What happened then?" suggested Heney, smiling.

"He asked me if I couldn't give back the $5000."

"Yes," said Heney.

Lonergan's little pig eyes darted uneasily around for a second.

"Hi told 'im Hi couldn't see my way to give back $5000."

He added melodramatically: "Never in my life have I done a mean thing; I give him back $2500."

He said he met Halsey near the telephone office on Bush street and handed him an envelope with $2500 in bills. This was the saddest note in Lonergan's story.

On cross-examination, Mr. Delmas gently drew from Lonergan the story of the trap into which Burns led the grafters. This is an old story about Lonergan being lured to the house of a man named Roy, where he was offered a bribe with Burns behind a sliding door listening.

Lonergan told it with a sly grin.

"Mr. Roy, he 'anded me $500, and I

PASADENA MAN LOSES WIFE AND CHILDREN

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

EUREKA (Cal.) July 22.—Among the lost is Mrs. O. F. Lours of Pasadena. She died from exposure in a lifeboat. Mr. Lours's life was saved. Their boy of 9 and their 13-year-old daughter were drowned. Lours succeeded in getting his wife and children onto the upper deck in the brief interval between the collision and the sinking of the Columbia. But a breaker washed them off the cabin roof into the sea. The husband and father succeeded in dragging them up on a life raft, and for two hours the forlorn and wretched family tossed about on their frail craft in the blackness of the night. Eventually the children lost their grip and slipped off into the sea. Mrs. Lours succumbed soon afterwards from shock and exposure.

Special Order to Managers Regarded as Cast-Iron Business Agreement—Provides for Division of Tolls—New York World Discovers Basis for Prosecution.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The New York World tomorrow will say:

"That a cast-iron business agreement exists between the Western Union and the Postal Telegraph companies—a charge made by the Attorney-General in a suit to annual the charter of the two corporations on the ground that they constitute an illegal monopoly—is indicated by a special order of the Western Union to managers of its officers throughout the country.

"A copy of the order, designated 'Special sheet 0,' was obtained by the World today. It directs managers to deliver to the Postal Telegraph Company certain classes of messages for transmission and tells how much of the money collected for the messages is to be paid to the Postal and how much to the Western Union.

"The order is printed on a large single sheet, and is headed: 'The Western Union Telegraph Company, Superintendent's Office.' In the upper left-hand corner is printed 'Robert Clowry, president and general manager.'

"It is addressed 'To Manager ——

MANY ARE RESCUED.

Columbia's Death List Lessened.

Hundred Forty-four Survivors Are Being Cared for at Eureka.

Three Life Boats Arrive at Shelter Cove With Many More.

Ill-Fated Vessel Sank Eight Minutes After Rammed by San Pedro.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

EUREKA, (Cal.) July 22.—The best advices tonight are that 177 of the 249 souls on board the steamer Columbia escaped death when that vessel went to the bottom after colliding with the steamer San Pedro near Shelter Cove, off the Mendocino county Coast between midnight and 1 o'clock of Sunday morning. This reduces by nearly one-half the first estimate of fatalities.

One hundred and seven of the Columbia's passengers and thirty-seven of her crew have been brought to this port by the steamer George W. Elder, which towed the colliding schooner San Pedro from the scene of the disaster to Eureka. A late message from Shelter Cove says that three more life boats have been picked up, one of them containing eighteen persons, another fifteen, and the third not reported.

CARING FOR THE SURVIVORS.

The survivors who were brought to this port are being cared for at hotels and in private homes. The citizens of Eureka, moved to unanimous action by pity and the distress of the victims, have supplied sufficient quantities of clothing and all necessary medical attention without stint or price. A committee of citizens, under the leadership of Mayor Ricks, has charged itself with the duties of the hour and it is performing them with energy and all possible success.

A segregation of the Columbia's passenger list shows that in her cabins she carried 78 men and 90 women and girls; in her steerage 20 men and one woman, a total of 189.

Discrepancies, however, between the full list furnished the purser on sailing and some of the names given by survivors who have reached here indicate that the total passengers may have been greater in numbers. Sixteen of the names given here are not found on the steamship company's certified list. Adding to the 189 accredited passengers, the 59 of the 60 members of the Columbia's crew gives a total of 249 lives jeopardized in the midnight collision.

SCHOOL TEACHERS RESCUED.

Among the survivors rescued and carried north to this port by the George W. Elder are men and women from a score of States, and not a few from the Atlantic seaboard and the Middle West. Among these are a number of school teachers who were varying with a sea voyage their home trip from the annual convention of the National Education Association at Los Angeles.

Eight minutes from the time the San Pedro struck the Columbia, the latter vessel had filled full of water and sunk. The night saloon watchman notified all the passengers to go to the upper deck. Without dressing, they climbed out of their berths and rushed out. It was only two or three minutes before the decks were awash. Six boats and three life rafts were cut loose and as many passengers as possible were crowded into them. There was scarcely any evidence of a panic and the women acted with heroism. The crew of the San Pedro immediately lowered a boat and picked up a large number of survivors, while the boats from the Columbia lay to, by the San Pedro. When the Columbia sank she carried down with her about seventy-four passengers. This estimate is not accurate and the number cannot be definitely determined until full particulars are received from Shelter Cove, where four boats are said to have been landed.

GOES DOWN WITH HIS SHIP.

Capt. Doran and First Officer Whitney were on the deck when the Columbia sank. The captain's last words were: "God bless you." According to Purser J. E. Eyrnes of the Columbia, there were 190 passengers aboard, 168 first-class and 22 steerage, and 60 of the crew. It is known that 107 passengers have been saved, and 37 of the crew. The exact number at Shelter Cove is yet to be determined. Just as the Columbia was sinking her boilers exploded. This counteracted the suction and saved many lives.

Husbands and wives were separated and fathers and mothers and children became lost to each other in the excitement when the boats collided. The only dead person caught by the Elder was George T. Sparks, president of the bank at Fort Smith, Ark. He and his daughter were on their way home. Sparks, when pulled up on a life raft, was weak from swallowing salt water, and shortly after being transferred to one of the boats he died from cold and exposure. His daughter was saved.

Two hours after the wreck the fog lifted and a cold wind commenced to blow. The people in the boats suffered much.

BLAMES COLUMBIA CREW.

O. Swanson, a sailor of the San Pedro, was at the wheel Saturday night when the fatal collision occurred. In his report to Sailors' Agent John Erickson, the blame is laid upon the shoulders of the Columbia's officers. Other members of the crew of the San Pedro substantiate the story of Swanson. He says that the order was given to him when the lookout sighted the Columbia to put the wheel hard aport.

This list will be measurably reduced by the thirty-three names of the survivors who came ashore in life-rafts at Shelter Cove.

Three points aport carried the San Pedro seaward, apparently out of the way of the approaching vessel, whose name at that time was not known. Short toots from the whistle of both vessels warned the skippers. The Columbia was on the coast side, the San Pedro on the sea side.

Apparently both vessels were proceeding at full speed. If all had gone well the San Pedro would have cleared the Columbia, but it is evident that an order "put the wheel hard a-starboard," was given on the Columbia, which sent her directly across the bow of the steam schooner.

CRASH IS TERRIFIC.

Whether or not the speed of either vessel was slackened is immaterial, for the crash of the vessels was terrific. The Columbia, an iron vessel, bore the brunt of the impact on her iron plates, cracking a gash seven feet across the forward hatch and allowing the water free ingress at a great velocity.

S. G. Peterson, a sailor aboard the Columbia, was on watch on the forecastle. He could see the lights of the San Pedro some hundred yards away. He gave notice of this fact in a shout to his superiors on the bridge. What they did he does not know, but at any rate the Columbia shot across the path of the San Pedro. He says that signals were exchanged between both vessels, but there was hardly time enough to slacken speed or make any preparation to meet the inevitable disaster.

Passengers say that the collision occurred at 12:30 o'clock or thereabouts; that it had been misty and foggy, but at the time of the disaster the weather had cleared up somewhat, and after the collision the steamer San Pedro could be seen where she had drifted away, a quarter of a mile.

SOME ONE TO BLAME.

That some poor navigation was made and that the lives lost are upon the head of some one is generally conceded. The San Pedro, it is said, was under a slow bell, and the Columbia, according to the testimony of passengers, was going at full speed. It is likewise said that she was headed west when the collision occurred, and one passenger stated that the Columbia attempted to cross the bow of the San Pedro.

R. Hawse, third officer on the Columbia, said he was in his room at the time of the wreck, and he noted the shock and heard the alarm given. He makes the official statement that the Columbia floated eleven minutes after the San Pedro struck her.

ONE GIRL SAVES ANOTHER.

Officer Hawse tells of the heroic rescue of a lady passenger by Maybelle Watson, who resides at Berkeley, Cal. Miss Watson was in one of the small boats with about twenty of the passengers and crew. The boat capsized when the ship went under, and they all went down. Only about ten or twelve, who had on life preservers, came up. Miss Watson had been in the water thirty minutes when a young woman appealed to her for help. The young lady had put her life preserver on wrong and could not keep her head above water. Miss Watson asked some men to help, but they all refused. She held the girl's head above water for almost two hours. The girl was unconscious most of the time.

When Officer Hawse approached in a boat and asked Miss Watson to give him her hand, so that he could help her in, she refused assistance until they lifted her unconscious companion on board. When the two girls were taken on board the San Pedro, the doctors said that Miss Watson's companion was beyond recovery, but when they learned of the heroic effort of Miss Watson to save her, they worked hard, and the young lady revived and is now all right. Miss Watson is only 16 years of age.

RELATES EXPERIENCE.

Prof. William Hardy Lucas of Seattle gave the following account of the wreck:

"As nearly as I can learn from those who did not lose their watches, the collision occurred at about fifteen minutes after midnight. The shock was hardly noticeable, but I heard the crash and the scraping sound that followed. For a few seconds I heard no other sound, and decided to await developments or information. Soon I heard one of the crew shouting: 'All hands on deck!'

"Still I supposed only the crew was wanted and did not leave my berth until the cry was changed to 'Everybody on deck; she's struck!'

"From the scraping sound I inferred that the vessel was aground on a rock or bar and concluded that I would not join in any panic or stampede for the boats, but would rather wait until all the women were put off and take my chances of getting one of the boats that might come back after going to shore, or trust to a life preserver and what swimming I could do. Without any waste of time, though not in any real hurry, I completely dressed, even to buttoning my vest, tying my cravat and lacing one of my shoes, but I decided not to lace the other because I might need to remove them in case I had to swim. But after adjusting a life preserver I gathered up my two grips and two bundles and began to hurry for the stairway near the stern.

LEAPS INTO THE SEA.

"The halls were apparently empty and I inferred that all the passengers had gone to the upper deck. As I climbed the stairway the vessel lurched considerably to one side and I quickly felt the seriousness of the situation. But I carried all my luggage up and shoved it under a bench along the rail so as not to have it cause any one to stumble. The vessel was tilting more every second as I moved forward along the side. Several men and some women were running about, asking for life preservers, and I told them all to look in their own berths. As I passed along I noticed a boat filled with people and others were trying to clamber into it. Those inside were pleading that no more get in because the boat would surely sink, so I left them and climbed over the ship's rail just in time to keep from sliding across the steep, sloping deck down into the water on the lower side.

"Within a very short time the vessel sank until the water touched my ankles, when I sprang into the ocean, hoping to swim far enough away to escape the whirlpool which I thought surely must follow the ship when it sank. I had taken about twenty-five strokes and began to be in dismay because I seemed to make so little headway, when the side of the ship toppled down toward me. As the water covered the boilers there was a great hissing, followed by an explosion, which heaved a large quantity of water and wreckage toward me. I was carried farther from where the ship was sinking, but the rushing mass of tangled timbers caused me fresh alarm, so I continued my efforts to swim away until, on turning my head, I saw that the pile had spread out nearly flat and some logs had almost overtaken me.

HEARTRENDING SCREAMS.

"A few strokes brought me to a raft, onto which I scrambled, and as I looked around no one appeared within twenty yards of me. All I could do was simply to await results, for I had no means of moving the raft about nor a rope that could be thrown within reach of any one. After the noise of the sinking vessel subsided I heard a most heartrending wailing, mingled with piercing screams, of those in their last struggles, and some of these were shrieking the names of friends from whom they had been separated.

"Words cannot convey any adequate idea of the scene nor express my feelings of pity and dismay. To be a witness of such distress is indeed a frightful experience, especially when one cannot possibly render assistance. Although the catastrophe was concluded within ten minutes after the collision, I am sure there was plenty of time for all to have left the ship with life preservers had they merely known where they were stored and how to put them on, and that could easily have been learned by all who were willing to take the time for reading the conspicuous signs that were on the walls of all the staterooms."

The engine-room crew, all of those saved, and the steward's department left on the steamer Pomona this afternoon for San Francisco. All those wanting to go to Portland left this evening at 6 o'clock on the steamer Georg eW. Elder. The local relief committee made arrangements for passage.

CREW UNACCOUNTED FOR.

The following members of the crew are unaccounted for: P. A. Doran, captain; —. F. Whitney, first officer; D. S. McAlpin, watchman; Paul Rinner, quartermaster; Charles Peterson, seaman; unknown seaman; M. C. Burpee and Max Klaus, assistant engineers; Dave Kaston; James Maclison and unknown man, firemen; Albert Anderson and George Alexander, water tenders; unknown oiler; unknown second cook; — Rutherford, mess boy; Louis Blocker, waiter; unknown baker.

NOT EVEN MASTS OF COLUMBIA SHOWING.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—The steam lumber schooner Daisy Mitchell, which docked at the Mission-street wharf at 9:40 o'clock this morning, was reported as bringing a number of survivors and several of the bodies of the victims of the collision between the steamers Columbia and San Pedro. This report proved untrue. The Mitchell brought one of the Columbia's life boats and a life raft. Capt. Schmitt of the Mitchell said:

"We were southbound from Willapa harbor and reached the scene of the collision about 1:30 o'clock yesterday morning. The Columbia had gone to the bottom and not even the tops of her masts were visible. The steamer George W. Elder at that time was taking the San Pedro in tow. I hailed the Elder and asked his if she wanted any assistance from us. I got such a short answer that you would think I had offered an insult.

"The San Pedro's stem was smashed to splinters and it looked to me as though she had rammed her way ten feet into the Columbia's bow. The San Pedro was settling at that time and had a heavy list. She had lost considerable of her deck load of lumber. The sea was smooth. The water all around was littered with timbers, kegs and splintered wood. We saw two life rafts of the Columbia and a life boat. We picked up the boat and one of the rafts and brought them along.

"We saw a great many life preservers floating in the sea, but no persons, either dead or alive. We cruised around the scene for an hour or two, then pursued our course south. The steamer Roanoke stood by the same as we did, and I understood she picked up a body or two, and one of the survivors."

Capt. Tozier, who belongs to the lighthouse service in Portland, was a passenger on the Roanoke, which spoke the George F. Elder, while it had in tow the steam schooner San Pedro.

"Judging from the condition of the San Pedro," said Capt. Tozier, "it is my impression that the schooner must have struck the Columbia with terrific force, as her entire deckload of lumber was missing, and she had a big list. Her whole bow was missing clear back to the forefoot, which would indicate that she ran at least ten feet into the side of the sunken steamer. The Elder was towing her with an anchor chain. Her whole mainmast was gone. She was being towed back to Eureka."

It is stated that the steamer Columbia was the first vessel of the class to be equipped with an electric lighting outfit. This was installed at the suggestion of the late Henry Villard, who supervised the construction of the vessel.

Capt. Doran was regarded by the officials of the San Francisco and Portland Steamship Company as one of the ablest seamen who ever operated a vessel on the Coast. His career has been free from accidents, and this is the first disaster that befell any vessel over which he held command.

Assistant President Fry of the steamship company said this afternoon that the Columbia lies in deep water, fifteen miles off shore, and that for the present, at least, no attempt would be made to raise her.

The body of Ed Butler, supposed to be from Portsmouth, N. H., has been brought here from the wreck of the Columbia.

The Merchants' Exchange of this city was besieged all day by anxious relatives and friends of the Columbia's passengers. Few women called there, but scores of men, some of them weeping openly, passed in and out or stood about the corridors waiting for news.

SCENE AT WRECK VIVIDLY DESCRIBED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

OAKLAND, July 22.—P. C. Walker, a passenger on the steamer Roanoke, bound from Portland to Los Angeles, which arrived in port early this morning, made the following statement in an interview with the Tribune:

"The Roanoke was bound south, and at noon Sunday we reached the scene of the collision, which had occurred between the steamers San Pedro and Columbia at the previous midnight. It was a startling and nerve-shattering announcement to receive at sea that two steamships had collided in the dead of night and that one had gone down with a hundred souls aboard.

"The surface of the sea all around the scene of the collision was strewn with the wreckage of the lost vessel and the deckhouses of the San Pedro and the deck load of lumber she was carrying at the time of the collision.

"The steamship George W. Elder and two steam schooners, whose names we failed to hear, as they were just resuming their course north, were at the scene of the wreck. The Elder had a line fastened to the San Pedro and her officers and crews were endeavoring to get a tow line aboard the latter in order to tow her to port. The San Pedro's aftermast had been broken off even with the smokestack. She was badly listed and waterlogged and so low down at the stern that the sea swept the afterdeck.

"When the Elder was hailed by the Roanoke, which belongs to the same line, she neglected to respond to her signal, and, while I do not like to say anything which may reflect unfavorably on the captain of the Elder, all on board the Roanoke wondered at his failure to give us any information regarding the disaster, in response to our inquiries, other than that a collision had occurred and that one of the two steamers which had come together, had gone down five minutes after being struck, with her master, Capt. Doran, and about 100 of her passengers and crew aboard.

"Perhaps the Elder's captain was too much occupied with the work of saving the San Pedro to give us any special attention. While we drifted across the bows of the Elder, several of the members of the crews of the San Pedro and the Columbia who had been rescued by the Elder, requested us to report to their families and friends that they were safe; but I could make out only one name, Kavanaugh, who, I think, was an officer of the lost ship and a resident of No. 1258 Broadway.

"We noticed the shipwrecked passengers of the Columbia on the deck of the Elder, clothed in table-cloths and other temporary covering, and a large bier on the upper deck on which the bodies recovered from the sea were piled and covered with an American flag.

"As the Roanoke could be of no service, she resumed her course southward. This time the captain of the Elder responded to the parting signal.

"After we had proceeded several miles from the scene of the wreck we sighted two life rafts and a lifeboat; neither had anything living aboard. One of the life rafts was secured. The water keg had been wrenched from the deck, and bolts which held the deck to the hull had been drawn and bent, showing that the craft had been dragged as it was launched from the deck of the doomed steamship.

"When the raft was being raised to the Roanoke's deck the body of a man floated from under it. This was secured and pulled aboard. A life preserver encircled the body, and the horrifying expression on the face indicated that death was not due to drowning, but to fright.

"He was fully dressed, save for the head covering. He had evidently dressed himself hurriedly, for his vest was put on inside out. He was a tall and slender man and had a good crop of very dark hair.

"They searched the body for something to identify him and found a letter in one of his pockets addressed to '—— Butler, Portland.' The initials I have forgotten.

"The oars and boat hooks of the other raft were picked up, but the life raft itself, which was in good order, apparently, and had on deck a keg filled with water, was turned adrift.

"We noticed afterward that a white-hulled schooner, which was cruising in the vicinity, picked up the lifeboat and the raft. The boatswain of the Roanoke recognized the rafts as those which he had himself equipped at the Fulton Iron Works shortly after the big fire.

"Everything about the scene of the disaster, and the condition of the San Pedro, indicates that the latter struck the Columbia bow-on, squarely amidships, for the San Pedro's stem had apparently suffered no damage, while the sea was littered with the wreckage of the lower cabins and interior of the foundered steamer.

"No effort was made to transfer any of the survivors of the disaster from the decks of the Elder to the Roanoke. Perhaps this was due to the fact that the wind was blowing strong and a sea running at the time.

"We presumed that the Elder would carry the living and the dead and tow the waterlogged San Pedro to Humboldt Bay, where we had the previous day passed the latter as she was coming out and we were going in.

"The Roanoke has a full list of passengers, and the dreadful experiences witnessed off Shelter Cove unstrung the nerves of all of us. Many remained on deck all night last night, and everybody deserted their cabins as soon as the vessel entered the fog belt and began sounding the fog signals. We sail for San Pedro tonight and are due in Los Angeles Wednesday morning."

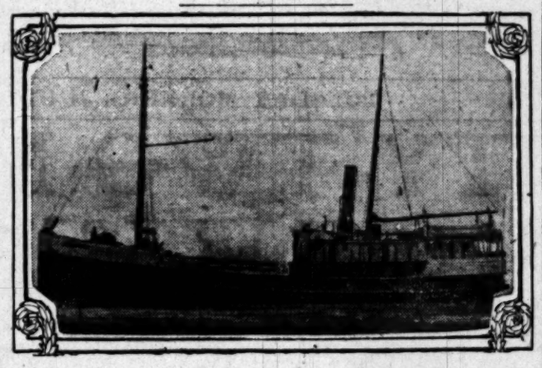
SCHOONER SAN PEDRO, WHICH SENT THE COLUMBIA TO BOTTOM.



The San Pedro was commanded by Captain Hansen, and is a wooden vessel of 318 tons. She is 166 feet long, 31 feet beam and 12 feet deep. She was built in San Francisco in 1902 for the J. R. Hansey & Sons' Company, and was recently sold to the Eastern & Western Lumber Company. She was badly damaged by the collision, but when last sighted was under tow of the George W. Elder.

PITH OF NEWS FROM THE MIDDLE WEST.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Sweltering Chicago endured another hot day today and reports of people stricken by heat and intense humidity were frequent.

Although a cooling lake breeze early in the day lessened the effects of the warm atmosphere, the humidity caused great suffering. Maximum temperature was 86 degrees, minimum 70 degrees.

FUGITIVE RETURNS.

Albert E. Streeter the millionaire manufacturer, who fled Chicago immediately after the exposé in connection with the Rensu Hotel, in which sixteen-year-old Margaret Burkle was found, is believed to be in Chicago again after having hidden for a year in Canada and Europe, and the police have renewed their efforts to capture him.

The new to Streeter's whereabouts came through a notice published by Mrs. Streeter. The wife of the fugitive millionaire communicated with her husband during his sojourn in Canada, but she is said to have lost track of him when he went to France, letters having been intercepted by the authorities. Later communication was cut off by fear of detection.

HAD RECORD IN CHICAGO.

Attracted by the mannerisms of Y. Sacameta, a Japanese servant, Mrs. H. C. Robinson, wife of Rector Robinson of St. John's Episcopal Church, of Seattle, eloped with him.

Telegrams received in Chicago told of the discovery and arrest of the couple in the Japanese quarters of Seattle, and ended the husband's long search for his servant and his wife. The wife was forgiven and Sacameta is trying to have himself forgotten. Rector Robinson was formerly assistant rector of Grace Episcopal Church, Chicago. Two years ago Mrs. Robinson was arrested on the charge of shop-lifting in a State-street store.

Mrs. Robinson is a handsome brunette, and while in Chicago was known as an ardent church worker.

INCREASED ASSESSMENT.

Real estate and personal property taxed by the assessors in Chicago and Cook county this year has reached the enormous total of $2,551,329,410. This means that the per capita wealth of each and every resident of the county is something like $2,500. The Board of Assessors completed the figures today. The record-breaking amount tops the figures compiled last year, by an increase of more than $460,000,000.

PARROT PLEADS NOT GUILTY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DES MOINES (Iowa) July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "I didn't do it. I didn't do it," pleaded a parrot in Police Judge Mathis court this afternoon. The bird was arraigned on a warrant, charging it with boisterous conduct and profanity, and was arrested, with its owners, Leander O. Bann and his wife. The complaining witnesses were Mrs. E. B. Elliitson, a neighbor of the Banns, and a policeman. The case was continued.

FEAR OF DEATH CAUSES DEATH.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WEBSTER CITY (Iowa) July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Fear of drowning is given as the cause of the death of George Davis, who lost his life while bathing in the river at Williams, a few miles from this city. Davis had been floating about on a plank, when it suddenly slipped out from under him, and he went down. The young man was rescued immediately by some of his companions, but the terrible fear of death in the waters had stopped the heart. When taken out the doctors stated that fright and not the water had killed him.

COLUMBIA WRECK VICTIMS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BLOOMINGTON (Ill.) July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] In the list of names of the drowned on the ship Columbia in the Pacific appears those of John W. Riggs, and wife. They are believed to be from this city, as the couple have been in California for some time. Mr. Riggs was for several years a prominent merchant here.

KIND TO UNFORTUNATES.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DETROIT (Mich.) July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Receiver Judson C. Harmon of the Pere Marquette Railroad has instructed General Counsel Stevens that the company in settling with the thirty-three victims of Saturday's wreck near Salem, will treat the killed and injured the same as if they had been regular paid passengers instead of employés, and their families.

HAD PREMONITION OF COMING DISASTER.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BERKELEY, (Cal.) July 22.—Miss Nance McLennan, one of the passengers who was on the ill-fated steamer Columbia, and who is among the saved, had a premonition of the disaster and wrote to relatives and friends in Waco, Texas, on the morning of her departure that she was going to sail on the Columbia and that for them not to be surprised if the boat was reported wrecked.

Miss McLennan and Mrs. James N. Brooks, also of Texas, were to travel together. Mrs. Brooks, at the last moment, decided that she would go by rail and meet Miss McLennan in Seattle, as she feared a wreck.

MANY RESIDENTS OF PORTLAND ON STEAMER.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PORTLAND (Ore.) July 22.—No disaster since the San Francisco fire has created such consternation in this city as did the news of the loss of the Columbia. Many of the passengers are residents of this city or relatives of Portland people.

Among them are Mr. and Mrs. Bert Lippman of San Francisco, Mrs. Lippman is the sister of Constable Lou Wagner; Mrs. Lippman's mother and other relatives reside here. Mrs. R. B. Cannon, Miss Stella Cannon and L. O. Cannon were on their way here to visit their son and brother, R. D. Cannon, city editor of the Telegram. Mrs. William H. Souls is the wife of W. F. Souls, marine editor of the Oregonian. Miss Maybelle Watson is the sister of E. A. Watson, a member of the firm of Tull and Gibbs. Miss Helen Churchley and Mrs. C. A. Eastman are sisters of Arthur Churchley of this city. Mrs. L. Drake and her son are residents of Portland. P. Golinsky is a brother of Mrs. Emanuel Meyer and of Mrs. I. N. Fleishner. Mrs. Leishner and Mr. Meyer are among the most prominent business men on the north coast.

TEACHERS RETURNING HOME.

SAN JOSE, July 22.—Among the passengers on the steamer Columbia were Attorney S. L. Partridge and wife of this city, who were on their way to Portland for a northern trip. Mr. Partridge is a prominent local lawyer, and Mrs. Partridge is a sister of James Rea, capitalist and politician.

Other passengers from here were Misses Ruby and Lena Cooper, of Fayette, Howard county, Missouri, who were in this city last Thursday on a visit to their cousin, Miss Vivian Head of the art department of the State Normal School. They had been in attendance at the educational convention at Los Angeles, and had started on their return home via Portland.

PROMINENT AT SAN DIEGO.

SAN DIEGO, July 22.—Mrs. A. F. Cornell, whose name is given among the list of passengers on the steamer Columbia, is the wife of County Tax Collector A. F. Cornell, and Miss A. B. Cornell, is his daughter, and is very prominent in society circles. Mrs. Cornell and daughter left San Diego on the City of Puebla last Tuesday evening and were on their way to their son and brother, Mr. Cornell, who has been ill. Kirk Cornell, another son, is an employé of the company here.

TWO FROM STOCKTON.

STOCKTON, July 22.—Mrs. Shaw, widow of the late [illegible] Shaw, Wilcox & Co., and H. C. Shaw Plow Company, [illegible] the passengers on the ill-fated steamer Columbia. She has a brother, [illegible], who lives here, and a sister, Mrs. R. W. Wilcox, who resides in Los Angeles.

A waiter on the Columbia named F. Murphy of this city is a brother. Daniel Murphy was a striking [illegible] electrical worker.

Miss Helen Madigan, who was [illegible] injured Sunday evening in an automobile accident, is a daughter of L. L. Madigan, who was in collision between an automobile and a Long Beach car. Dr. Edward J. Gallagher was called to attend Miss Madigan, who died yesterday. Dr. [illegible] and Miss Madigan were engaged to be married.

LABOR PEACE HOPE OF CITY.

Union's Eyes on San Francisco Conference.

Mayor Phelan to Address the Meeting.

Select Members to Talk on Pertinent Subjects.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] National interest is centered in the peace conference, to which its sessions tomorrow afternoon will call here, and apparently in the hope that the hope of San Francisco will come way out of the labor tangle being found.

There is a rumor that objection was raised by some of the Committee of Arrangements to Patrick Calhoun being elected to be a speaker at the session.

One of the most interesting phases of the discussion by ex-Mayor James D. Phelan of "The Public—the Party."

The members of President Roosevelt's Cabinet will deliver addresses Wednesday's session of the conference. Oscar Strauss, Secretary of Commerce and Labor, will speak in the afternoon on "The National Civic Federation," of which he is vice-president, and in the afternoon James R. Garfield, Secretary of the Interior, will talk on "Industrial Peace."

Thursday, the second day of the conference, will be devoted entirely to discussion of the subject, "How Industrial Peace May Be Maintained Justice to Employer and Wage-Earner."

The conference will end on Thursday.

POLITICS LOIL IN STOCKTON.

Efforts to Manipulate City Council to Grant New Police and Fire Commission.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

STOCKTON, July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] After several weeks of maneuvering, the Democratic members of the City Council tonight appointed Fred Wagner, hotel proprietor, and Joseph J. Jacobs, a barber, members of the Police and Fire Commission. The other member of the body, A. L. Cowell, will resign at once, as he refused to act unless W. E. Johnson, president of the Board, was reappointed. An entire new Commission will be named and organized.

By these changes it is understood there will be a general shake-up in the police and fire departments. Not only will all of the heads of the departments be removed, but the captains and subordinates will lose their places. The two factions of the Democratic party have been having a fight since the last election, and the fight tonight were anxiously watched by both sides.

Even though a Republican had a majority being made the third member, after a hard fight the matter was settled by the new Board appointing Briare Chief of Police Craig, Captain, and M. Lynch, Chief of the Fire Department.

office,' a space being left for the name of the city. The order says:

"'Prepaid day or night messages to the places named below, to which your square, State or special rate is 25 and 2 or less, should, as soon as accepted from the senders, be handed with toll therefor to the Postal Telegraph Company for transmission from point of origin to destination. Prepaid messages to those to which your day rate by square or State is 40 and 3, or over, should be treated as "other" line messages and sent via and checked as indicated below. The rates for such messages will be divided as follows:'

"Then follows in tabulated form the schedules for the division of the money between the Postal and Western Union.

"Where the rate is 40 cents for ten words and 3 cents for each additional word, the Western Union retains 15 cents out of the 40 and 1 cent for each additional word. The Postal gets 25 cents out of the 40 and 2 cents for each additional word. Where the rate is 50 cents, each company gets 25 cents. Where the rate is 60 cents, the Western Union gets 35 cents and the Postal 25 cents. Where the rate is 75 cents, the Western Union gets 50 cents and the Postal 25, and out of a dollar rate the Western Union gets 75 cents and the Postal 25 cents.

"A table providing for a division of charges collected on night messages follows, and the circular says: 'Collect messages to any of these places may be accepted, subject to the usual requirements; but such collect messages will be handed to the Postal Telegraph Cable Company from point of origin to destination.'

"Then follows a list of 35 cities and towns in Delaware, 2 in the District of Columbia, 48 in Maryland, 112 in New Jersey and 139 in Pennsylvania.

"Deputy Atty.-Gen. Charles Fireman, who has charge of the New York end of the suits, says the circular will be used in presenting the State's case."

COURT CONFLICT GROWS INTENSE.

PRESIDENT TAKES HAND IN SOUTH CAROLINA AFFAIR.

He Sends District Attorney General to Asheville to Watch Proceedings Growing Out of Dispute Between Federal and State Judges in Railroad Case.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
ASHEVILLE (N. C.) July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Further and more serious complications have been added to the dispute between Federal and State courts here by the action of Judge Pritchard in the Federal Court today, in declaring the penal section of the new passenger rate law unconstitutional and discharging the Southern Railway agents, sentenced to the chain gang by Judge Reynolds in the local court.

President Roosevelt has also taken a hand in the trouble by sending Asst. Atty.-Gen. Edward Sanford here to watch proceedings, and try to keep the peace between the courts.

Judge Pritchard was asked by Gov. Glenn by telegraph to withhold his decision until E. J. Justice, Speaker of the House, and attorney for the State, had arrived, but the judge ignored this request.

What action the State authorities will take next has not been announced, but it is expected to be taken quickly, and it is awaited with special interest on all sides.

Gov. Glenn declares that the Southern Railway is to blame for all the muddle, and asserts he will instruct the State's attorney to aid the solicitors for the State in obtaining new bills and prosecute the railroads until they do obey the law.

"I will stop the railroads from setting at naught the declared will of the people," declared Gov. Glenn.

Mr. Sanford said tonight he will advise that the case be taken by the State to the United States Supreme Court, and that the Department of Justice will request the latter to expedite its decision, and will ask that this case and the Southern Railway case at Raleigh be allowed to settle the questions at issue, all other proceedings being stopped meanwhile.

MAGILL'S FIRST WORDS.

Told Daughter to Summon His Inamorata Immediately on Discovery of Wife's Corpse.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
CLINTON (Ill.) July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "The first thing to do is to telephone for Fay. I can't do it, but you can. You 'phone her to come over here, right off."

These were about the first words uttered by Banker Fred Magill after he had discovered the corpse of his wife on the morning of May 31. Magill himself told the story to Charles Cline, assistant postmaster here, declaring that immediately after he had found his wife's remains he went to the bedroom occupied by his daughter Marguerite and aroused her.

Mr. Cline, who is one of Fred Magill's oldest friends, was asked what he thought of the story, and he answered that he considered three things extremely significant.

First, that Magill should tell him the story, as if in defense of himself, when no one at that time had accused him of foul play; second, that Magill should wash his wife's face and not remove a bowl containing chloroform which lay on the bed in her grasp; and third, that he should hurry at once to her daughter's room and instruct her to summon Fay Graham, the girl whom he later married.

Cline, like many other citizens of Clinton, believes Magill made a suicide compact with his wife and that she kept her part of the agreement, while Magill had no intention of doing so.

ARMENIANS ASSASSINATED.

Wealthy Importer of Turkish Rugs Is Slain by Fellow Companions.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
NEW YORK, July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Hovannes Tavashanjian, a pioneer importer of Turkish rugs and reputed to be a millionaire, and the wealthiest Armenian in New York, was shot and instantly killed early today as he was about to enter his place of business, No. 33 East Seventeenth street.

His slayer was an Armenian giving the name of Hedros Haupazoumian of No. 41 Archer avenue, Chicago, who, in attempting to escape, fired into the crowd that pursued him, hitting Ralph Brown, a clerk, in the left leg. Failure of the merchant to subscribe to the Armenian revolutionary fund, his alleged assistance to the police of New York in tracing the murderers of Father Kaspar to Constantinople and locating one Vartbanian, also of Chicago, now held in Turkey for the murder of Ohnnian Apigzian, a wealthy merchant of the Turkish capital, were assigned as the causes of the murder

LABOR.

LONG STRUGGLE COMES TO END.

Teamsters' Union in Boston Calls Off Strike.

Employers Refuse to Deal With Organization.

Many Workmen Find Their Positions Filled.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
BOSTON, July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The strike inaugurated sixteen weeks ago by the Boston Team Drivers' Union has officially been declared off by the union. Settlement was made by comparatively few firms on a private basis. The strike was for $1 weekly wage raise and half an hour less work daily.

Four hundred teamsters were affected at the outset. Many of the large firms signed the agreement before the strike was called. At the termination of the strike 110 men were still out.

The master teamsters said they were willing to pay the wage raise, but would not deal with the union directly. Of the members of the union, 3000 were granted a wage raise prior to the strike. The strike cost the union about $30,000, and the eight leading firms involved, $75,000.

Two deaths resulted from assaults by strike-sympathizers or strike-breakers, who shot into the crowd. Six hundred strike-breakers were imported and many of them are still at work. Scores were injured in fights between strike-breakers and union sympathizers and several suits are pending in court against the union. Several contempt cases came up for violation of injunctions against interfering with the teamsters' business. Several strike-breakers were sentenced for assault and carrying dangerous weapons.

Many union teamsters, applying for old jobs, find their places filled. Two concerns refuse to take back any strikers unless they throw away their union buttons.

The termination of the strike was the result of the efforts of the Merchants' Arbitration Committee. The merchants suffered severely during the height of the strike. Over $3,000,000 worth of freight was congested in warehouses.

UNION CLERKS LET OUT.

Western Railroad Companies Discharge Office Men Who Join Labor Organization.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
OMAHA (Neb.) July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Western railroad companies are discharging from their service men who belong to the Railway Clerks' Union. A local branch of the union was organized three months ago, and since then every man found to have joined it has lost his job.

All the roads entering Omaha are opposed to the union and will not willingly employ a member of it. Secretary Dennison of the local union was employed as a rate clerk in the Burlington freight depot here. As soon as his connection with the union was discovered he was given his time. It was given out semi-officially by the Burlington today that any employé found to belong to the union will be discharged instantly.

Other western roads have assumed a similar attitude towards the union. The promoters of the union are still at work and declare that they will succeed in maintaining the organization and making it effective.

RED RAG FLUTTERS.

Emblem of Anarchy Carried in Parade Resulting from Strike in Iron Region.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
SPARTA (Minn.) July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] With 15,000 men out on strike, and the iron-mining business of the Messaba and Vermillion Ranges in danger of total paralysis, members of the Western Federation of Miners are holding protracted meetings and working hard to induce the non-union miners to join in the movement.

These men, mostly Austrians, have refused thus far, declaring that they are satisfied with conditions and wages, but the unionists are persistent in their efforts to get them out. No outbreaks have occurred as yet, but the region is honeycombed with "blind pigs," and there is little doubt that if the men once get in liquor some serious consequences will be seen. Among the mines closed by the strike is the Genoa, where the men were getting $3 to $4 a day and good treatment, according to their own statements, and which has run steadily for eleven years.

Socialists had a big parade and picnic yesterday, in which Old Glory was borne alongside a blood-red flag, and scores of women, dressed in bright-red waists and dark skirts, took part.

ABIDES BY ANTI-PASS LAW.

International and Great Northern Manager Issues Order Regarding Telegraph Franks.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
PALESTINE (Tex.) July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Second Vice-President and General Manager Leroy Tryce today in a circular announces: "The International and Great Western Railroad Company is paying telegraph companies full rates for all messages handled, and the telegraph companies are to pay the railroad in cash for right-of-way privileges, station rights, operators' service, etc. This is the construction that is placed upon the anti-pass law. Please understand your frank is to be used to identify you as being authorized to send messages for account of this company and not to get any reduced rate or free service whatever."

KINGDON GOULD COMING.

With Other Students Will Prospect in Arizona, Then Visit Los Angeles.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
NEW YORK, July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Preparations are being made today by Kingdon Gould, youngest son of George J. Gould, and five other Columbia students, to start on a prospecting trip this week with Dr. Charles P. Berkey, an instructor of geology in the university. The party will journey to the Mule Mountains, in the southern part of Arizona, where they will hunt for gold, silver and copper.

"We shall pay particular attention to the various ores," said young Mr. Gould, "and we hope to discover rich deposits of valuable metal. After returning from the mountains, we will go to Los Angeles and other cities in California."

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BOISE (Idaho) July 22.—For four hours and a half today E. F. Richardson pleaded with the jury for the life of William D. Haywood. Under order of the court, hours for the day's sessions were changed and in place of sitting in the afternoon, court met at 6 p.m. Judge Wood was informed by the jury that the extreme heat of the courtroom was too trying on some of the jurymen, and complied with the request for a late evening session.

The preliminary hearing of the case of Dr. I. L. McGee, one of the witnesses for the defense, charged with perjury, came up this afternoon and will be continued tomorrow. Orchard was on the stand for over an hour and was given a severe grilling in the cross-examination by McGee's counsel. The prisoner-witness, however, maintained his characteristic calm throughout. He denied that he was in the Coeur d'Alenes. McGee swore to a meeting with him at Wallace.

A. W. Aller, the other witness for the defense, who is charged with perjury, was today bound over by the District Court.

RICHARDSON MAKES PLEA TO THE JURY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

BOISE (Idaho) July 22.—"The event of December 30, 1905, resulting in the death of Gov. Frank Steunenberg cast consternation over the entire civilized world."

In these words E. F. Richardson began today the opening address for the defense to the jury which holds the fate of William D. Haywood in its hands. On account of the heat Judge Wood announced that he had abandoned the idea of holding three court sessions a day.

The views of the jurors were taken and in agreement with those of counsel it was arranged to hold morning and evening sessions until the case goes to the jury for final decision. The evening session will continue from 6 to 8:30.

For fifteen minutes before Mr. Richardson began to speak, the courtroom had to be closed against the throng which sought admittance.

Mr. Richardson plunged directly into the death of Gov. Steunenberg. He declared that it was Gov. Steunenberg's fortune during his administration to stand in the forefront in a labor war in the Coeur d'Alenes. Perhaps, he said, the situation demanded all that the Governor did. Perhaps it did not.

THE FIRST "BULL PEN."

"I do not know," declared Richardson, "and I shall not attempt to say. But at any rate, for the first time in the administration of American justice, the 'bull pen' was called into being. Men were put in this bull pen, perhaps as a matter of necessity, but certainly without due process of law. Gov. Steunenberg's course was condemned on one side and praised on the other, as the members of the two hostile camps viewed the matter. The leaders of the Western Federation of Miners were adjudged guilty without a hearing.

"So far-reaching was this influence," declared Mr. Richardson, "that it extended even to the White House."

The attorney begged the jurors to lay aside any impression they may have formed from reading the newspapers during the past year and to start with him and go through the various events one by one without feeling or prejudice.

"Do this," exclaimed Mr. Richardson, "so we may justly determine in the light of our consciences, illumined by high heaven, if the man here at the bar and his codefendants in the cells below are guilty of the crime charged. It is my intention to carry out my argument, if I am not overcome by heat, in the following order:

OUTLINES ARGUMENT.

"First—I shall discuss the law as applied to this case and to the prosecuting witness.

"Second—I shall discuss the history of the Western Federation of Miners as shown here in the evidence.

"Third—I shall discuss the general conditions which prevailed in the Coeur d'Alenes at the time of the Bunker Hill and Sullivan mill explosion and at Cripple Creek prior to and during the strike in that section.

"Fourth—I shall discuss the series of the events relied on by the State to prove a conspiracy between the defendants, Haywood, Moyer and Pettibone.

"Fifth—I shall devote myself to the ascertainment of the particular offense the defendants are held on trial for, for remember, gentlemen, that while the range of the evidence has covered many fields and many crimes, there is but one charge in the indictment, but one offense against the State of Idaho.

"Sixth—I shall consider Mr. Orchard while under arrest.

"Seventh—I shall consider Mr. Orchard while in the penitentiary.

"Eighth—I shall devote myself to the impeachment of Mr. Orchard.

"Ninth—To the treatment of Mr. Haywood, the manner and method of it and the reason therefor.

"Tenth—I shall devote myself, as I have been invited to do, to the reasons why certain witnesses did not testify for the prosecution and as to why certain others did not testify for the defense.

"Eleventh, and finally—I shall discuss this case as it appears before this jury.

"When I have finished these eleven subdivisions, I will have done all that I can do to help the jury in arriving at a proper and just verdict in this case."

MUST BE CERTAIN.

Discussing the law as applied to Orchard, Mr. Richardson said the corroborating evidence in support of the confessing witness must be so strong that standing by itself, separated and apart from the witness's story, it is sufficient to remove all reasonable doubt as to the defendant's guilt.

He charged that the State had no corroborating circumstances of this character, as relating to the murder of Gov. Steunenberg, and for that reason a general conspiracy was charged and all the events of the Colorado labor wars were gone into.

"But, gentlemen of the jury," said Mr. Richardson, "the general conspiracy that the prosecution complains of is a lawful conspiracy. If this be a conspiracy then you are in a conspiracy if you are a Democrat and vote the Democratic ticket. The Western Federation of Miners was in a conspiracy to elect its men to office, to shorten hours and fix wages, and every one of these objects is lawful yet in this country."

Delving into the Coeur d'Alene troubles, Mr. Richardson declared that most of the mines there were owned by the Standard Oil Company and he proclaimed that wherever conditions were such as to create a Rockefeller at one end of the line and a man with a gaunt dinner pail at the other, more or less friction and trouble is bound to occur. The Bunker Hill property had been turned in for taxation at $60,000, but after the mill was blown up a loss of $300,000 was claimed.

OBJECTS OF UNION.

Before taking up the Cripple Creek troubles, Mr. Richardson returned to the history of the Western Federation of Miners and pointed out what its objects had been—to better conditions, to care for its sick and dying, the widows and orphans of its members. He ridiculed the idea that any one could claim that 40,000 workingmen organized for their betterment could be termed 40,000 criminals.

As to Cripple Creek, Mr. Richardson dwelt again upon the fact that many of the mines were owned by the Standard Oil Company. Wherever that company operates, be it in Colorado or Michigan, the attorney asserted, there was always some sort of labor trouble.

"And labor," he exclaimed, "always gets the worst of it. I don't know whether labor is always right or sometimes wrong, but I do say that it is not right that the laboring man should bear the brunt of what he doesn't do."

Richardson next told of the coming of Harry Orchard into the Cripple Creek district. He recalled the early crimes of which Orchard confessed—selling short-weight cheese, burning the store, gambling, etc.

"He even gambled away his interest in the Hercules prospect—according to his own story," said the attorney.

The defense claims Orchard lost his interest in this mine by being driven out of the country and it was for this that he murdered Steunenberg. Mr. Richardson went on to explain his statement as to the gambling, that Orchard transferred the mine but temporarily to Dan Carolan, the present owner, and was cheated out of its redemption when compelled to leave the country. If this were not true, the State would have put Carolan on the stand.

The attempted train wreck on the Florence and Cripple Creek road, Richardson discussed briefly as having been conclusively shown up as a "Pinkerton plot."

He next entered upon the Vindicator mine explosion arguing that it was an accident pure and simple. Orchard, he said, claimed credit for this as he did for many other crimes he never committed.

NO CONNECTION SHOWN.

The contention of the defense, Richardson declared, is that no matter whether Orchard committed the crimes to which he confessed or not, no connection has been shown between Orchard and the defendant at bar. Concluding his discussion of the Vindicator explosion, Richardson declared again that the preponderance of testimony showed it to be an accident.

Orchard's testimony as to receiving money from the Western Federation of Miners for crime was not corroborated by a single witness, Mr. Richardson declared, and should not be considered.

Both Moyer and Haywood denied that they had ever given Orchard money and the State had failed to show any fund from which only such money could have been paid. As to the value of their testimony, the attorney said Moyer and Haywood stand in practically the same light as Harry Orchard and are entitled to the same belief. As to the coming of the militia to Cripple Creek, Attorney Richardson said they came at the behest and in the service of the Mine Owners' Association, whose members were assessed so much a month to buy the certificates of indebtedness issued by the State.

Referring to Moyer's arrest at Telluride for desecration of the flag, Richardson declared the thirteen statements Moyer had had printed on the folds of "Old Glory" were indubitable truths and would be shown as truths when applied to evidence in the Haywood case.

REVERE "OLD GLORY."

"As to 'Old Glory' I want to tell you men that the flag is as much thought of and as much revered by the Western Federation of Miners as by any combination of capitalists who use it for their purposes in any part of the world."

Mr. Richardson declared that while under the ruling of the court he was not allowed to discuss the deportations from Cripple Creek or the employment of detectives in the various miners' unions, he wanted to dwell as much as possible on conditions in Colorado.

"I want to weave into your minds the thought that will come to you when we reach the tragic event at Caldwell; so you will understand why we have on the one side, Harry Orchard, finely dressed and clothed and in safety, although he is the confessed murderer of your late Governor, and on the other the effort to take the blood of these men to get them out of the way at the instigation and for the benefit of those names I shall mention hereafter. What I want you men to know is that if these men were guilty of the crimes charged against them in Colorado they would long ago have been called to account under Colorado law."

DISMISSES MURDER.

Mr. Richardson dismissed the murder of Detective Lyte Gregory in Denver with the statement that absolutely nothing was shown to connect the Western Federation of Miners with the crime.

The attorney here said that such corroboration of Orchard as had been produced reminded him of the story of a Chicago man who, during the World's Fair, remained away from home all night. When taken to task by his wife he declared amid hiccoughs that he had gone to the Ferris wheel and the wheel had got stuck. His wife said she could not accept such an explanation.

"Why, my dear, if you don't believe it," said the man, "I'll take you out and show you the wheel."

Next considered by the attorney was the blowing up of the Independence depot. He demanded to know why young Neville, who was said by Orchard to have been with him the day of the explosion, was brought to Boise, but never put upon the stand to corroborate the confessing witness.

"There is something behind this prosecution," declared Richardson. "But I do not mean Mr. Hawley or Senator Borah. I have no fault to find with them. I think that the jury, the court and every one will say that in the main this case has been tried fairly and decently by the attorneys on both sides. But somewhere there is influence which kept young Neville off the stand."

CALLS EXPLOSION PLOT.

Richardson charged that the Independence explosion was the result of a plot by the mine owners to extirpate, root and branch, the federation of miners which was trying to control wages and secure work for its members under proper conditions.

Answering Mr. Hawley's taunt in his opening address as to why the defense had not put Steve Adams on the stand, Richardson declared he wanted to be perfectly frank.

"It would have been a case of dog eat dog, and Hawley and Borah knew it. Under the same influences that worked on Orchard, they secured a confession from Adams which he repudiated. They have the confessions and we have the repudiation. The whole truth, gentlemen, is that one was afraid to put him on the stand and the other didn't dare to.

"In passing here, I want to say that the only reason Moyer was put on the stand was that not one scintilla of evidence was brought here to connect him with any crime except the unsupported word of Orchard. As to George A. Pettibone, he will take the stand at his own trial, and explain satisfactorily the transactions he had with Orchard."

Richardson spent the last half-hour of the evening session in providing an explanation of the explosion at the Bradley residence in San Francisco. He argued the impossibility of a bomb explosion, but insisted that a reservoir for escaping gas had been formed in the walls and under the flooring, and that when it came in contact with the lighted cigar the explosion occurred.

At this point in the argument court adjourned at 8:35 until 9 a.m. tomorrow, when Mr. Richardson will continue.

LOS ANGELES VICTIMS NUMBER HALF A SCORE

Many Southern California Homes Sorrow Over the Loss of Relatives and Friends—Of One Family Only One Member Was Saved.

LOS ANGELES and Southern California contributed more than half a score of the victims of the ill-fated steamship Columbia. The exact number will not be known until the corrected list of saved is sent out from Eureka and San Francisco.

One entire Los Angeles family, except one member, was lost; Pasadena is represented in the list of dead with three or four names, and Santa Ana possibly by one. In addition to these, there were among the lost several persons who had just left the homes of Los Angeles friends after having been entertained here, some of them for several months.

News of the wreck brought grief into scores of Los Angeles homes. Many persons from this city had departed recently for the north, intending to take steamer from San Francisco, and some of them had failed to specify upon what steamer they intended to sail. Their relatives were, therefore, uncertain as to their fate, and in many cases they are still uncertain.

Local offices of the steamship company and every newspaper office in the city were besieged with inquiries from anxious relatives, who feared that their loved ones might be among the missing. Until the list of saved was received, there was no possible way of allaying these fears. When the partial list was received last night it brought joy to some hearts, fat agony to others—to the one it was the joyous news that those dear to them had escaped death; to the other confirmation of their worst fears.

ALL LOST EXCEPT ONE.

F. O. Leurs of No. 99 Manitou avenue, accompanied by his wife and two children, a daughter aged 12 and a son aged 9, took passage on the Columbia for Portland intending to visit relatives until fall. Reports from Eureka last night state that the wife and children were swept overboard and lost, while the father was saved. It is feared his reason will be dethroned. His condition is said to be critical as a result of the exposure.

FOUR FROM PASADENA.

By a strange fatality, the family of O. S. Lewis, of Pasadena, consisting of four persons, were passengers on the Columbia. Dr. J. T. Paul, a prominent Iowa physician, was their guest, and owing to his persuasions, the Lewis family left for the North earlier than had been planned. After entertaining their guest with automobile rides and trips about Southern California, the party left this city, Friday, on the Coast Line. They secured passage on the ill-fated steamer, and according to the press reports, all were drowned.

Mr. Lewis was a wealthy lumberman and owned large tracts of timber in Washington. Recently he brought his family to Pasadena and purchased a beautiful home at No. 99 North El Molino street. The family consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis, Miss Florence and Ray Lewis. Dr. Paul's name appears among the missing.

Attorney J. W. Heffner of this city, an intimate friend of the family, and one of several to urge the Lewis family and their guest, Dr. Paul, to postpone their trip until next week, left for San Francisco, yesterday to learn more definite news. He was hopeful that later reports might prove that the supposed deaths of the Lewises and Dr. Paul were unfounded.

SOLDIER FROM SANTA ANA.

L. E. Hill, a member of the hospital corps of Co. L, Seventh Regiment, and son of H. C. Hill of Santa Ana, is supposed to be drowned, although his heart-broken father believes that the young man may still be heard from. Mr. Hill said last night:

"My son went to San Francisco, with his company, and then wrote us he would sail to Portland on the Columbia. He was an athlete and an expert swimmer. I cannot believe he is drowned until the first report is absolutely confirmed."

THREE N.E.A. VICTIMS.

Among the list of those reported drowned appear the names of Miss Frances Schroeder, Two Rivers, Wis.; Miss Hattie Goetgen and Miss Julia Matek of Manitowoc, Wis. The three young ladies were teachers who attended the recent convention of the National Education Association in this city. They were guests of the family of W. W. Schneider, No. 1249 West Forty-first street. Mr. Schneider said last night that the young ladies left this city with the anticipation of a pleasant trip home. They visited the Yosemite and later wrote that they would leave San Francisco on the Columbia.

TWO OF THE SAVED.

Miss Bee R. Fitzgerald, one of the passengers saved from the ill-fated Columbia, was late of Los Angeles. She was employed in the bindery department of the Home Printing Company, and for several months was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel M. Hammack at No. 144 South Avenue 55. She left Los Angeles last Wednesday, intending to spend a year with her brother in Portland, Or. Her parents live in Syracuse, N. Y.

Miss Pearl Beebe, a recent visitor here, whose name was included in the earlier lists of probable lost, was reported last night as having been saved.

LONG BEACH MAN SAFE.

George L. Hoodenpyle, a lawyer of McMinnville, Tenn., who was reported last night to be among the saved at Eureka, Cal., left Long Beach Thursday night, after a visit of several weeks with the family of C. H. Windham of No. 435 Peter avenue.

Mr. Hoodenpyle has been in the Indian Territory for some months, and started from Long Beach to McMinnville via San Francisco and Portland to visit his mother, intending to return next fall and take up his residence at Long Beach.

After being informed by The Times last night that his friend, Mr. Hoodenpyle was saved, Windham sent the following message:

"We thank God you are saved. Draw on me sight draft. Better come back at Long Beach at once.

KELLY FAMILY NOT ABOARD.

The report that Mrs. Kate Kelly, her daughter, Miss Irene, and her sister, Miss J. Mackie, and Miss Bertha Jones were passengers on the ill-fated steamer is not true. This party is en route to Alaska. Their transportation was arranged for them by D. F. Robertson, steamship and tourist agent, with the Southern California Savings Bank, who went with them to San Pedro last Thursday, where they embarked on the S. S. George W. Elder for Portland. Inasmuch as the Elder rescued many of the survivors, the Kelly party witnessed some harrowing scenes, but they were not in danger.

P. Golinsky of San Francisco, nephew of Kaspare Cohn of this city, was a passenger on the Columbia. Last night his relatives received a telegram from Eureka announcing that he had been saved.

STAFF OFFICER ARRESTED.

KOSCHUSKO (Miss.) July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Maj. George L. Teatt, a member of Gov. Vardaman's staff, was arrested and placed in jail today on a charge of attempting to assault Miss Presley, a girl of striking beauty and who is prominent here.

It is charged that Maj. Teatt attempted to assault Miss Presley in his law office and that he was only prevented by the cries of the girl.

Relatives of the young woman threatened to kill Maj. Teatt on sight, but eventually a promise was secured from members of her family to let the law take its course. His preliminary trial will be held Thursday.

DOCTOR TWAIN ARRIVE HOME.

DISTINGUISHED HUMORIST IS PICTURE OF HEALTH.

Noted American Almost Overwhelmed by Social Honors on Trip to England to Receive Degree from Oxford—Says Britons Can Appreciate Detailed Jokes.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Dr. Mark Twain arrived today on the Minnetonka of the Atlantic Transport Line. His garb consisted of a white flannel suit, a black derby hat and a smile. Ruddiness of cheek, sparkle of the eye and a step which was elasticity itself, showed that the distinguished American humorist had been much benefited in health by his trip abroad.

Since his departure from these shores a few weeks ago he has received the highest literary degree from the University of Oxford, has been to Windsor to see the King, and has been almost overwhelmed by social attention.

"Most remarkable man I ever saw," said one of the passengers who is a native of the tight little isle. "Jove he is daring! Saw him at the garden party of the King at Windsor, and 'pon honor, I saw him slap His Majesty on the back, not once, but several times, as though to emphasize a point in a story he was telling. No Englishman would have dared to so presume. Imagine my astonishment when His Majesty, instead of resenting such familiarity, seemed to quite approve of it, and they fell to talking in the most confidential manner."

"Well, go ahead, gentlemen," said Mr. Clemens, as the newspaper men lined up to greet him. "I rather expected that you would come to inquire how I like America."

To the question, "How did you enjoy dining with the King?" he replied, "the King enjoyed it."

To the inquiry if it were really true that Englishmen could appreciate a joke, he answered:

"Certainly; I found that out in the case of my jokes thirty-five years ago. It is nonsense to say that one nation surpasses another in a sense of humor. To fully appreciate an English joke you must have all the details, and when you know them all you are sure to appreciate it."

HARTJE CASE UP AGAIN.

Scores of Detectives Are at Work Securing Evidence for Each Side.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PITTSBURGH (Pa.) July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Fortunes are being spent by both sides in preparation for one of the greatest legal battles in the history of Allegheny county, in an effort to save Augustus Hartje from the penitentiary.

Scores of detectives are now at work on the case against Hartje. Clifford Hooe, a negro, and John L. Welshons, indicted for conspiracy in preparing false testimony against Mrs. Hartje during the divorce trial last year. The case, after a year's delay, will come up September 1, and the defense will try to reopen the divorce suit by introducing a new alleged co-respondent named Mitchell. Who he is and how he is to be connected, is being carefully and mysteriously guarded.

John L. Welshons, a wholesale hardware dealer, will ask a separate trial and will try to be tried first in order to afford Hartje as much time as possible.

Detectives for Mrs. Hartje have located a sixteen-year-old brother of Clifford Hooe. The lad is employed as a bell boy in a local hotel, and is said to have important information concerning the relations of his brother with Welshons and Hartje in obtaining evidence against Mrs. Hartje. Hooe is spending a six-year term in the Western Penitentiary because of the deposition he made against Mrs. Hartje.

The conspiracy case will not only include this Hooe deposition, but it will bring out sensational testimony in connection with the Hotel Lincoln and Watson-street house incidents named in the divorce complaint but never aired in court.

Mr. Hartje's attorneys are in possession of three warrants, two charging perjury and forgery, the latter in connection with the noted mad love letters. These warrants will be served immediately after the Supreme Court hands down a decision on the appeal of Hartje against the divorce finding. Mrs. Hartje's counsel believe sensational arrests at this time might be construed by the court as an effort to influence it.

DEATH CAUSES GLOOM.

Fatal Accident to Dr. Kenebel Causes Mourning Among Scientific Societies.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BERLIN, July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The accident in the boat belonging to Dr. Kenebel's Iceland expedition in the volcano district of Askja has cast a gloom over all scientific societies in Germany.

No further particulars of the catastrophe, which caused the deaths of the leader of the expedition, Dr. Wilhelm von Knebel, and his assistant, Prof. Max Rudolf, have reached here, as Dr. M. Spethmaann of Luebeck, who was rescued by a sailor, could not be communicated with by cable.

Dr. Von Kenebel was a pupil of Dr. Branco, a noted scientist, and had gained a reputation as an author of several scientific works on volcano action on the crust of the earth and on the subject of earthquakes. He was a leader of one previous expedition to Iceland in 1898 and in 1906 he led a similar expedition to the Canary Islands.

Since February he lectured in the Berlin University, and began to organize a new Iceland expedition for the purpose of visiting the volcanoes in the Iceland and studying conditions in the Askja district. Trustees of the Humboldt Endowment Fund supplied money for the enterprise.

YEAR FOR FORGERY.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—Ralph E. Parr, who pleaded guilty to forgery against the Bank of Alameda while he was employed as bookkeeper by the Burlingame Country Club, has been sentenced by Judge Ellsworth of Oakland to one year's imprisonment at San Quentin.

Attempts to have Parr placed on probation were opposed by the California Bankers' Association, through whose efforts he was arrested in Denver, Colo., extradited and prosecuted.

Max Mamlock, a pale, sandy-haired little man from an auto livery, was obviously shamed and short in his answers. He said that he was not satisfied with the $5000 bribe money Halsey is accused of giving to the others, and demanded $10,000. He put it in his safe, and it was burned in the fire.

"Did you understand that this immunity contract would apply to all manner of crimes you might have committed?" asked Heney.

"No; only those to which I testified," answered Mamlock with appalling simplicity.

"That is the reason why I hesitated so long." Others testified at the evening session.

FURY'S TESTIMONY.

In substance Fury's testimony was as follows: "I have lived in San Francisco for twenty years. Until 1900 I was a blacksmith. Then I went into the cigar business.

"I first met Halsey in November of 1905 through his assistant, John Krause, in a saloon at Powell and O'Farrel streets. Nothing was said about telephone matters at this meeting. I next saw Halsey some little time afterward at 234 Powell street, when he broached the telephone subject and asked me to protect the interest of his company. I said: 'I will do my best.'

"Afterward I was invited by telephone to call on Mr. Halsey in the Mills Building. Supervisor Sanderson advised me to go. I went. I found John Krause there and he showed me into a small room, where Halsey was waiting. He asked me again to protect his company, and I agreed. Halsey gave me an envelope.

"I opened it when I got to my place of business and found $5000 in bills. I put the money in my safe. This was on February 24, 1905.

"A month later, the telephone franchise having been granted to the rival company (the Home,) I gave $2500 of it back to Halsey and placed the other $2500 in my safe deposit box in the bank."

BACK TO JAIL GOES ZIMMER.

TELEPHONE OFFICIAL STILL REFUSES TO TESTIFY.

From Now On He Is to Be Brought Into Court Daily and Returned to Prison Again Until He Gives Desired Evidence Against Louis Glass.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Vice-President Zimmer of the Pacific States Telephone Company, was sent back to jail again today, still refusing to be a witness against Louis Glass. He has had but one day of liberty.

At Heney's request, Zimmer will be brought into court every morning and placed upon the witness stand. Every day he will be taken back to jail again until his spirit is broken and he gives the desired evidence against Glass.

Zimmer's face was white and set when he was called to the stand again this morning. He answered one or two preliminary questions about his residence. When Heney asked him about being auditor of the company, he said in a low voice: "I refuse to answer that question for the same reason that I gave before."

"Is the answer insisted upon?" asked the court.

Heney nodded, and they both looked at the white set face of the witness. Zimmer looked like a man almost in a trance. His eyes were fixed on vacancy and his teeth were shut hard.

The judge looked down at him rather pityingly, but his words were cold and formal. He drew out four or five law books and read from all of them of the crime of contempt of court, showing Zimmer how he can be prosecuted through the police court in the ordinary way of a crime after the court gets through with him.

Zimmer grew a little whiter, but made no reply.

"Mr. Zimmer," said the court, "do you now realize fully what you do when you defy this court?"

Zimmer made no other sign than a slight nod.

"No man," urged the court, "who believes in government, should assume your attitude."

Zimmer tried to make some formal reply, stating his reasons for refusing to testify, but his voice died in his throat and became indistinguishable. He was evidently about to get a heavy sentence, when Heney requested the court to give him but one day in jail, stating his wish to bring Zimmer in every morning, "in the hope that he may see what is right, and do it."

From the minute that Zimmer came into court until he was led away by the Sheriff, Louis Glass watched him with an intense look. But no recognition passed between them.

DYNAMITERS CONFESS.

THREE BOYS IN TROUBLE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—Walter and Eugene Burkhardt, brothers, and Howard Gaubatz, three boys, are under arrest at the City Prison, charged with placing dynamite on the tracks of the United Railroads.

The three lads have confessed to the police. The explosive was placed on the steep grade of the Eighteenth street line

Had an explosion occurred, and control of the car been lost, the lives of all who were on the car would have been endangered.

STOCKMAN IS SENTENCED.

Both Fine and Imprisonment for Violation of Federal Land Laws.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

HELENA (Mont.) July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Judge W. H Hunt, in the United States Court today, sentenced Frank D. Cooper, former chairman of the Board of Commissioners of Cascade county and a prominent Northern Montana live stock man, to pay a fine of $500 and serve fifteen days in the Lewis and Clark County Jail.

Cooper was convicted of a violation of the Federal land laws. His lawyer gave notice of an appeal to the Appellate Court, and this will act as a stay of the sentence until decided.

This is the most severe sentence ever imposed in a like case in Montana, and before imposing it Judge Hunt stated that men must not fly in the face of the laws of the United States. This came as a reply to the plea for clemency by Cooper's lawyers, who urged that his client had done only that which custom had sanctioned in the West from time immemorial.

FRIENDS WILL GATHER.

California Will Be Represented at Coming General Conference.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RICHMOND (Ind.) July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] C. E. Tebbetts, Whittier; R. W. Kelsey, Beckley; George Taylor, Anaheim; Andrew F. Mitchell, Long Beach; John Chawner, Pasadena; Harry R. Keates, Pasadena; Rhoda M. Hare, Long Beach; A. W Naylors, Beckley; Lydia J. Jackson, Whittier, compose the delegation that will come from California to the yearly meeting of Friends to attend the general conference of American Friends, which will be held in Richmond beginning October 15.

Official announcement of the list of delegates was made today. They will attend from all sections of the United States and from Canada, Cuba, Porto Rico and Mexico. In addition, there will be fraternal delegates present from England and Ireland.

LANDER GETS COAST LINE.

OMAHA (Neb.) July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A dispatch was received here today from Lander, Wyo., stating that the Northwestern will build to the Pacific Coast from there instead of from Bellefourche, S. D.

President Hughitt announced unofficially recently that the coast line will run from Bellefourche, but the Lander dispatch says that practical assurance has been given the people of that town that it is to run from there. It is positively settled, the dispatch says, that a line will be run from Lander to Ogden and Salt Lake City.

Officials of the company maintain that the coast line will be run from Bellefourche and that the line to Lander will be extended only to Ogden and Salt Lake City.

HILL CLIMBING FOR TOURISTS.

Glidden Entries Have Rough Trip Over Mountains.

Won. a Driver Cracks Axle, but Makes Repairs.

Pittsburgher Breaks Legs of Mail Wagon Horses.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BALTIMORE (Md.) July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Standing in the Glidden contest:

A. C. of Buffalo, 981 4-5.
Pittsburgh A. C., 977 1-2.
New York M. C. (car not reported) 942 7-10.
Westchester M. C., 620 1-2.
A. C. of America, 498 1-2.
Chicago A. C., 384.
Cleveland A. C., 375 5-8.
A. C. of Detroit, 207 1-2.

Today's 140-mile run through the quaint old towns of Northern Maryland, although allowed the longest schedule of the tour, proved today to be the nearest approach to a pleasure jaunt yet encountered by the Glidden tourists.

The run was not an easy one. For the most part it consisted of long, steady climbs, as for example, up the four-mile slope of Tuscarora mountain, followed by coasts which were, of necessity, slow, because of the constantly-recurring "water breaks" in the road. The hill climbing heated the motors, the coasting tried the brakes, and the "water breaks" racked the cars from stem to stern.

But for the tourists the long schedule made the run comparatively an easy one and a noon-day stop for luncheon at Frederick, the home of Barbara Fritchie, a complete shattering of all Glidden precedent, by the way, made the trip seem more like an automobile picnic than a section of an endurance test.

The one accident which marred the day's run occurred soon after the start, near Greencastle, Pa. Mrs. A. Cuneo of New York, the lone woman driver in the tour, was the victim. While her Rainier was bowling along at a high speed a tire burst on one of her front wheels. Mrs. Cuneo stopped the machine after she had demolished a considerable section of roadside fence, only to find that her front axle was cracked. When last seen by the tourists she was in a blacksmith shop in Greencastle, interpretending an attempt at repairs, and assuring every one who stopped that she is going on to New York anyway.

Thomas P. Jones of Pittsburgh was in a hurry yesterday, and when he reached a toll gate at Benevola he drove at full speed. A United States mail wagon was in front of Jones near the toll gate and he drove his Pierce car into the wagon, breaking two of the horse's legs.

The mail deliveries around Benevola will be delayed for several days and the local postmaster is going to take the matter up with the authorities at Washington. Just where Mr. Jones gets off nobody knows.

From Malvern to Philadelphia is the route for tomorrow. Ten and one-half hours will be allowed for the 170-mile run.

What few penalizations were made today went for the most part to the Chicago teams. W. G. Lewis's Mitchell, No. 24, received 60 points, and H. C. Tillotson's Stoddard-Dayton, No. 23, had misfortunes which made it 138 minutes late.

SENTIMENT AGAINST.

JERSEY DISLIKES AUTO RACE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TRENTON (N. J.) July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Antagonistic public sentiment and the contention of the constitutional lawyers that the house bill allowing a board of freeholders permission to close public roads make it almost certain that the Senate, when that body meets two weeks hence, will vote against holding the Vanderbilt cup automobile race in New Jersey this fall.

While it might be possible that some of the promoters would defy public sentiment, it is not likely that Governor Stokes will allow any one to do so. Besides, the constitutional defect in the house bill is fatal to the measure's success with th Governor, even though the Senate passed it.

The trouble is that the house bill is "special legislation" of the most pronounced character, in that automobilists are granted privileges denied others, a direct contravention of the Constitution. It closes public roads for private purposes, and the Constitution will not allow the Legisature to enact such a law.

Constitutional lawyers say that there is no way that the Legislature can pass a legal bill to allow this Vanderbilt race on public roads. It could only be held legally in New Jersey on a private estate.

Regarding public sentiment, there is hardly a paper in the State that is not opposing the race being held in New Jersey, and it is believed that enough votes could not be secured for the measure, were the constitutional inhibition not present.

MILE-A-MINUTE MAN HURT.

Reckless Motorcyclist Thrown Heavily and Probably Fatally Injured in New Jersey.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Charles Murphy, a bicycle rider, known throughout the country as "Mile-a-Minute" Murphy and a motorcyclist of rank, was nearly killed this afternoon while descending, with a companion whose name is not known, a steep hill between Paterson, N. J., and the village of Singac. Both were sent to the Newark Hospital. Murphy had three ribs and his right arm broken and received probably mortal internal injuries. His friend is thought to have concussion of the brain.

The men were motorcycling at more than a mile a minute down the hill, with Murphy pacing. To veer away from a farmer's wagon Murphy slowed a little and his companion crashed into his machine. Both were thrown over an embankment, narrowly missing rolling into the Passaic River.

After being treated by a surgeon, the two cyclists were removed to Newark in an automobile.

High School Players.

Four of the Los Angeles High School baseball players are now playing on the Avalon team at Catalina. Mow Mitchell, who was on the High School nine two years ago, is pitching; Stan Mitchell is behind the bat; the former captain, Bricker, is at short; and Jack Howard is in the outfield. The team defeated the Strongholds Sunday, by the score of 9 to 2.

CUPS ARE TAKEN HOME.

South Coast Yacht Club Assumes Custody of Trophies Won in Venice Regatta.

Yachts which took part in the Venice regatta Saturday and Sunday are back in their moorings near the clubhouse at San Pedro. The cups were given in the various events, and were on exhibition at Venice until yesterday, when they were taken to the clubhouse and placed in the official custody of the commodore.

The cups will be raced for again next year in the annual event of the club. All of them are new, with the exception of the Country Club Cup, which was offered several years ago, and has been contested for annually since.

The yachts which took part in the regatta all weathered the races and round trip well, with the exception of the Monsoon, which grounded off the shore at Venice the night before the first races. Later she was pulled off in time to take part in Sunday's races, but showed herself to be badly strained, and, no doubt, her owner will put her in dry dock, and have her completely repaired in time for the Santa Barbara races.

The energies of the club members owning racing yachts will be bent toward making the events at Santa Barbara successful. In addition to the yacht races, the contests between the power boats is expected to prove a big feature.

Cups which were contested for in the Venice yachting regatta, Saturday and Sunday—Cabrillo Cup (Class D,) Kinney Cup (Class A,) Ocean Park Cup (open—under thirty feet,) Kinney Cup (Class B,) Kinney Cup (Class C.)

STARTS TO SWIM ENGLISH CHANNEL.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P. M.]

DOVER (Eng.) July 22.—Jabez Wolff, the amateur swimmer of London, inaugurated the Channel swimming season today. He entered the sea at South Foreland at 10:29 o'clock, and struck out for France. Last year Wolff swam to within seven miles of Cape Gris Nez, France, but was forced to give up the effort because he sprained a tendon.

BRILLIANT GAME AT WIMBLEDON.

GORE AND BARRETT WIN FROM BROOKES AND WILDING.

Five Sets Necessary to Decide Match—Australians at One Time Needed but One Game to Win. May Sutton and Partner Defeated in Mixed Doubles Exhibition.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The doubles tie in the challenge round for the Davis cup between England and Australia was decided beneath leaden skies, at Wimbledon, today, and ended in a brilliant victory for the Englishmen, A. W. Gore and Rosser Barrett, who defeated Brookes and Wilding by 3 sets to 2, with the following scores: 3-6, 4-6, 7-5, 6-2, 13-11.

The Australians, who met with little opposition in the opening rallies, came within a single ace of winning the match in three straight sets. They led by 5-4 in the third set with Brookes service to come. The famous Australian had not lost a single service game up to this point, but in a bad light he failed to find his usual spot and, after forfeiting this game, the Colonials' ordeal began.

Thenceforward, the Englishmen gathered new zeal and seemed absolutely inspired. They won the fourth set in a canter and led by four love. In the final rally sterling close quarter play by Brookes enabled the challengers to win four games in succession. The Englishmen reached 5-4 and came within two points of the match, but were repulsed, and a ding-dong battle ensued for nearly an hour.

Barrett was phenomenally brilliant and was ably supported by Gore, while Brookes seemed over-anxious and was inclined to fret.

At length, after twenty-four games had been contested, Wilding lost his service and the great match was over.

The Australians are now only one match to the good. The two remaining singles will be played tomorrow, and then the fate of the cup will be sealed.

In an exhibition of mixed doubles preceding the national match, Miss Sutton and Dr. Eaves were beaten by Miss Chambers and G. W. Hillyard, 9-11, 4-6.

OXNARD'S REVENGE.

SOUNDLY DEFEATS VENTURA.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

VENTURA, July 22.—Ventura went down before the Oxnard players, yesterday, in the tennis games at the tournament held here. On a former occasion Ventura defeated Oxnard, and the Sugartown players have ever since been practicing to get even. They did so yesterday by winning every event from Ventura and with the utmost ease.

In doubles Oxnard beat Ventura with Brownson and Bovee against Jones and Fazio, score 6-1, 6-1. Wineman and Staples of Oxnard beat Guggenheim and Hirchfelder of Ventura, 6-2, 6-2. Then the players changed about and Wineman and Staples defeated Jones and Fazio, 6-4, 6-1, while Brownson and Bovee defeated Guggeuheim and Hirchfelder, 6-1, 9-11, 7-5. This was the hardest contest of the day and the only one in which Ventura made a showing by taking a set.

In the singles Wineman of Oxnard easily defeated Fazio by the score of 6-2, 6-0. There was a large delegation of ladies and gentlement present from Oxnard.

ALHAMBRA ENTERS SOUTHERN LEAGUE.

After being shy a team for three weeks, the Southern State League has taken in the Alhambras, with grounds at Arcadia, to replace the Hamburgers. Parker A. Dear is the manager of the new bunch, which, although it is not as strong as the other teams in the league, has some good material and will be put in better condition. The grounds acquired by the acquisition of the Alhambras are regarded as among the best in the vicinity.

At the meeting of the league officials, last night, the schedule for next Sunday was arranged. Pasadena will try the new Alhambra nine out, the Del Reys and Morans will play at the Chutes, and the Hoegees will journey to San Diego for another attempt to defeat the Pickwicks, as they did when the two teams played last in Los Angeles.

Alhambra defeated the Swifts at Arcadia Sunday, 6 to 0, in a fast game. Parker Dear for the winners allowed but three hits.

BURNS IS CONFIDENT OF DEFEATING GANS.

"I'M TELLING you something—See? You needn't be surprised if I get this dinge in the first round," said Jimmy Burns last night, in speaking of his coming match with Joe Gans for the lightweight championship of the world.

So confident is Burns that he has the best chance of anybody in the world at the weight against Gans that already he is building air castles for future habitation.

"This fellow Gans has never met a man for the title who will carry the fight to him like I will," says Jimmy. "I will admit that I would have no chance standing off and boxing with him, but that is not going to be my style of battle. I am going after him from the tap of the gong, like Tommy went after O'Brien, and I will beat him. He will find me a different fellow than this man Nelson. Bat walked after Gans, and at that gait could not catch him. But I will get after him and reach him, too."

Burns started training at the East Side Athletic Club yesterday afternoon, and proposes to put in three weeks of solid work, during which he has to take off fourteen pounds. The weight is to be 133 pounds at 3 o'clock, 4 o'clock, or ringside, any of which conditions suits Burns. It is probable that Gans will choose 133 pounds at 3 o'clock.

Ben Selig, representative of Gans, is expected to reach here today. With him will come several of the fighters who are to take part in McCarey's show July 30. It is proposed that all details of the match be completed at a meeting to be held as soon as Selig arrives. McCarey proposes to stipulate that Gans come to Los Angeles to do his training. Local sports do not trust San Francisco followers of the game, and fear that some of them might tamper with the match in one way or another, if Joe remains there.

Burns expects his brother, Mike Memsic, to reach Los Angeles in a few days, and says he is willing to bet any amount that Mike can beat any one in these parts at 128 to 130 pounds. He claims his brother is much cleverer than himself, and that if Mike had the punch and stamina he would be a world-beater. Mike suffered his only real defeat at the hands of Harry Harris, then champion featherweight. He has not fought for nearly three years, but expects to take up the game again. He is two years younger than Jimmy, and has a full career before him.

In addition to Mike Memsic, Burns will have two more sparring partners, one to rough it with and another to be a human punching bag.

Burns says that he will fight no more negroes after he has finished with Joe Gans, and that it is the title which attracts him in this match, although he concedes Gans to be the "whitest" black man in the business.

As surely as he believes he can whip Joe Gans, Jimmy believes that Tommy Burns can beat Jack Johnson. He figures that Johnson has a yellow streak, and that when Tommy gets in close and begins to hammer at the stomach, the big negro will want to jump out of the ring.

Burns already is planning to enlarge the attractiveness of Tommy's theatrical venture by adding the lightweight champion to the bill.

JACK WALSH REFEREE.

NELSON MAY BE FAVORITE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Jack Walsh was selected tonight to referee the Britt-Nelson fight. Phil Wand and Eddie Smith were the other men mentioned. There was no row over it. Nolan and Willus Britt brought these three names.

"Any one of the three suits us," ejaculated Willus portentously.

"Then let us take the first one on the list," said Walsh, which was done.

The keen interest felt in the fight is due to curiosity. Sporting men are anxious to see if Battling Nelson has recovered from the beating he got at the hands of Gans—in other words, to see if it be possible for a man to be so frightfully pounded and not lose his nerve and courage.

As Britt also has recollections to be recalled to his consciousness by the sting of a punch, it seems to be about a standoff. Some of the San Francisco sports say that Gans actually changed the appearance of Bat's face. Nelson is sure to be a betting favorite, however.

BATTING AVERAGES OF COAST LEAGUE.

Latest official league figures show that only two men in the league are batting over the .300 mark. Walter McCredie, unquestionably the nearest approach to a scientific hitter in the aggregation, has played in 71 games, been at bat 253 times, and has an average of 312. Frank Dillon is the other one who has been putting 'em "where they ain't." He has played in 65 games, and been at bat 219 times, and has an average of .306. Old Truck Eagan, who has outdistanced both these men in extra-base hits, is just under the mark, with .299, but he has been in 89 games, and at bat 331 times. Cravath is right at his elbow, with .298.

MIKE DONLIN MAY SUCCEED M'GRAW.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Semi-professional ball players are discussing a rumor which is going the rounds concerning Mike Donlin. The report is that Donlin is slated to succeed John McGraw as manager of the New York National League baseball team next season. McGraw has announced his intention of going into other business.

The semi-professionals say that he is working harder than he ever worked in the National League to keep himself in condition. One semi-professional manager figures out that New York wants a scrappy manager, and here is a chance to get one who can play, and who also can lead the team on the field of action.

SONOMA GIRL'S GOOD CHANCES.

California Mare Must Beat Highball to Win.

Detroit M. & M. Stakes to Prove Sensational.

Springer Wagers Heavily on His Great Trotter.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DETROIT, July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The $10,000 Merchants' and Manufacturers' race of the Grand Circuit meeting here keeps the talent constantly engaged. Both of the crack trotters, to one of whom the big end of the purse already is conceded to be due, have a strong following. While Highball will find a host of backers in the betting ring, not only because of his phenomenal speed, but because he will be driven by the master reinsman, Ed Geers, the California trotting wonder, Sonoma Girl, may have a shade the better of it. In the betting she has many admirers. Both her owner and driver, Capt. J. H. Springer, has a world of confidence in his great mare, it is evident that he expects to have a sensational race on his hands.

Geers, as well as Highball's owner, Frank G. Jones of Memphis, also has great respect for Sonoma Girl's speed and racing abilities, while feeling certain that they have one of the fastest trotters ever seen in public. About four weeks ago, while the latter was in Cleveland, he met a California trainer who was quartered at Glenville track downtown in company with a rather elderly gentleman, the latter wearing a beard. The writer was introduced to the stranger, the latter's name being given as Mr. Eastman.

The stranger stated he would like to make a small bet on one of the M. & M. entries, and the writer took him to the party having charge of the race book being made on the two different stakes. Mr. Eastman placed his money on Sonoma Girl's chances in the M. & M., betting $4000 against $500 that she would not win, $2000 against $500 that she would not be placed, and $1000 against the third $500 that she would not be as good as third.

Arriving at the track today the writer found Sonoma Girl being jogged by the bearded stranger that had placed the above tidy wager with the Cleveland parties, and when the bell rings for the first heat in the big stake on Wednesday afternoon the same individual undoubtedly will hold the reins over the sensational California trotter. At a glance at the programme will show that he is really no other than the owner and driver, Capt. J. H. Springer of Los Angeles.

The Grand Circuit meeting has been postponed one day on account of muddy tracks.

SONOMA GIRL'S RACE.

SHE DEFEATED HIGHBALL.

The story of Sonoma Girl's victory over Highball last week is told by a Cleveland writer:

"It took some more shattering of records to encompass the downfall of Highball, the mighty. Sonoma Girl was compelled to put up the fastest three consecutive heats ever credited to a green trotter in a race—2:06¼, 2:07. Also she trotted the first half mile and quarter mile in credit of a trotter of any age in a race, the longer distance than in a minute flat, and the first one in 0:29. To this sort of work the stoutly-made brown mare added perfect behavior at all stages of the game.

"The first heat Highball trotted the first half mile in 0:59; in the second he stepped from the quarter pole to the wire in 1:33, or at the rate of 2:06 for the mile, and in the final heat of the day he repeated over the same route in 1:31, or at the rate of 2:04½ for the mile.

"Over all these pyrotechnics of speed Highball was beaten off no avail. Highball was beaten from start to finish. He never even looked as had his nose in front of Sonoma Girl, and the fact that he displayed winning speed after the mare was asked to use it in actual earnest was gone only accentuated the bitterness of his defeat to Geers, who drove him, and to Frank G. Jones, who paid a little fortune for him a few weeks ago.

"In scoring for the first heat Highball showed a curious little hopping gait behind that led the critics to watch him closely. He evidently was suffering with his usual smoothness, but they assured he would "flatten out" when once in full stride. When the starter gave the word with Highball fully a length back of Sonoma Girl. They traveled to the quarter in 0:30¼, an absurdly slow rate for a class of horses. Not until the eighth pole was Highball abreast of her Sonoma Girl began her brush, and was still three lengths back, pulled at the throttle at the same time. Then they had been at full speed only an eighth of a mile, the third in 0:31, her time there being 1:37½. Highball still was well ahead of Highball as the turn for home was made, and the horses were extended to the full. Over all they knew how to the finish came steady and true, regardless of their drivers, but although Highball gained, he was just back of Sonoma's sulky wheel as she went under the wire in 2:06½, the time of the final quarter being 0:29, and of the half, 1:00. Highball, carefully driven, did the same distance in 0:59.

HIGHBALL BREAKS.

In scoring for the second heat Highball broke the first time down. Before Highball had gone 100 yards he broke a standstill break, was pulled to a walk, and was more than a dozen yards back of the other horses right from the start.

Meanwhile Sonoma Girl had gone about her business. The watches showed her 0:31½ at the quarter and 1:04½ at the half. They trotted the upper quarters being in 1:36½. Sonoma Girl, planing on the bit in 2:08. Separated Highball had trotted from the quarter pole to the wire in a 2:04 gait.

In the last heat, so far as first position was concerned, it was Sonoma Girl all the way. Her first quarter in 0:31 and 1:04½ at the half, and in the final quarter in 0:29, the time for the mile being

YANKEE GIRL LAUNCHED.

Yawl-Rigged Cutter Designed for Deep Sea Voyages Built by Frederick Dorr.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

SAN DIEGO, July 23.—Yankee Girl, a yawl-rigged cutter, owned by Frederick Dorr, a stockbroker of Los Angeles, was launched today, after several postponements. The craft was designed by Cox & Stevens, New York, and was named after Mr. Dorr's daughter, Celeste. The expense of finishing the yacht, ready for sailing, will be in the neighborhood of $18,000.

The dimensions of the Yankee Girl are as follows: Length over all, 68.6 feet; water line, 50 feet; beam, 14.6 feet; draft, 9 feet. She will be rigged as a yawl with a pole for the mainmast, 70 feet in height. The jigger mast is 45 feet high. The yacht will carry a spread of canvas 2100 square feet. To give her stability she has been fitted with an unusually heavy lead keel. She has long overhangs fore and aft, and a graceful underbody and flush deck. She is built particularly for cruising and has deckhousings of teak mahogany.

The auxiliary power of the yacht will be a four-cylinder Twentieth Century gasoline engine of 32 horse power. She is equipped with a mahogany tender, 14 feet long and 5 feet beam, driven by a three-horse-power engine. The yacht will carry a crew of five—captain, two seamen, cook, and cabin boy. C. Perkins of St. Johns will be her captain. She will cruise between San Pedro and San Diego, and later will cruise to Honolulu and other distant ports.

JUDGE FLOGS BOY.

Takes Youth to Basement of Courthouse and Administers Thrashing Mother Was Afraid to Give.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SHELBYVILLE (Ind.) July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Harold Kizer, a boy of fourteen, was before the Mayor on a charge of petit larceny. His mother was present and after the crime had been proven the Mayor suggested that the lad should have been corrected at home and asked Mrs. Kizer why she had never whipped the boy. She replied in effect, that she had never whipped the boy because she was afraid he would run away.

The court gravely remarked that it was a pity to let such a bright boy be spoiled for want of correction and taking him by the hand he led him into the basement of the courthouse and gave him a sound flogging.

When Mayor Swain turned the boy over to his mother he remarked that he believed his castigation was better than a jail sentence and hoped it would prove a permanent corrective.

BOARD ARRIVES LATE WITH BALMY BREATHS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A bench warrant was issued for the whole erring Board of Supervisors tonight, they failing to put in appearance when court convened this evening. They finally drove in late with a story of a broken automobile, and some of them with fragrant breaths. Coleman, Phillips and Walsh testified. Also "Detective Dana," whom Delmas is reported to have imported. No satisfaction was got out of him.

Of the Supervisors who testified, Coleman is the most interesting. He is a dapper little fellow, is a social climber, and his presence at a dinner created a stir in fashionable circles a week or so ago on account of his known confession.

He is a man of some education and was under self-control tonight.

Couple Separated by San Francisco Disaster Are Reunited on Alaskan Boat.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] David Richards and Isabelle Derner, engaged to be married in San Francisco just prior to the earthquake and fire, separated by that disaster and drifting apart for more than a year, were united on their way south from Nome and have just been married by Rev. J. M. Hughes of the Welch Presbyterian Church of Seattle.

They met on the same boat homeward bound, Richards, fairly successful after a season in Seward Peninsula, and Miss Derner ill and discouraged after an attempt to earn her way in the North.

As soon as the boat reached Seattle from Nome they hurried to a minister and were married in the rough garb of the northern mining camp.

DR. HAYNES TO RETURN.

SEATTLE, July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Rev. Dr. Myron W. Haynes, who came here from the Belden Avenue Baptist Church of Chicago to the First Baptist Church of Seattle, after a stormy fight in the local congregation and a scandal in the Western Passenger Association, announced today he had accepted a call to return to the Second Baptist Church of Chicago. Members of the Seattle church say Dr. Haynes will formally resign next Sunday and will leave almost immediately for the East.

He got into trouble by accepting reduced fare tickets from the Rock Island for persons not members of his family.

"OPEN DOOR" IS NOW SWINGING.

State Department Announces Its Restoration.

Statement Is Admission of Former Inequality.

Japanese Influences Dominate Chinese Service.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] By announcing today as certain the accomplishment by China of "Practical steps toward the restoration of the 'open door' in Manchuria," the State Department makes an admission that since the Russo-Japanese War conditions in Manchuria have not offered equal opportunities for all.

The lead in trade and commerce gained by Japanese interests which were permitted actively to enter the country before the Japanese army withdrew and before traders of other nationalities were free to enter in a large business way has gone far to insure Japanese commercial predominance.

The Japanese seized Dalny from the Russians. In the two years since hostilities ceased there has been no customs administration on the Chinese frontier surrounding Japanese leased territory except that which Japan has seen fit to prescribe.

It can be stated on the authority of the Chinese legation that this has been a source of great commercial advantage to Japan, merchandise from that country obtaining practically a free entry.

During the last few months the Chinese strongly urged upon the Japanese legation the customs agreement signed on May 30.

The State Department today says: "The customhouses at Antung and Tatungkou, on the China-Korean frontier and at Dalny, within the Japanese leased territory, are now performing their functions, the latter since July 1. An agreement has been received from the American legation at Pekin assuring the Department of State that Chinese Imperial maratime customhouses are about to be opened on the Chinese-Russian frontier.

THE AGREEMENT.

"The agreement as to Dalny was signed on May 30 by the Japanese Minister at Pekin and Sir Robert Hart, the inspector-general of the Imperial Martimes Customs. It provides: For the establishment for the maritime customs office at Dalny and for inland waters, steam navigation rules for Dalny and the leased territory in the Liao-Tung Peninsula.

"The first provision is identical with the agreement signed by the German Minister and the inspector-general of customs on April 17, 1899, for the leased territory at Kiao Chou. It is to be revised in the spring of 1908 when local conditions and needs are more fully ascertained.

"The second provision is the same as is contained in the German agreement for Kiao Chou signed April 7, 1904. Paragraphs six and seven are not found in the German agreement, however.

"These practical steps towards the restoration of the 'open door' in Manchuria, in which the United States is so deeply interested, should be encouraging and gratifying to American merchants."

The text of the agreement as to Dalny provides that the head of the Maritime Customs office at that point is to be of Japanese nationality, as generally the members of the foreign staff of this customs office.

The inspector-general of the Chinese customs will come to an understanding with the Japanese legation at Pekin in the case of appointing a new commissioner. He will also inform beforehand the Governor-General of Japanese leased territory surrounding Dalny of any prospective change of commissioner of customs at that point.

No import duty will be levied on merchandise brought by sea to Dalny, but import duties, according to existing treaties, shall be levied by the Maritime Customs Office on all merchandise or products passing the frontier of the Japanese leased territory into the interior of China.

KOREA IS IN CHAOTIC STATE.

PALACE IS HOTBED OF PLOTS AND CONSPIRACIES.

Mothers of New Emperor and of Prince Ying Each Have Large Following — Dissatisfaction Spreading and Rioting Throughout the Peninsula Is Apprehended at Tokio.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A. M.]

TOKIO, July 22.—Telegrams from Seoul state that intrigues on an extensive scale are now in progress. It is declared that the palace is a hotbed of illicit plots and conspiracies. The placing on the throne of the new emperor has aggravated the jealousy between his mother, Princess Ming and the mother of Prince Ying, each having a large following.

This state of affairs is being taken advantage of by politicians who are distrustful of one another. Dissatisfaction is spreading rapidly and riotings of the people throughout the peninsula are apprehended.

DISCLAIM RESPONSIBILITY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A. M.]

SEOUL, July 22.—The Japanese residency general places the whole responsibility for the arrests made this morning on the throne, disclaiming intervention which, it is asserted, would be an unnecessary invasion into affairs which are purely Korean.

On account of the fact that every Japanese soldier is needed to guard the barracks of the Korean troops, guards have been refused to two houses of foreigners in the suburbs and their occupants, who have been threatened in anonymous communications, have been given refuge in the foreign quarter of the city.

Reinforcements of Japanese troops are not expected until July 24 and it is impossible now to adequately patrol the whole city so as to prevent the gathering of the mobs which have assembled during the last two days.

Regarding the report that he came to Korea on a special mission, Viscount Hayashi today admitted that it was true that he came intrusted with his government's programme. Japan's position here was delicate and its responsibilities were great. An intriguing government was impossible, and the plan to murder all the Cabinet members, which was reported to be a scheme of the former Emperor for his restoration to power with a Cabinet wholly anti-Japanese was unthinkable.

Regarding possible plans for the future government, Hayashi said that the Korean throne had nothing to fear from the Japanese, but there must be a competent, organized administration. Japan's programme would be executed only with regard to due forms, with the consent of the constituted sovereign and was subject to modification according to conditions. It already had modified its plans, and, if the Korean throne established a competent government, Japan would deal with it. At present, the Japanese authorities were wholly concerned with the restoration of order. Until this was accomplished they were unable to proceed and his mission must await normal conditions, for the future promotion of the welfare of the people was his foremost consideration.

CRISIS WAR IN CHINA.

NEW YORK, July 22.—A letter has been received at the headquarters of the board of foreign missions of the Presbyterian church from medical missionaries of the board now in China, describing the conditions around Canton.

According to Dr. J. M. Small, the writer of the letter, only a leader is necessary for a widespread rebellion in that part of China. He says that certainly before twelve months have passed, a decided change in the government may be expected and whether this is accomplished by force of arms or not is yet to be determined.

REJECTED SUITOR SHOOTS.

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) July 22.—In jealous frenzy Leonard Carroll tonight fired three bullets into the body of his sweetheart, Maggie Martin, then turned the pistol on himself and inflicted a wound from which he died almost instantly.

Carroll had been in love with the girl, who was only 17 years of age, for the past five years. He often asked her to marry him, but she always refused. He had many times threatened to kill her and himself unless she became his wife. To night when she received another suitor, Carroll carried out his treat.

The girl displayed remarkable bravery under the surgeon's probe. She refused to be placed under an anesthetic, and watched the doctor probing for the bullets. It is announced tonight that she will live.

WHOLE ACRES, $650.
If you have not yet visited Belle Vernon, I wish you would get aside an hour any day you please and let me take you out. I can offer you more advantages in price and terms, more value in the land, more beauty in the climate and situation than can be had anywhere else for double the price. The soil is a fertile garden loam, and there is more water than you can use in the land, more beauty in the scene, a better location and more room. The location is between the city and the sea, where values are growing all the time. In buying either for home or investment, it is an advantage to get in a location where under no possible conditions can values go back. This is one of those rare chances you get anywhere else for double the price. FOR SALE—
INVESTORS, ATTENTION.
There is no section of Los Angeles that presents as profitable a field for investment as the section east of Main st., from Fourth to Seventh sts. and from Main to Central ave. The tremendous improvements being made in this section of the city and the low values compared to other sections proves this statement. East Fifth, East Sixth, East Seventh and Central ave., from Fourth to Seventh sts., are bound to show a great enhancement in value during next year. We can deliver 160x210 feet to alley on Gladys ave., directly opposite the new Union Depot, which will shortly be begun by the Southern Pacific, now bringing $125 per month. Can deliver at $50,000 for a short time and can arrange terms. This is the bargain of the depot section. Will pay a tremendous rate of interest improved with a first-class or second-class hotel. Let us show it to you.
We have many other properties on East Sixth and East Seventh sts. at prices that will show a very large percentage on your investment during the coming year.

SEE BELLE VERNON AND THE FREE WATER.
WHOLE ACRES, $650.
If you have not yet visited Belle Vernon, I wish you would get aside an hour any day you please and let me take you out. I can offer you more advantages in price and terms, more value in the land, more beauty in the climate and situation than can be had anywhere else for double the price. The soil is a fertile garden loam, and there is more water than you can use in the land, more beauty in the scene, a better location and more room. The location is between the city and the sea, where values are growing all the time. In buying either for home or investment, it is an advantage to get in a location where under no possible conditions can values go back. This is one of those rare chances you get anywhere else for double the price. LIVE STOCK FOR SALE—
Horses, Cattle, Mules, Etc.

FOR SALE—AT AUCTION,
250 HORSES.
I will sell at auction on Tuesday, July 30, at 10 a.m., 250 head horses, broke and unbroke. This is by far the largest and best lot of horses ever shipped to Los Angeles, consisting of 50 head brood mares, weighing from 1100 to 1400 lbs., with nice large colts by their side. 50 head standard bred mares and geldings weighing from 1000 to 1250 lbs. Nothing like this lot ever offered at auction in this city. 100 head mares and geldings, weighing from 1200 to 1450 lbs. 50 head broke horses, among them some good saddle horses. This lot of horses is shipped here by Ed Stuart, who sold so many horses here last year. Come and get bargains as they must and will be sold to the highest bidder. Every horse will be guaranteed as represented or no sale. Horses will be at the yards for inspection on Sunday, July 28, corner Lyon and Ramirez streets. S. WATKINS, auctioneer.

MINING—
And Assaying

HIGH-GRADE SILVER AND LEAD MINE, in "Big Bug" Mining District, one mile of depot, 2 miles from Humboldt smelter, 18 miles southeast of Prescott, Ariz. The finest prospect in the country, assaying high as 970 ounces silver and 56 per cent. lead. I have 3 full mining claims making 4500 feet on same ledge, which makes it better than a dozen claims ordinarily; one of these claims was patented 25 years ago, showing a foot vein of vanadium. Our shaft sunk 150 feet where the high-grade silver and lead vein was struck; would incorporate a stock company or sell or trade for real estate, whole or part of these claims. Address J. W. REED, 209 E. Adams. Telephone South 1080.

ARE YOU LOOKING FOR A GOOD, SAFE investment? If so, buy Daggett Lead Mining stock at a fraction of what it will be worth in 60 days; the company have placed a small block of their stock on the market at 25c; just enough to get out and market a few carloads of ore; this is absolutely the last chance to get in on the ground floor; this is no experimental proposition, but will stand the strictest investigation; see us and get the reports from our experts, who have lately examined the mine, or, better still, let us take you out where you can see, and investigate for yourself.

M. M. DAVIRON & SON,
204-6 Wilcox Bldg.
A6592, or Main 589. 24

HERE IS A CHANCE TO GET IN ON THE ground floor in mining. I have 3 groups of claims in the Cracker Jack district, California, at the lower end of Death Valley. GOLDEN LINK BINDS CITIES.

Los Angeles and Goldfield Men Dine Together

Local Stock Exchange Honors Noted Visitor.

Legitimate and Illegitimate Mining Defined.

Once more last night Los Angeles and Goldfield joined hands around the festive board. Once more the representatives of the metropolis of the great Southwest met and fraternized with the representatives of the metropolis of the Nevada mines.

It was at the banquet hall of the California Club on South Hill street. It was more than a meeting of the representatives of two cities, or of those of the mining camp grown into a city with those of the greater city established years before; it was also an assemblage at which the miners, the men who made Nevada great again, who take the gold from the ground, and the men who bring the prospector and miner into touch with the capitalist and the investor—the brokers—met and heard from each other what each desired the other to hear.

The occasion was the banquet given by the Los Angeles Stock Exchange to W. J. Brewer, president of the Chamber of Commerce of Goldfield. The feature of the evening was the address of Mr. Brewer in response to Frank G Tyrrell's speech of welcome.

The spread was set at 7:30 o'clock. Close to 9 o'clock the toastmaster of the evening, Col. J. B. Neville, was introduced by Fielding J. Stilson. After saying that Los Angeles had occasion to congratulate herself upon the presence of so many Goldfield people who came to make their homes here, and extending expressions of welcome and good-will to the guest of the evening, Col. Neville presented the first speaker, Frank G Tyrrell, whom he described as one "well known not only to the people of Los Angeles, but whose eloquence had been heard at the mouth of every mine shaft in Nevada."

ADMIRATION OF THE MINER.

Mr. Tyrrell started in by expressing his admiration for the miner and of the courage with which he braved the terors of the desert to wrest the gold from the earth. He denounced in strong terms the men who endeavored to destroy the fame of Nevada. Some of them—men who, he said, should know better and whose place in the world was such that one had a right to expect better from them—spoke of "the bursting of the Nevada bubble." There was no bubble to it. He was convinced that the days of the famous old Comstock were about to be equaled and eclipsed by Southern Nevada. Nevada bubble, indeed!! Wildcatters there might be, but that was inevitable in all districts.

Nevada, California and Arizona were the three whose wealth constitute a golden trinity, bound together by rails of steel and electric telegraph lines.

MR. BREWER'S ADDRESS.

When Mr. Brewer arose to reply he began by reference to the almighty dollar. It was not all, he said, but it was a very necessary part of the world's affairs. As long as it was necessary to have some medium of exchange for carrying on business, so long would the dollar or franc be essential to men, or until they found something for the purpose. So long as it was lawfully acquired for lawful purposes the hunt for it was legitimate seeking.

Touching upon the wealth and progress of Goldfield the speaker called attention to the intended incorporation of Goldfield, that "it may become such it should be, a city."

Today Los Angeles and Goldfield were getting closer together all the time. With the excursion rates at each week-end the Goldfield citizens are coming to Los Angeles in numbers and spending their money here, but Goldfield has one consolation, and that is that on his return nearly every one brings back an Angeleñan clinging to his coat tail.

If he were asked to tell something of the romance of Goldfield he would have his friends from there who were present tell of their early experiences; how they came into the country on old stage-coaches, how they dug and toiled and lived in tents and shacks and then how they went to men of money and begged them, yes, begged them to buy a few shares of, say, Red Top at 15 cents, now worth $5 a share. That would be romance, indeed.

The mines of Nevada are not a dream, but a reality. Geologists, mineralogists and mining engineers are agreed, that the gold belt of Southern Nevada is a permanent one. The greatest gold district in the world today, he said.

At present a noted engineer is in Goldfield and is looking over the Consolidated Mines property for eastern people, the Mohawk, Red Top and others in that combine. This man said that for ten miles square, beginning at the Combination mine, he fully believes that the entire territory, at depth, will produce not one Mohawk or two Mohawks, but scores of properties that will rank with the old Comstock.

"Geology," said the orator, "is a science as much as medicine." Legitimate mining, in his estimation, consisted first in getting on legitimate ground, and by legitimate ground he meant ground upon which men may legitimately look for ore. There is ground upon which no man has a right to expect ore, just as there is ground upon which a man should sow wheat or corn. Geology is what tells which is legitimate and which is illigitimate ground. Then it is a question of development.

BROKERS LEGITIMATE.

"The broker's business is legitimate," he declared. "The legitimate broker is a necessity in the disposition of stock as an aid to development, just as the mining engineer is a necessity for the proper location of the mine and its proper working. The legitimate broker is an aid to the people. He helps along men and women who have legitimate ambition to go ahead in the world. Other than legitimate business will not pay long. The public is becoming discriminating, and conservative, careful business men are realizing more and more that mining, rightfully carried on, is a good and legitimate business."

Goldfield, he maintained, has been far more in mining than in stock selling. Men who established companies have gone into their own pockets and paid for development that stockholders might have no loss. The money paid out by established companies has been more than all that has been expended upon prospects. Sixty producing mines have been created in Goldfield in two and a half years.

To protect investors there should be a report on each mine on file in every broker's office, giving a detailed account of work and the condition inside the mine. If he were one of the governing board of the exchange he would require this from all, and whenever any mine refused to allow an investigation or to furnish information he would have it stricken off the lists of the exchange, no matter what may have been its past reputation or who its managers and backers might be. If mines ask the public to invest, they must be open for inspection.

NO OTHER EXCHANGE NEEDED.

The speaker was emphatic in his declaration that he did not consider another exchange necessary. The present one should be all that is needed. It has strength and the prestige behind it. But it should take up the Nevada stocks. And in this connection the speaker made a prediction that will be watched with interest by every one interested. He said that this fall is undoubtedly to witness an excitement in mining stocks greater than any yet seen. As sure as fate Angeleños will buy, and as sure as fate there will come here a host of swindlers with dishonest stocks to sell and they will find victims in plenty. It is the duty of legitimate brokers to protect the people against this by furnishing them legitimate stocks, by being in touch with conditions so they can advise clients properly and direct them where to place their money.

"Gentlemen," he said, "you must go into this, if for no other purpose than to protect your people."

In this connection he pledged the exchange the full support of the Goldfield Chamber of Commerce, saying it would be ready to rush a wire answering inquiries at any time night or day.

Again the exchange should take up mining stocks in earnest for the information of the banks and business men who have to deal with such questions. Banks can not do business on mines as long as they have no means of knowing thoroughly what they are.

THE BANK'S POSITION.

W. C. Patterson, president of the Los Angeles Clearinghouse, spoke briefly of the position of the banks, assuring the assemblage that they are friendly to the mines and miners, but admitted that they had been chary about doing business when they had no means of getting information about the properties. He would welcome any move that would bring about better and closer relations between Los Angeles and the mines.

C. O. Whittemore of Goldfield in remarks told the assemblage pointedly that it should begin by learning the A. B. C.' of the mines of Nevada. The members would learn what were the principal mines of Goldfield, of Tonopah or of Bullfrog and be doubtless if any one could tell. They should hasten to learn when Goldfield was producing nearly two millions a month. The newspapers, he said, should give more attention to such things and the exchange ought to see to it that they did. The Goldfield papers give the shipments every week.

Nat Goodwin set the crowd in a roar of laughter by his humorous remarks after Mr. Whittemore had closed. There is now mining in Nevada, and it is here, and thus was known to all personally as well as by his stage reputation.

The assemblage lasted until close to the midnight hour, when it broke up after having done much to further cement the feeling of good-fellowship between Los Angeles and Nevada.

Those present were: L. M. Blankenhorn, James G. Blagge, Fox. Garland, H. W. Barlow, Henry Newby, Geo. D. Reid, O. H. Burbridge, A. H. Conger, William H. Cook, D. E. Thomas, W. P. Mitchell, R. B. OIL FIELD PROMISING.

District Near Dixie, Utah, Expected to Develop Into Largest in America.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—PAT]

VIRGIN (Utah) July 22.—[Exclusive dispatch.] James J. Hill has been every indication this oil fields at Dixie, Utah, promise to be the largest and best in the country, and probably the world. It is supposed by experts to be the oldest in the world. Information dips to the north and west, at about one hundred feet per mile. A heavy drilling machine is operating about two miles northeast of Virgin City. A week ago oil was struck at a depth of 666 feet. The drill has been driven about fifty feet into the oil sand and the oil improves as the drill goes down. The driller is confident of a big flowing well. The oil is of a paraffine base of the finest quality.

The extent of the field is not known, but it is supposed to be twelve or thirteen miles square. Several oil wells are reported as being on the road to Virgin.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—PAT]

KARLSRHUE, July 22.—Karl Hau today was convicted of the murder of his mother-in-law, Frau Meltier, at Baden Baden, last November, and sentenced to death.

At the trial today Wieland, a waiter employed by the Molitter household at the time of the tragedy, was examined. Wieland came from Kiel upon reports that the defense was practicing suspicion upon him. But after Wieland's testimony was finished that he attached no importance to it, as he had never suspected him. Wieland told a straightforward story of his movements during the time a quarter of an hour and named several places where he had been charged errands.

NEW WAR CLOUD IS LOOMING UP

SALVADOR AND NICARAGUA AT SWORDS' POINT.

Former Republic Decides to Call Upon Zelaya for Reparation for Life Taken and Damage Done During Recent Invasion—General Peace Move Fails.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, July 22.—[Exclusive dispatch.] From advices received here it appears that President Figueroa of Salvador has fully decided to call upon President Zelaya of Nicaragua to make a satisfactory and adequate reparation for the damage done Salvadorean life and property by Nicaraguan troops from the gunboat Momotombo during their recent expedition at Acajutla.

Should Nicaragua refuse to meet Salvador's demands, diplomatic relations between the two countries will at once be severed, and Salvador, backed by the moral support of Guatemala, will take steps to force reparation.

It is not divulged whether Salvador contemplates immediate offensive measures against Nicaragua, but it has become known that the full reparation is accorded to Salvador for the recent Acajutla attack no peace negotiations will be undertaken, and Nicaragua and Salvador either will clash immediately or the main at sword's point until something of a compromise action.

All attempts to bring about general peace between Central America, either by a Washington conference or otherwise, have failed, owing to the fact that Salvador refuses to consider any peace proposition until President Zelaya makes some reparation.

Guatemala, following the Acajutla affair, has practically joined hands with Salvador, and although no treaty of alliance exists, and that reason has also discouraged the peace conference in Washington until relations between Nicaragua and Salvador are suitably adjusted.

DE MARTENS MISUNDERSTOOD

President of Peace Conference Said to Have Been Partisan of American Idea.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

THE HAGUE, July 22.—[Exclusive dispatch.] The incident in regard to Louis Martens is now ended. His famous interview of Mr. Choate's immunity proposal proved to mean nothing at all.

He had no idea whatever of antagonizing either America or China, and the impression he gave to that effect, although true, was absolutely far from his mind. Indeed, although his country has voted against Mr. Choate's proposal, M. De Martens is himself a partisan of the American idea for the limitation of armaments.

Whatever he may have said which appeared to be against it was merely a matter of historical events, made without any desire to obtain a decision contrary to Mr. Choate's proposal.

MILLIONAIRE SAVES LIVES.

Heads Volunteer Crew Which Goes to Rescue of Four Drowning Men.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
ATLANTIC CITY (N. J.) July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A volunteer crew, headed by Bernard Gimbel, millionaire, swimmer and oarsman of the University of Pennsylvania, and son of Isaac Gimbel of the Philadelphia Gimbel Bros.' department store firm, risked their lives in the government lifeboat last night to save four men pitched into the boiling seas of the inlet entrance, by the overturning of the launch Idyl.

The rescue, the most thrilling of any since the brave act of Capt. Mark Casto, when he successfully saved the crew and passengers of the stranded steamer Cherokee, was witnessed by thousands of anxious watchers from the board walk, who cheered when the passengers of the launch were snatched from what appeared to be certain death.

C. F. Johnson, a Philadelphia cottager who has a cottage here on Stanton avenue in Chelsea, went in a launch on a fishing trip at sea with Edwin Young and Thomas Gallagher of this city and John Sturgis, another Philadelphia cottager. In returning, the launch turned turtle at the inlet.

Capt. Lambert Parker called for volunteers, and Gimbel was the first to throw off his Tuxedo and jump into the boat. He was followed by other life guards. The men were rescued after great difficulty and brought to the shore nearly dead. Gimbel, who was the greatest hero of the occasion, was carried to a cottage unconscious, but he will recover.

RUSSIANS WHIP JAPS.

Fatal Fight Occurs Between Guards on Seal Rookery and Poachers from Tokio.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
VICTORIA (B. C.) July 22.—News was brought by the steamer Empress of China of a fatal attempt by Japanese sealers to raid Copper Island, where the Russian seal rookeries are located beyond the end of the Aleutian chain, in the North Pacific. A Japanese sealing schooner, which went from Tokio, reached Copper Island on the night of June 27, and dropped anchor a short distance from the seal rookeries. The sealing vessel sent a number of boats ashore, with their crews armed with rifles. While part of the sealing company was engaged in clubbing and killing seals on the rookery, the Russian guards opened fire on them.

The Japanese, taking cover behind rocks on the shore, returned the fire of the Russians, who finally drove off the raiders, who took to their boats and went back on board their vessel, leaving one killed. Several wounded were carried off by their companions. Several of the Russian guards were wounded.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]
BUTTE (Mont.) July 22.—Joseph H. McDermott, a motorman, raced with a cloudburst in Elk Park Cañon last night and saved sixty lives.

Pursued by a wall of water fifteen feet high, McDermott put on full speed down grade, and the car, clinging to the track by a miracle, reached high land just as the flood, tearing up the trestle and sweeping all before it, obliterated the road behind him.

The flood left six feet of mud in the Great Northern tunnel and service on that road is still suspended. The damage to property at the foot of the cañon is heavy, but no lives were lost.

100,000 SHARES OF THE CAPITAL STOCK OF THIS COMPANY ARE OFFERED FOR SUBSCRIPTION AT $100 PER SHARE.

This Company has been organized to loan money on income property in San Francisco on what is known as the bond and mortgage plan. This involves the issuance of bonds secured by first mortgages on income property, and the sale of guaranteed mortgages.

AN EXCEPTIONAL OPPORTUNITY TO MAKE MONEY. EARNINGS OF CAPITAL STOCK SHOULD CERTAINLY EXCEED 12 PER CENT. PER ANNUM.

A FEW WORDS TO INVESTORS:—

Bond and Mortgage Companies have been in existence in Europe over 135 years, and in America for several years. Their success has been phenomenal. The Credit Foncier of Paris is a notable example. One such company in New York has now outstanding loans on city real estate exceeding $95,000,000. These companies profit by loaning their funds upon mortgages at higher rates of interest than they pay on their bonds, and by the interest received on their capital, which is loaned on first mortgages on income property. The capital stock of American companies is earning from 12 to 16 per cent. per annum. This Company should earn more, owing to its exceptional opportunity.

California is a vast treasury of gold. Since 1849 the gold production of the State has been $1,450,000,000, a sum equalling the world's stock of gold in 1849; yet it is believed that but the outermost coffers have been opened. In California is to be found, moreover, the richest agricultural region in America. On the Pacific Ocean California has already a great commerce, which will expand by leaps and bounds. In the harbor of San Francisco the United States has one of its most valuable assets, for this is one of the greatest harbors of the world.

San Francisco is destined to be one of the greatest cities of America. She is the commercial and financial heart of California. At the close of 1906 the bank clearing of San Francisco, notwithstanding the disaster, were about two billion dollars, an increase of 8.93 per cent. over the previous year, ranking close to Pittsburgh and largely exceeding Baltimore. The clearings now exceed the combined clearings of Seattle, Tacoma, Los Angeles, Portland, Salt Lake City, and Denver. The total banking capitalization, capital, and surplus—

Of San Francisco is	$70,342,543
Of Minneapolis, St. Paul, Omaha, Kansas City, and New Orleans (combined)	62,363,777
Of Cleveland and Cincinnati (combined)	68,715,669
Of Baltimore and Washington (combined)	72,104,992

The clearings for June, 1906, were $132,149,341.46; for June, 1907, $177,307,227.96. The total imports into San Francisco since the fire, April 18, 1906, have been $32,277,775; exports, $50,842,882. The total assessment-roll, based on a 60-per-cent. valuation, is $429,000,000—a gain of $53,000,000 in the past twelve months. The city is entering upon a period of unparalleled prosperity; from foreign commerce; from the rapid development of California, with a population of but 2,000,000, yet with an area larger than that of Italy, which sustains a population of 32,475,000; from new transcontinental railroads hurrying hither; and from the $25,400,000,000 of business east of California, a considerable portion of which is turning its attention toward trade with the Orient, for which trade San Francisco is the natural gateway. San Francisco's vast business has been unhoused, and new enterprises are waiting to be housed. Money is urgently needed for this; $200,000,000 will be required in the next five years. Forty thousand men are engaged in the rebuilding of San Francisco.

There is no better security than income property in San Francisco. For the first time the city must draw upon the East and Europe for capital. The SAN FRANCISCO BOND AND MORTGAGE COMPANY is to serve as intermediary between capital and the borrowers. ITS SUCCESS IS ASSURED AND WILL BE REMARKABLE. No other city presents so magnificent an opportunity for such a company. The net earnings of its capital stock should exceed the 12 to 16 per cent. being earned by other such companies. All interested in the business of San Francisco should actively support this movement; it means direct and indirect personal profit.

PLAN OF OPERATION.

The paid-in capital is loaned on approved mortgages. These mortgages are assigned to a trustee, and against them the mortgage bonds of the Company are issued. No change in securities is permitted without the consent of the trustee, who must first be satisfied that the value of the mortgage to be substituted is at least equal to that of the one to be withdrawn. The money realized from the sale of these mortgage bonds is loaned, and the new mortgages are assigned to the trustee, against an issue of additional bonds, which in turn are sold, the process being repeated as often as the business warrants. In addition to this, mortgages guaranteed by the Company are sold to investors at a lower rate of interest than called for by the mortgages, the Company profiting by the difference.

The San Francisco Bond and Mortgage Company has three sources of profit:
1. Interest earned on its paid-up capital.
2. Difference between what it earns on mortgages and what it pays on bonds, which is usually 1½ per cent.
3. Difference in interest on guaranteed mortgages sold by it, which is usually 1 per cent.

Stock subscriptions will be received in LOS ANGELES at Merchants Trust Company, 209 South Broadway, until July 31, 1907, also in San Francisco at the offices of the Company, 30 Montgomery street, and at the following places:—

THE CITY IN BRIEF

BREVITIES.

For Harmless Ones.

Supervisor Eldridge will go to the county farm today with Contractor John Nelson, who is to build the ward for the housing of the harmless insane. Together they will decide upon a location for the new building, which is to cost about $10,000.

Commissioners' Bonds.

Highway Commissioners C. D. Daggett and Martin C. Marsh filed their $5000 bonds with the County Supervisors yesterday. The bond of Commissioner George H. Bixby was filed several days ago. The new commission now is ready for work.

Escapes from Muskogee.

Word was received at the United States Marshal's office yesterday that Herbert Kidd, the negro who was extradicted from this city to Indian Territory on the charge of murder, has escaped from the Muskogee Jail. Kidd was arrested in this city in May.

"Captain" Not Ready.

"Capt." Howard Clover, charged with impersonating a naval officer, appeared in the United States District Court yesterday morning. He was not ready to plead, and his case was continued one week. He has been unable to secure bondsmen and is still a prisoner in the County Jail.

Talks to Presbytery.

At Immanuel Presbyterian Church, last night, Von Ogden Vogt, superintendent of young people's work, delivered an address to the members of the Los Angeles Presbytery which was much enjoyed. There was a large attendance. The pastor of the church, Rev. Hugh K. Walker, presided.

Denver Men On Bail.

F. H. Wallihan and C. J. Williams, indicted by the Federal grand jury at Denver, in connection with coal land frauds in Colorado, and arrested by Deputy United States Marshal Bert Franklin, have been released on bail. Both men profess innocence and say they are willing to return to face the charges.

Ask for Loder.

A letter was sent by the Board of Supervisors yesterday to L. W. Page, director of the Good Roads Division of the Department of Agriculture, requesting that A. E. Loder, the Federal good roads expert, be permitted to remain in Los Angeles until October 1, to assist in planning the highway system for this county.

Oily's Case Deferred.

"Oily" J. Watkins and his associates in the California Fruit Growers' Association were expected to enter their plea before Judge Wellborn in the United States District Court yesterday, but the cases were continued until Monday morning. Watkins, G. Maurice Bartlett and Ira P. Leighley are still in the custody of the Sheriff.

Guild of Bookbinders.

Invitations have been issued by the Guild of Bookbinders for their second exhibition to be held in the Associated Arts Hall, No. 718 South Spring street, July 24, 25, 26 and 27, the affair to be given under the direction of Miss Octavia Holden of the Arts and Crafts On the first evening at 8 o'clock, Miss Preston of New York will give an informal talk on the work of the guild and craft of bookbinding.

Off for the Jinks.

Former Councilman Louis F. Vetter leaves today for Monte Rio on the Russian River, to participate in the annual high-jinks of the Bohemian Club of San Francisco. This annual outing of that famous organization is the occasion for more than a week of fun among the big trees, and several hundred of the best-known men in the State usually take part. This will be Mr. Vetter's twelfth trip of the kind.

Wife His Accuser.

A. Anderson, a laundry worker, living at No. 1515 Essex street, was arrested yesterday on a charge of disturbing the peace. It is alleged that he returned home in an intoxicated condition and drove his wife out of the house. Edward Harriman, an aged invalid, who is being cared for by Mrs. Anderson, suffered the same treatment. Anderson, it is said, then barred the door and did not give in until an officer threatened to break it in.

"Wet" Delegates.

Five delegates, as follows, were named by the Board of Supervisors yesterday to represent Los Angeles county at the fifteenth National Irrigation Congress, at Sacramento, September 2-7: C. B. Boothe, Los Angeles; John Burr, San Fernando; Dan Freeman, Inglewood; A. P. Griffith, Azusa, and former Senator C. Cole, Colegrove. The City Council will name ten delegates and various civic organizations will name from two to five each.

Prize Tramp to Lecture.

Henri Mosse, the prize tramp who is encircling the globe in an attempt to win $10,000, and finds himself in distress here, will lecture tonight at the Hotel et Bar de Gap, No. 217 Aliso street. Admission will be free, but a collection will be taken for the adventurer. He will soon begin his overland journey and expects to reach Lyons, France, long before June, 1908, the time limit. Eight men started from Lyons in June, 1904, but six of the contestants have died, leaving Mosse and an Englishman, who is supposed to be in India at the present time, to make the struggle.

For Relief Corps.

Stanton Relief Corps, No. 16, has arranged with Miss Hazel Bawden to give an evening of readings, patriotic and humorous, Friday evening at the headquarters of the corps, Victoria Hall, No. 125½ South Spring street. Miss Bawden will be assisted by a number of good musicians. Among them will be heard Miss Crystal Waters and Charles W. Hatch in solos. Misses Ruby Gunning and Ethel Peck will give instrumental numbers. The G.A.R. Drum Corps will also be in attendance. One of Miss Bawden's readings will be that stirring selection from Thomas Nelson Page, "The Soldier of the Empire." Stanton Corps has always been at the front with good entertainments.

Salt Lake Transfer Co., 217-19 East First street, will check baggage at your residence to any point. Both phones Ex. 754.

Orr & Edwards Co., Funeral Directors. Have moved to their new building, N.E. corner Tenth and Flower. Both phones 52. Lady assistant. Private ambulance.

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

The "Ville de Paris," 317 to 325 S. Broadway, will be ably represented this season in eastern fashion centers by the following corps of buyers, who are either en route or preparing to leave for New York City:

Mr. R. E. Barry, buyer of silks and dress goods; Mr. M. A. Millbach, buyer of laces, dress trimmings, embroideries, leather goods and jewelry; Mr. W. Collins, buyer of lingerie, corsets and shirt waists, and Miss E. Haas, buyer of millinery.

The increased popularity of the "Ville de Paris" as a center for high-class novelties is attributed to the fact that their buyers are on the alert to be first in securing and showing the latest evolutions of Dame Fashion.

J. W. Frey has moved his stock of mantels, grates, tiles and andirons to his warerooms, corner Los Angeles and Twelfth streets, where can be seen the largest assortment of black and brass fireplace trimmings to be found in the United States.

Ladies and Gentlemen.—Visit my Sample Shoe Store on the second floor of 414½ South Broadway.—I sell $3.50 to $6 sample shoes for ladies for $2, and for gents for $2.50. I can fit all feet. Sample Shoe Man, Stark.

WOMEN CLERKS BARRED.

No Longer May Act as Private Secretaries for Men Chiefs in Agricultural Department.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, July 22.—The women clerks of the Agricultural Department cannot hereafter act as private secretaries for the men chiefs of divisions of bureaus.

This dictum, harsh as it may seem, stands as the law in that department. Secretary Wilson has issued it, and he says he means business. By the terms of this order, no woman clerk under him shall in future act as private secretary or confidential clerk to a male chief of division or bureau in the department.

The order is the direct result of the Holmes cotton scandal case, in which Mrs. Bertha Burch figured so prominently, testifying in this city two weeks ago in the trial of Holmes. On account of her position in the office of the chief statistician of the department, she became an expert in crop figures, and now she is conducting a statistical bureau of her own in New York City.

LOVE FLAME GLOWS FOR CENTENARIANS.

Cupid Grows Gray in Conquest of Aged Pair Who Don't Look It.

Local Old Folks Invited to Wedding in Tennessee of Couple Who Met and Wooed Eighty-five Years Ago and Drifted Apart, and Now, According to Industrious Press Agent, Are to Be Happy Ever After.

WITH an invitation extended to Washington Hadley, the nonagenarian bank president of Whittier, Los Angeles county is in a fair way toward representation at one of the most remarkable wedding ceremonies ever performed—the marriage at Tate Springs, Tenn., next month of centenarians who first plighted their troth, eighty-five years ago. The prospective groom, John B. Bundren, Sr., now 101 years old, is a California pioneer, a forty-niner, who since has lived in Tennessee, and the bride, Miss Rose McGuire, now of Eccles, England, whose girlhood home adjoined that of the Bundrens in the sunny south. They are to be married on her one-hundredth birthday, August 26. Bundren, as his photograph shows, is an excellent counterpart of the well-known Father Time.

It is not yet entirely settled in the minds of those who have received invitations whether this is an advertisement for a clever wig-maker, a hair restorer, a wrinkle remover, or Brown-Sequard's Elixer of Life, or the bona fide banns that bring belated joy to two hearts that have beat as one throughout the great span of years since first these palpitations began, during which time babes have grown to maturity, have had babes of their own, which in turn have had babes of their own, and which again in turn have become parents, making great grandparents of those who first saw life when this now loving pair were billing and cooing in the balmy green pastures of old Tennessee. But this is getting too arithmetical, and the sentence is too long.

MARVEL OF CENTURY.

The invitation to Mr. Hadley was extended yesterday by A. L. Ulrich of No. 2023 Magnolia avenue, Los Angeles, who has taken an exceedingly active interest in the coming ceremony, and who is convinced that it is one of the marvels of the century.

Mr. Ulrich says Mr. Hadley has given a tentative promise to attend the wedding—his wife is a native of Tennessee. If he doesn't go, Mr. Ulrich hopes to find another nonagenarian, or even a centenarian, who will make the journey, as it is announced from the press bureau in St. Louis that California alone of all the States has not yet arranged to be represented.

According to the society press notices that have been sent out from St. Louis, the centenarian and his blushing bride have sailed from England for the old home in Tennessee to prepare for the ceremony next month. They are bringing with them, so it is said, the advance notices, twenty-seven persons over 90 years old.

Most of this publicity has come through the energy of the grand nephew of the happy bridegroom, John B. Bundren, Jr., a fine-appearing bachelor of some 44 years, who is described as a clerk in the United States Army medical depot in St. Louis, and who is exceedingly handy with a typewriter, the preparation of photographs for publication; in all, just the kind of a man that the society reporters of the newspapers like to encounter. Bundren, Jr., has been ably assisted in his task by an army of newspaper correspondents and photographers who, as couriers of this great event, are letting no grass grow under their feet.

NOW FOR THE ROMANCE.

But let us get down to the romance: Away back in 1822, when the veterans of the War of 1812 were little more than callow youths, their lived on adjoining farms near Tate Springs in Eastern Tennessee, a boy and a girl. He was 16 and she was 15. He was handsome and she was beautiful. The same sun that shines today was shining then, and as the shadows lengthened in the summer afternoons and he got through with the chores and she with the milking, they would meet in the cool glades—trysting places they called them then, as they call them now—and there they plighted their troth, as all lovers did then and do now.

There is no secret of the fact that

John B. Bundren, Sr., centenarian (above,) who soon will wed Miss Rose Maguire, nearing her one hundredth birthday, the sweetheart of his youth, to whom he plighted his troth eighty-five years ago. In the center, John B. Bundren, Jr., of St. Louis, bachelor grand-nephew, who is to be best man. Aged Californians, including Washington Hadley, Whittier bank president, have been invited to the ceremony.

GERM JUNGLES TO BE CUT.

Bushy Whiskers on Patients in the County Hospital Must Come Off.

Dr. Norman Bridge told the County Supervisors yesterday that the spread of disease at the County Hospital could be checked materially by trimming the beards of patients. Many unfortunates there, afflicted with tuberculosis and other diseases, are permitted to wear long and flowing whiskers. These facial adornments should be cut short, the physician said, to prevent the multiplication of germs and the spread of disease. His recommendation will be heeded.

Dr. Bridge, who visited the County Hospital recently, says the conditions are better than he expected to find them. One point he makes is that a business man, rather than a physician, should have charge of the institution as superintendent.

HUNDREDS SEE BURGLAR TAKEN.

THRILLING CAPTURE BY A NERVY POLICEMAN.

Thief Detected in the Act of Robbing Jewelry Store Seeks Vainly to Escape — Patrolman Slides Down Rope and Handcuffs Him While Five Hundred People Applaud.

Five hundred persons watched the capture of a burglar about 10 o'clock last night in J. C. Fleming's jewelry store at No. 531 South Broadway. For fifteen minutes the car service was blocked as the mob surged back and forth in an effort to get a glimpse of the man. The store was lighted and a mighty cheer went up when Patrolman Walted Osterloh slid down a rope, on which the burglar had dropped down from the skylight, and held him up at the point of a gun. He gave the name of John Conroy and admitted to the detectives that he entered the store with the intention of stealing. He is held on the charge of burglary.

The burglary was discovered by means of the A. D. T. burglar system, with which the store is protected. As soon as Conroy pried open the skylight above the main room of the jewelry store, the electric circuit was broken. The flash came in to the burglar alarm office at 118 West Third street. J. P. Quinn, who was in charge, dispatched Herbert Johnson to watch the store while he telephoned the police.

When Conroy found that he had raised an alarm he attempted to get out the front door. Then he rushed to the back door but was unable to break through. A patrol wagon soon arrived and a minute later the building was surrounded. Conroy could be seen from the street rushing around in his excitement to escape.

Patrolman Osterloh, who assists on the patrol wagon, climbed up on the building and found where the burglar had entered through the skylight. Despite the rumor that the thief had exhibited two guns, Osterloh grabbed the rope and slid down into the store. The crowd cheered and then there was silence until Osterloh grabbed his man who was standing on the north side of the store near the back of the room.

Conroy was taken out the back door and put in the patrol wagon. He was taken to the Police Station by Osterloh who had him handcuffed to himself. Conroy is known as a thief and has served time in the city jail.

COOKS WAY OUT OF JAIL.

Prisoner at County Bastile Earns Freedom Through Skill in Preparing Meals.

Much to the sorrow of the prisoners at the County Jail, the Supervisors yesterday decided to discharge the cook, W. H. Eldred. Ever since Eldred has been boss of the kitchen at the bastile the meals have been so good that prisoners have hated to leave. Even "Olly" Watkins, the orange-grove swindler, who has lived at the best hotels and cafés on the loot from his many victims, praised the jail bill of fare. And now the cook is to go.

Eldred was sent to jail for six months for vagrancy. He wrote a petition to the Supervisors, calling attention to the fact that he had worked Sundays and holidays in the kitchen, while other prisoners were loafing. His extra time amounts to about five days a month, and on that basis the Supervisors cut his sentence down from six to five months. Jailer Aguirre approved Eldred's petition, although he hates to lose the cook.

ANGELENO IS ENJOINED.

His Right to Estate of Dead Wife Is Contested by Woman's Grandchildren.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BOSTON, July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Judge Hammond has issued an injunction in a bill in equity brought by Georgianna J. Wright, Vida L. Patch, Albert Wood and Edward Wood, restraining Louis I. Marshall of Los Angeles from prosecuting a suit in Los Angeles to have his right in the estate of Harriet E. Marshall established and the money paid over. Mrs. Marshall left $35,000, including property in Los Angeles and Massachusetts. She married Marshall February 9 and died March 13.

Judge Grant in the Probate Court had already enjoined Marshall from removing any of her effects from here to California. Later Marshall brought suit there, and the above complainants, who are Mrs. Marshall's grandchildren, claimed they had been summoned to appear in Los Angeles and would lose their rights there if they did not appear.

SEEKS SUPREME KNIGHT'S SEAT.

ST. LOUIS (Mo.) July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Attorney John Leahy of St. Louis, Stated Deputy of the Knights of Columbus, is said to be slated to succeed Edward Hearn as Supreme Knight of the order. A movement is on foot to oust Hearn at the national convention in Jamestown, August 5. Hearn has held the office for many years.

SHADE DISAPPEARS, OWNER WARMS UP.

Miss Frances Kingery, plaintiff in the parasol suit.

AGITATED femininity discussed the pros and cons of a legal tangle about the ownership of a fluffy white parasol, all day yesterday in Justice E. E. Selph's court. Miss Frances Kingery, a pretty teacher, was the plaintiff. The defendant was S. J. Gorwit, an umbrella dealer. His "sisters, cousins and his aunts" entered into the fray with zest. In fact the whole courtroom was given over to the fair sex, and attorneys who went into the abode of justice to present motions, hastily beat a retreat when they saw the array of beauty and feminine grace lined up in a heated argument.

The plaintiff, a teacher in the Sixteenth-street school, claimed that the defendant had undertaken to repair her parasol, but by some mistake had substituted an ordinary affair which he tried to make her believe was her own. She said with her own fair hands she had constructed the dainty affair and edged it with ruffles and lace. There was a slight break at the tip of the stick, she said, and so it went to the Gorwit shop for repairs.

After waiting for some time, Miss Kingery said, an umbrella was left at her home on West Seventeenth street, which she at once knew was not hers. She flew to the umbrella man and he admitted that a mistake had been made in delivery. He assured her that her own parasol would be returned shortly. She made several more calls at the establishment, and still failed to see her pretty ruffled parasol. Finally, she averred, a parasol was delivered at her home. She opened the package and a strange, cheap parasol met her gaze.

This time she sought the repair shop with a gentle sense of indignation.

PUBLIC SERVICE.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

Many sites for the City Jail were offered to the Council yesterday, but no selection was made.

The City Treasurer yesterday announced his ultimatum that henceforth no demands on the treasury will be cashed unless absolutely regular in every respect. This is an outcome of the fight to check purchasing goods and getting requisitions afterward.

The Board of Public Works announced that it has still another amendment to propose for the much-burdened building ordinance.

Yesterday records were broken by the Council passing final ordinances for the paving of more than eight miles of streets.

The Council, after a long discussion, decided to maintain the free labor bureau.

K. Tanimura, who committed a murderous assault on S. A. Thomas, carpenter at the Angelus, was allowed to plead guilty yesterday to assault with a deadly weapon after his trial on a graver charge had been begun. He was given a two-year sentence.

Michael Westra, a former citizen of Paterson, N. J., told of cruel acts of his wife, and was granted a divorce.

Alleged members of an Eastlake Park kissing gang were fined yesterday in Justice Fredericksen's court.

The futile effort to secure a jury to try Dr. G. S. Chin, is worrying Police Court officials.

The Chinaman accused of shooting Chan Mon, was released, yesterday, on $5000 bail.

AT THE CITY HALL.

CITY TREASURER PUTS LID ON.

REFUSES TO CASH IRREGULAR DEMANDS FOR COIN.

Culmination of Campaign to Stop Purchasing of Supplies Without Requisitions—Conference of Officials Today for Harmony, but Hance Says Demands Must Be "Absolutely Regular."

"I have made up my mind, absolutely and definitely, that no more warrants shall be cashed by the City Treasury so long as I hold that office unless they are regular in every particular."

"I refused to cash demands, both Saturday and today, on which City Auditor Mushet had stamped the word 'Rejected,' and I shall continue to do so whenever such demands are presented. This stand I have firmly taken, and I shall not recede from it."

This is the emphatic statement made yesterday by City Treasurer Hance in connection with the latest phase of the muddle at the City Hall over irregular demands for payment on city supplies.

"Those demands have been going to the City Treasurer in the manner agreed upon some weeks ago; there has been no change in the method, and I do not understand just why Capt. Hance has taken the stand he does at this time," said City Auditor Mushet last evening.

"They were irregular, and I so informed the City Council. The various departments for which the goods were purchased then made certification that the goods were actually purchased, and were of the value represented on the demand, and on this showing the City Council passed them, although I had rejected them. This was in accordance with the agreement made in order to clear up this class of old bills."

It is said that several hundred dollars is involved in this hold-up, and some of the Councilmen yesterday were eagerly trying to find a way out of the awkward situation in which some of their constituents found themselves placed.

Capt. Hance declares he has issued positive orders that no more of these "irregular" warrants shall be cashed at his office. Said he:

"We had a conference on May 20, at which the Councilmen, the City Auditor and myself were present, and discussed the best method of clearing up those old accounts—the bills for purchases which had been made for the various city departments without the proper requisition having been issued before the purchase was made.

"As a result of this an agreement was signed that certain indorsements of the departments was to be obtained, and then the bills would be paid, so as to get the business cleared up. I was told that there would be between $18,000 and $20,000 worth of these. While they came from the City Auditor's office marked 'Rejected,' I was furnished a list of the claims to be paid, and I have been paying them.

"But, instead of the bills ceasing when the $20,000 mark had been reached, I have paid out in the neighborhood of $200,000 on these irregular demands and at last I have decided that so far as my office is concerned there is nothing more doing. Two months' time should be sufficient to have cleaned up this sort of business; but they keep coming right along. I refused to cash some of them Saturday, and I have done the same today.

"What will be the result? Well, I suppose some one will bring mandamus proceedings against me to compel me to show cause why I do not pay certain warrants of this sort; and then the whole matter will have to be threshed out.

"If I am to pay these bills, it does not seem right that they should come to me with the stamp of the City Auditor, 'Rejected,' upon them. I have taken my stand, and in justice to myself and this office I shall maintain it."

It is understood that a conference of officials will be held today to try to harmonize the apparent breach in the official machinery at the City Hall; but the stand taken by City Treasurer Hance will doubtless aid in the very work undertaken months ago by City Auditor Mushet, the eliminating of the method of making city purchases first and securing requisitions afterwards.

CITY JAIL SITES.

MANY BIDDERS OFFER LAND.

The City Council yesterday opened offers to sell the city land for a city jail site. The prices offered make a good commentary on general land valuations in the portions of the city which have been referred to sometimes as "the decaying end of town." The offers included the following:

Moyer & Gilbert, lots 8 and 9 in block A, of the Fort Hill tract, being 120 feet frontage on Buena Vista street, and having a depth of 100 feet, for the sum of $32,000.

Bryan & Bradford, lot commencing about 120 feet north of Third street on west side of San Pedro street, 100 x176.83 feet, containing 17,822 square feet, upon which there is a one-story warehouse. Price $360 per foot, or $36,000. Terms, one-third cash, balance one and two years at 6 per cent.

Sherwood & Koyer: Property known as Nos. 115 to 127 South Los Angeles street, inclusive, situated on the west side of South Los Angeles street, with the improvements thereon, for the sum of $150,000. Property is about 142 feet front by 175 feet deep.

Bryan & Bradford: Nine hundred and twenty feet from corner of Main east side of San Pedro (formerly Wilmington,) and about 100 feet north of First street. For the sum of $425 per front foot, or $55,250.

O. P. Benson: Lots 33 and 34, in the Orchard tract, size 50x121, northeast corner of Fourth and Wall streets. Price $800 per front foot.

Wright & Callender: Southwest corner of Buena Vista and Alpine streets, fronting 240 feet on Buena Vista street and having a depth of 165 feet on Alpine street, for the sum of $50,000, either cash or $15,000 cash, balance on or before five years, at 6 per cent.

W. I. Hollingsworth: Lots 5, 6, A, 7, 8, 9 and 10, of the Orchard tract, said property having the following approximate street: 100 feet frontage on Boyd street; 100 feet frontage on Wall street, an irregular depth on the south side of 200 feet, 90 feet of which fronts on a 15-foot alley, and a depth on the west of 110 feet, for $72,000; also lots A, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11 and 12, of the Orchard tract, situated as follows: 120 feet on Boyd street, 164 feet frontage on a 15-foot alley on south side, 170 feet on Wall street, and a depth on the west side of 125 feet, running south from Boyd street, for the sum of $80,000.

Wilbur C. Cate: 182.26 feet on the west side of New High street, between Temple and Republic streets, and 100 feet deep, for $83,500, and upon the following terms: $15,000 cash, $38,500 on or before December 1, 1907, and $30,000 on or before February 8, 1911, deferred payments at 5 per cent. net. The price per front foot is $458.

Also offer the 50 feet adjoining the 182 feet on the west, with a depth of about 100 feet, for $25,000; 10 per cent, $2500, cash, and the balance, $22,500, on or before December 15, 1907. Price per front foot, $500.

Also the 25 feet on the east end of the 182 feet, for $15,000, 10 per cent, $1500, cash, and the balance, $13,500, on or before December 15, 1907. Price per front foot is $600.

Total area is about 25,750 square feet, with frontage of 257 feet on New High street, and at an average price of $484 per front foot.

Bryan & Bradford: Proposition No. 1, containing 18,122 square feet, comprises lots 2 and 3, block 4, Pryor tract, and lot 34, Requena tract, 100 feet facing Central avenue, average depth of 160 feet, with a 25-foot L facing on Jackson street, for $50,000. Terms to suit.

Proposition No. 2 contains 26,521 square feet, comprising lots 38 to 42, inclusive, Requena tract, beginning 97 feet north of First street, on the east side of San Pedro street; has 130 feet frontage, and an average depth of 219 feet, $425 per front foot, or $55,250.

Councilman Wallace made a strong plea for the purchase of the land offered by Moyer & Gilbert, the tract having a 120-foot frontage on Buena Vista street, and a depth of 100 feet. He claimed that this would make an admirable site, because of its proximity to the County Jail, the Courthouse, and the section of the city from which many police cases come, and that it would have the sanitary advantages of elevation and two exposed walls, which could never be cut off from the air. At the price placed on this property, Wallace contended that the old City Jail property could be sold for enough to purchase this and erect a better building than the city now has. The subject was finally referred to the committee of the whole.

MUCH PAVING.

MANY ORDINANCES PASSED.

Within a quarter of an hour at yesterday's session of the City Council, there were passed ordinances of intention for the paving of more miles of the city's streets than was accomplished in all of last year's work. The ordinances passed yesterday provide for the paving of more than eight miles of streets. There is little possibility that any of these projects will be protested out, and it is likely that the contracts will be let as soon as the legal steps will allow, so that several of the contracts will be under way before the beginning of the winter season.

The ordinances passed include the paving of West Adams street, from Main to Hoover streets; Hope, from Sixth to Pico streets; Eleventh, from Main to Figueroa; East Main, from the Los Angeles River to Mission Road; Ninth, from Figueroa to Union avenue; San Fernando, from Main to College; Fourteenth, form San Pedro to Central; Grand, from Sixth to Pico; Twelfth, from Main to Figueroa.

The reading of the City Engineer's report on the ordinances went along in the usual monotonous order, and one by one the items were voted upon by the Council without note, until Councilman Wallace at last called attention to the fact that in the few minutes just passed a remarkable series of improvements had been provided for—more in one session than had been done in a whole twelve months' work of the previous year.

SOM ESTREET WORK.

ORDINANCES OF INTENTION.

The City Council yesterday passed final ordinances of intention for the sewering of Burlington avenue, from Temple to Bellevue avenue, and of Westlake avenue from Temple to Bellevue. Final ordinances were also passed for the improvement of Ortega street; Temple, from Burtz to Coronado; Hobart boulevard, from Eleventh to San Marino; Toluca, from First to Colton.

Labor Bureau Sustained.

After quite a skirmish by opponents to the maintenance of the Free Labor Bureau, yesterday morning, the City Council voted to adopt the report of its special investigating committee—Councilmen Healy and Dromgold—and to continue the operation of the bureau. The special committee reported that certain changes were advisable to increase the efficiency of the concern, but that they advised its continuance. Councilmen Wallace and Wyeh made a fight for its abolition, and they were backed by Councilmen Yonkin and Pease, but after a wordy discussion, the action above indicated was taken.

Want New Playgrounds.

The Playground Commission has filed a petition to the City Council, asking that it set aside for playgrounds the four acres near the High School, formerly a part of the old city cemetery. The commission sets forth that this tract is too small for park purposes, and that there is no playground, park, or other public commons in the immediate neighborhood, although it is thickly settled, and there is a demand for public recreation and exercise grounds. On account of its close proximity to the High School, the commission urges that it would be of special benefit to the students.

Blanchard Comes Back.

Councilman Blanchard has returned from a month's vacation with his family in the Bear Valley, and participated in yesterday's session of the City Council.

Collector's Final Report.

The final report of the City Tax Collector was filed with the City Council yesterday. It shows that the amount charged on the tax rolls to the Tax Collector was $2,195,278.17. The 10 per cent. penalty on the first payment of delinquency amounted to $4028.82; and the 5 per cent. penalty amounted to $1628.46. Advertising charges on delinquent taxes amounted to $2824.50, and overcollections $61.08, making the total paid to the City Treasurer $2,759,022.22.

Music for Central Park.

The City Council yesterday voted to appropriate $100 from the general funds for the $1100 fund being raised to provide semi-weekly concerts in Central Park.

Two Drinking Fountains.

The City Council yesterday granted permission to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals to erect two sanitary drinking fountains to human beings, horses and dogs. One of these, to cost $300, is to be placed at the junction of Main, Spring and Ninth streets; and the other, to cost $1000, will be erected at Wilshire Boulevard and Commonwealth avenue.

Hearing of Appeal.

The hearing of protestants on the assessment district for the improvement of Eighteenth street, from Hoover to Arapahoe streets, is to be heard by the City Council next Monday at 11 a. m. This was continued from yesterday's session because of lack of time.

Appeal Is Sustained.

The appeal of M. T. Collins and others against the improvement proceedings for Jackson street, from Lafayette to Amelia, was sustained by the City Council yesterday, and thus a long-drawn-out controversy is ended. This is the street which, it was alleged, the Southern Pacific was attempting to have opened through and improved at the cost of the property owners, so that it could then be utilized for spur-track privileges

St. Vincent Place.

The City Council has postponed until next Monday the final hearing on the petition to abandon proceedings for the opening of St. Vincent Place through the block from Sixth to Seventh street. It is claimed that a majority of the property owners on this street are against the proposed opening, but they do not appear on the protest, although it was stated yesterday that they would block proceedings at a later stage, if they were allowed to stand. Among the protestants is Niles Pease, president of the City Council, who yesterday addressed that body advocating a dismissal of the proceedings.

KEPT AWAKE BY BOILING WATER.

EXPLAINS WHY HE LISTENS TO WIFE'S SCOLDINGS.

Made Target for Table Knives and Light Furniture and Dinner Consigned to Garbage Pail, Complains Former Paterson (N.J.) Citizen. Sorrows Soothed by Decree of Divorce.

Michael Westra, erstwhile resident of a city known to fame through suspicions of dark plots hatched and anarchistic conspiracies formed, was granted an interlocutory decree of divorce by Judge James yesterday, on the ground of cruelty.

Mrs. Johanna Westra was not present, as she had remained in Paterson, N. J., when her husband and children fled from the town and from her.

The marriage took place ten years ago, and the acts of cruelty complained of, according to the testimony of Westra, began within three months after the ceremony.

The witness declared that his spouse, when angry, had been in the habit of throwing the lighter furniture at him. If the petulent moods came at meal times, her favorite missiles were the table knives and forks.

"She was arrested there for cruelty to the children," Westra testified. "She struck them in the face with her fist."

When Westra, wearied by a long day's work, fell asleep when his wife wished him to listen to a scolding, he said, she would threaten to pour boiling water on him to keep him awake. Another method of rebuke employed by her was to throw his dinner in the garbage can after he had begun to eat.

JAP GETS TWO YEARS.

KNIFE ASSAULT IN HOTEL.

In the midst of a trial which was going against him, K. Tanimura, charged with assault with intent to commit murder, yesterday pleaded guilty to assault with a deadly weapon. The plea was accepted and the prisoner was sentenced to serve two years in San Quentin prison.

Tanimura, while employed in the Hotel Augelus, on May 9, attacked the hotel carpenter, S. E. Thomas, with a knife, inflicting a score of wounds. The weapon was an old kitchen knife, the blade of which had been ground down to a length of about five inches.

Throughout the proceedings Tanimura sat with a fixed expression of sullenness and raised his eyes rarely. He seemed dully angry at the action of the white men in trying him for his crime.

Lewis Haney related the events of May 9 at the hotel. He had seen the Jap approach the carpenter shop, carrying a sweeper which he told the carpenter to repair. Thomas had replied that he had not time, and told the Jap to use another sweeper. The brown man took offense and swore at Thomas, uttering threats.

The man who was too busy to mend sweepers spared enough time to thrash the Jap for his impudence. Tanimura disappeared, but only long enough to secure the knife, which he held behind his back.

"Thomas asked him what he had," testified Haney, "and then the Jap jumped at him, saying: 'I'm going to kil you.' Thomas kicked at him, and then the Jap went to work on him with his knife as fast as he could.

"Thomas's right arm was cut half off, and there was a gash in his forehead from which the blood ran down into his eyes. He was cut three times in the back, too.

"Thomas tripped the Jap and threw him, and got hold of one hand. I got the knife from him, but not until he had turned on me and cut me across the wrist. When I first got hold of the knife the other Jap that was there, Hashawa Bara, grabbed me and pulled me back."

In cross-examination, counsel for Tanimura tried to make a point in favor of his client by asking if Thomas was not a bigger man than his assailant. Haney's answer, that the chunky Jap, while smaller, seemed the stronger man, disconcerted the attorney and he said:

"Well, never mind that."

Morris Friedman, the hotel tailor, testified:

"I heard somethings, and I look out of my shop. I see the carpenter chase the Jap out of his shop and gave him a few lickings. The Jap, he say: 'I'm going to kill you.' In a minute he came back, and when I saw the fight I went right back in my shop."

Officer Ziegler, who arrested Tanimura after some difficulty, told how other Japs employed in the hotel had tried to throw him off the track by saying that Tanimura had gone.

Tanimura, through an interpreter, said that he had simply insisted on having his sweeper repaired, and that the carpenter had called him a —— Jap, striking him in the face several times, and chasing him from the shop.

"I went around the hall and got my knife. Then I went back and asked the carpenter if he wanted to fight. He said yes, and kicked at me, and then I cut him with the knife to defend myself. After I cut him several times, he knocked me down and tried to choke me. Then the man (Haney) took my knife."

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

LYNCH SUED. Mrs. M. A. Schilling yesterday filed a suit to regain possession of a house at No. 130 North San Pedro street, which she had leased to William P. Lynch, an active politician, of the Eighth Ward, on August 2, 1906. Alice Hill is also made a defendant. The complaint charges that Lynch sublet the place, without authority, to Alice Hill for a house of ill-fame. In a recent suit, tried in the Superior Court, Lynch sought to collect rentals alleged to be due from the woman to whom he had sublet the house, and she made the defense that she had paid the rent to Mrs. Schilling at the latter's order. A further charge by Alice Hill was that she paid Lynch $5 per day for police protection.

ALLEGED FIREBUG. George M. Woodward, charged with setting fire to his house in San Pedro for the purpose of securing the insurance, yesterday was held to answer in the Superior Court to the charge of arson. The preliminary examination was held in Justice Summerfield's court. Woodward's house was burned on June 15.

WANTS CHILDREN. Thomas J. Perry, alleging that his wife will not allow him to see his four children, yesterday filed suit in the Superior Court to have the custody of his offspring. The complaint states that the plaintiff has urged his wife to return to him, and that she has refused. It is charged that she has instructed the children to "hurl both stones and disrespectful epithets at said plaintiff, and also to run away from said plaintiff whenever they see him approaching."

NEW CORPORATIONS. Pacific Post Card Company, capital stock $10,000, with $30 subscribed; Spring Hill Mining Company, capital stock $250,000, with $50 subscribed; Oil Boys Oil Company, capital stock $600,000, with $8 subscribed.

HIGGINS WILL CONTEST.

The formal and authoritative interview with Mrs. Charles Wellington Rand, published in last Sunday's Times, contained a somewhat important error, caused by the omission of a clause in that portion of her statement relating to the incomes, respectively, of the mother, the brother and herself, and to her efforts to adjust the family difficulties amicably. Referring to the letter formerly addressed to her attorneys, and which was reprinted as part of her interview, Mrs. Rand made the following explanatory statement, which is now republished with the necessary correction:

"This letter contained the words: 'I authorize you to renew, on my behalf, this offer, with or without the concurrence of my mother, in order that I may not appear to be inconsistent or arbitrary,' etc. To make this language perfectly plain, I will elaborate it. The full meaning here implied is that my own offer (irrespective of the one that my mother once made and then withdrew upon the refusal of her son to accept our joint offer for his benefit,) would result in securing to him, during his lifetime, the receipt of the larger part of my own income, from the estate. It would, in fact, give him a life income amounting to about $4000 a year, which, together with valuable gifts from his father in the way of farms, a house and its furnishings, etc., certainly places him in a good condition financially.

"Now, as to my mother: Instead of being 'left penniless,' as has been so recklessly claimed by her and her biased companions, she was given by her just and generous husband's will, first, a life interest in the handsome Wilshire boulevard home, with its entire contents, worth not less than $60,000—a home that will bring a rental of approximately $400 a month; and next a monthly payment out of the estate funds of $400. Besides these liberal allowances, my mother has a considerable private income of her own, derived from property left her by her crippled son, Harry, which property, consisting of valuable lands, etc., was given to him by my father, but which Harry subsequently left to his mother."

The foregoing, taken in connection with the entire interview and with Mrs. Rand's letter to her attorneys, presents her side clearly and with substantial accuracy, she says, so far as her statement goes. She declares that this Times interview is the first authoritative and comprehensive version of her side which has yet been published.

EMPLOYER'S ODD DEFENSE.

Girl Sues for Wages, He Charges Her With Embezzling Prize Awarded Her.

A prize of $25, offered by a department store for the best plan of a subdivision owned by the proprietors of the store, led to a suit in Justice Summerfield's court yesterday, and to charges of embezzlement against the plaintiff.

Miss Louise Rhoads, a modest-appearing girl, brought the action against Williston Greenwood, her former employer, to recover $9.45, alleged to be due as wages for about ten days' work in Greenwood's printing establishment.

It appears from the testimony that Greenwood, Mrs. Greenwood and Miss Rhoads submitted plans, and that Miss Rhoads won the prize. She said that her employer then demanded the money on the ground that she worked for him and made her plan during business hours. After some argument, she explained, she left the printing establishment, and Attorney Henry E. Willis, at her request, brought suit to recover the wages alleged to be due.

Greenwood defended himself and charged that Miss Rhoads embezzled the $25 awarded her. He admitted he owed the plaintiff about $9, but wanted the court to award him the $25.

Justice Summerfield gave judgment for the plaintiff for the amount asked, and overlooked Greenwood's claim.

Lebrun, Smith, Massey and Moddy were arrested yesterday. Smith and Lebrun were convicted and fined $20 each, with a warning. Massey and Moddy proved to be innocent bystanders, and were released.

Warrants for the arrest of several other kissers have been issued, and arrests may be made today.

Struggle for Jury.

Following the examination of eighty men yesterday in the case of Dr. G. S. Chan, a Chinese physician, charged with practicing medicine without a license, a special venire was called and another attempt will be made to secure a jury today. When the last man had been excused yesterday afternoon, it made a total of just 420 men who had been disqualified.

Yesterday among the talesmen called were ten prominent bankers. They pleaded pressing business and were excused. An attempt was made to place them on record regarding their feelings toward the Chinese race, but this failed. Many of the banks cater to the Chinese business and the bankers would have been placed in a most embarrassing position.

The Chan case has now taken up just one month of the court's time. Dr. Chan is said to be paying his attorneys $50 a day and a court stenographer $10 a day.

Highway Robbery Charge.

George Ko was arraigned yesterday in the Police Court on a charge of highway robbery and is being held at the City Jail, pending a preliminary examination.

Ko is alleged to have held up and robbed Henry Shanks and Nellie Grant near Twenty-first and Figueroa streets Sunday night. When arrested Shanks's watch was found in his possession.

Ko told the officers that he had purchased the revolver from a Chinaman and that he had never been in trouble before.

Furnishes Heavy Bail.

Leung Him, under arrest on a charge of having shot Chan Mon, was admitted to $5000 bail yesterday by Justice Fredericksen. Chan Mon is improving rapidly under the care of Dr. Garrett. He is being closely guarded to prevent another attempt upon his life.

Officers Rebuked.

C. O. Wolff of South Central avenue yesterday pleaded guilty to a charge of selling liquor to minors and was fined $100 by Justice Fredericksen.

Officers Ingraham and Beaumont, who secured the evidence against Wolff, were severely criticised by the court for the methods used. It was learned that the officers had sent a little boy into the place with instructions to buy the liquor. Justice Fredericksen held that such an act was an attempt on the part of the officers to encourage crime, rather than prevent it.

Woman Arraigned.

Mrs. Alice McKeown, charged with embezzlement, was arraigned yesterday in Justice Austin's court and bail of $2000 required. Mrs. McKeown is alleged to have held back certain funds in a real estate deal which ought to have been divided with other parties to the transaction.

SENATOR BURKETT COMING.

Man Who Defeated Bryan Will Be Guest of Sisters Here and Speak at Chautauqua.

Senator Elmer J. Burkett, who defeated Bryan in the race for the upper house of Congress, will arrive in Los Angeles probably tomorrow and for a few days will be a guest of his sisters, Mrs. William Reeve of No. 1680 Harvard boulevard and Mrs. O. F. Sherer of No 2820 Dalton avenue. He is to speak Thursday evening at the Long Beach Chautauqua, which appearance will be one of eight speaking dates for the Pacific Coast.

SENATOR E. J. BURKETT.

He was elected to the Senate in 1905 and is credited with being the youngest member of that body. The Thursday Study Club of Los Angeles will go to Long Beach in a body Thursday evening to hear him.

FRUIT-CAR HEARING LONG.

The California Citrus Union produced several new witnesses yesterday at the car-shortage case hearing before Special Commissioner Frank G. Finlayson. All the testimony was to the effect that the method of car distribution practiced by the Santa Fé had injured the business of the Citrus Union. The witnesses all declared that the only fair method of car distribution is according to the fruit in the packing-houses. It is believed that the hearing will not be concluded before the end of the week. If arguments are dispensed with, the case may be concluded much earlier. All the papers will be forwarded to the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington, where the decision will be rendered.

To Make Paper Durable.

A method of making paper and card board hard, durable and resistant has just been invented by a New Yorker. This invention is an improved composition for treating paper, especially in the form of card board, rendering it particularly desirable in the manufacture of chair bottoms and many other articles.

The composition consists of white potato powder, starch, tragacanth gum and water. To 50 parts, by weight, of water about 100 degrees Fahrenheit are added 65 parts of white potato powder which is made by drying and grinding the potato into a flour, 15 parts of cornstarch and five parts of rice starch. This is thoroughly mixed and allowed to stand a short time, when it ferments.

To this fermented composition is thereafter added 15 parts of East India tragacanth gum, which has been disolved in a small quantity of water. The compound is now ready for use and is preferably applied to the paper by dipping the paper or may be applied to the paper in any other desired manner.

The paper after being saturated in this compound and allowed to dry becomes hard and will withstand wear and rough usage like wood.

Residence and Business Property Change Hands at Prices Which Indicate a Firm Market.

The Bixel Apartments, at Nos. 616, 618 Bixel street, have been sold to Frederick and Rosa Eichenhofer by Frank Mortimer for $65,000. The property consists of a four-story and basement brick and plaster building of 167 rooms, and a lot 50x165 feet. The sale was made by C. C. Horsford & Co. The property is rented for a term of five years at $7200 a year.

The same firm reports the sale of the southeast corner of East Second and San Pedro streets, lot 125x150 feet, improved with a one-story brick warehouse, by Frederick and Rosa Eichenhofer to L. A. Dreisbach for $50,000. This is rented at a fair rate per month, and pays well on the investment.

A syndicate, headed by M. A. Marcoson of New York, and composed of numerous other eastern capitalists has purchased the Ensenada, (Lower California) electric light and water plant, and the telephone franchise for the city, for approximately $60,000. The grantor is W. A. Vernon and associates. The franchises to supply light, water and telephone service to the Mexican city are exclusive, and have a life of twenty years. The sale was made by the J. D. Cameron Company. The new syndicate will increase the equipment and capacity of the plant.

Fifteen acres of land on Central avenue, three blocks east of the postoffice, Sierra Madre, have been purchased by the Sierra Madre Sanatorium Company from a local investor, for $12,000. The sanatorium cmopany is planning to erect a modern hospital for the care of tubercular patients. It is stated that work will be begun within a few weeks on the buildings. Jas. V. Black of the O. A. Vickrey & Co., made the sale.

The Coronado Hotel property on Coronado street, near Westlake Park, was sold recently to H. W. Lanz of Lake Charles, La., by Dr. M. N. Avery for $38,750. The lot is 150x130 feet. Improvements and additions to the present building are being planned by the new owner, Smurr & Harrison made the sale.

Cason & Arnold have closed a deal whereby W. B. Corwin, proprietor of the Alvarado Hotel, leases the building to C. F. DeWitt of Chicago. The lease runs for a term of years, and calls for a total rental of over $100,000. The Alvarado is located on the northeast corner of Alvarado and Sixth streets, and is a 100-room mission-style hotel.

There was a fatal explosion last Saturday in a dolliery at Toyo Oka, Japan. It is reported that nearly all of the 470 miners in the pit at the time were killed.

Lonergan also weeps. But where is the money he took?

The lawyers at Boise are coming to the end of the rope, whether Haywood is or not.

Think of gold being discovered in Pittsburgh, where almost everybody is a millionaire, anyway!

We hear a good deal from San Francisco about the Glass case. Also more or less about throwing stones.

Too much gratitude cannot be expressed to young persons who go abroad when they are learning to sing.

Doubtless what makes the Koreans the maddest is to be told that Japan has done it to her for her own good.

Maybe the bribe money the yellow-dog Supervisors took is gone. It came easy and probably went the same way.

The San Francisco labor unions are said to be looking for a Moses. They didn't fare very well with an Abraham.

The public doesn't seem to be very deeply impressed with the idea that Mr. Halsey was spending his own money.

King Edward has been advised to do more walking. He might take the place of the King of Spain for a few nights.

The worst is yet to come at Boise. Darrow will begin to talk tomorrow, and only the Lord knows when he will stop.

The highbinders have evidently come to the conclusion that this part of California is not laid out favorably for tong wars.

It has been learned that the last time the Koreans engaged in a war was in 1592. They must be pretty rusty by this time.

When an Emperor loses his job it puts him in a bad fix. His dignity will not allow him to go to work at anything else.

A Chinaman's bare word is usually good to secure a debt, but in other matters he does not understand English very well.

The way things are now, the man who lives by his wits works mighty hard for what he gets—there is so much competition.

No matter whether one travels by sea or land, these times, certain grave risks must be taken the same as if one remains at home.

It does not seem to have helped the ruler of Korea much that he is a son of the morning star and a first cousin to the comet of 1846.

A banker who has been summoned to act on a local jury said he would not believe a Chinaman under oath. He was not asked concerning white men.

It is with a sense of comfort that we feel that most of the questions that have proved a bother to us are being settled just a few miles away at Long Beach.

We are a race of fatalists, after all. There are even more marriages taking place in this country now than there were before the talking machine was invented.

A man who said he had to attend a horse race was excused by a local judge from serving on a jury. And still we are told that our judges are inhuman.

Physicians now generally agree that good tobacco is not harmful if used moderately. But the other side will contend that there is no such thing as good tobacco.

The secretary of the State Board of Charities has reported unfavorably on the Los Angeles jail. He did not find the society there all that is to be desired, perhaps.

We fear his late Majesty of Korea is wasting time trying to recover his throne. He may as well send in his name to the Down-and-Out Club without further delay.

An authority on the subject says the Koreans could ruin Japan by conducting a guerrilla war. Well, why don't they do it? The Japs made monkeys out of them.

A Philadelphia doctor believes that a man who smokes a great deal during the day should refrain from it at night. Does he mean all night, or just a part of the night?

If women are to be allowed by law to beat their husbands every time they come home tipsy (the husbands, we mean,) the rum demon may as well prepare to throw up the sponge.

We do not exactly know what symbols or system of chicken's feet is used in the Korean language to represent the double cross, but that's what the Emperor got all the same.

Everett Lloyd, who prints a tramp magazine, says there are no great men in Seattle and only two in Los Angeles. He should come here some time when the Chautauqua circle is not in session at Long Beach.

THE HAPPENINGS IN KOREA.

As was indicated some few weeks ago in these columns, Korea is destined to be a storm center in the politics of far eastern Asia. The raising of the status of the ruler, ten years ago, from King to Emperor, under Japanese incitement and auspices, was a mere move in the political game having for its object to detach the peninsula finally from Chinese overlordship. Now that China is out of the way and harmless and Russia's claws have been clipped, the Japanese are showing their hand. They mean to absorb Korea, and make both emperorship and kingship a thing of the past. Perhaps they are more or less justified in the excuse they will advance, that they have learned the trick from their European friends and teachers. It is too much to expect of Japan that she will surpass all her Christian friends in fair dealing and impartiality. Korea lies helpless at her feet and Japan does not mean to put Korea on her feet again. No, indeed! Korea will be Japanized as quickly as Japanese officialdom can effect the change.

It is a pity, however, that it is the worse and not the better element in official Japan which will have the work to do. The best quality of Japanese manhood seeks a career that will bring it into immediate touch with American, English and European statesmen and thinkers, and the half-educated but equally ambitious man of the second grade is sent across to Korea to rule the stagnant Koreans. This petty Japanese official, with a veneer of western training, puts on airs to make up for his real lack of education, and any personage more intolerable to a self-respecting Asiatic could hardly be conceived. The Korean Emperor, who has just abdicated, had some backbone and pride, and he is removed. One of his sons who will consent to be a mere lackey will be put in his place and used as his Japanese masters think fit.

Nothing is more certain than that the Japanese are very far from the point where they can become teachers of Occidental learning to their Asiatic brethren. The Chinese government, which has been sending over hundreds of its students to Tokio to learn foreign ways has discovered that the game is not worth the candle. The students come back almost entirely ignorant of what they were sent to learn. And the worst of it is that these less able Japanese make louder professions than the really well-equipped.

The Koreans are right in demanding that the question of their country's treatment is worth discussing at The Hague. The abuse and cuffing that they have received at the hands of their Japanese neighbors, who are now their lords, will bear dire fruit some day. Nothing can justify the unfair treatment that Japan has meted out to Korea, and Eastern Asia is aware of the fact and will learn the lesson.

POLITICAL SITUATION ANALYZED.

As deduced from existing political conditions referred to on recent occasions by The Times, the possibilities of the Presidential campaign next year seem to be these:

A Roosevelt Republican candidate or an anti-Roosevelt one. A conservative and reactionary Democratic candidate, a radical one of the Bryan type, or an extremist who would stand for government ownership of the railroads and public ownership generally of nearly all kinds of semi-public utilities. This would in all probability take in the labor-union "leaders" intent on steering these bodies into politics. Should these extremists fail in their already evident intent to control the Democratic nomination, then the unsatisfied and malcontents of all classes seem determined to put a candidate of their own in the field. Of course there will be the inevitable Prohibition candidate, and probably several others representing still less numerous followings. Should the malcontents succeed in controlling the Democratic nomination, the conservative members of that historic party may put up a "regular" Democratic candidate as in 1896. This might be done with a less revolutionary platform and candidate than the unsatisfied would name. If such a candidate as Mr. Bryan should head the Democratic ticket, and the malcontents should still enter the lists, the reactionary Democrats may put a man of their own in the field.

There will in no case be more than one Republican candidate. There may be two Democratic tickets, with a socialistic ticket and a Prohibition ticket added. Leaving out this last, which will probably poll its own vote as heretofore and not affect greatly the alignment, the outlook is that we shall have three, probably four, and perhaps five tickets, which will split the vote along lines of cleavage difficult to trace beforehand. The voters will all line up upon the issues presented.

In any contingency, the Republican party will stand upon the issues of its past, in every one of which it was right, and on which it has won in nearly every battle. It will stand for manhood suffrage without regard to color, race, property holdings, occupation, religious or other affiliation. It will stand against all class distinction of all kinds. It will stand for the right of every citizen to pursue his life career according to the light of his own conscience and judgment, as a free man, restrained only by the laws of his State and of the United States. The party will stand for vested rights under the Bill of Rights, for a government which shall be fair to all under existing laws as construed by the established courts of the several States and of the United States. Its policy will be that this is a government of all the people, for all the people, and by the selected representatives of a majority of all the people. The party will not stand for a paternal government such as those found in Europe, and will insist that the government concern itself with an administration guaranteeing to all the people the right to pursue their vocations in their own way under the law, and according to order.

The Republican party will stand for the protective tariff unimpaired in its efficiency to safeguard the American workman from impossible competition with underpaid labor in foreign countries. The attempt to side-track this issue will be violent and vicious. The attempt will fail as it has always failed, and this will be one of the most vital points upon which the election will turn. As to revising the tariff, the party will take the ground that it will be done when such a step is necessary to guard any important industry from any influence likely to impair its prosperity. But the contention will be that the protective tariff must be revised by its friends, not destroyed by its enemies.

These are all old issues. The important new one will be whether the Roosevelt policy in dealing with trusts and monopolies is to be continued. The trusts and monopolies will have their advocates in the convention and their attempt to control will be vigorous. We do not think it will succeed. The Sherman and the Hepburn acts are both Republican policies. The bills were formed by loyal and stalwarth Republicans and passed by Republican Congresses. The President is the executive branch of the government and is only doing his sworn duty in enforcing these laws. To be consistent the Republican party must stand for these things and must stand by the President. The reactionaries, to be consistent, should come into the convention with the contention that these laws should be rescinded. That is the only logical position for them to stand in. Will they stand there? They dare not.

The Democratic creed? It will depend on which element controls the tumultuous assembly next July. The "Regulars" will be violently reactionary as to trusts and monopolies. The followers of Bryan will claim that they are the only "blown-in-the-bottle" anti-monopoly people. If they win they will at best promise the country that they will be as good Republicans as Roosevelt, or Taft, or Cannon, or any of the rest of them. The unsatisfied will patch up a platform (if the job is turned over to them) made in part by Herr Most, in part by Emma Goldman, in part by Eugene V. Debs, in part from editorial clippings from the periodical published by the Western Federation of Miners, and in part from the "declarations of principles" emanating from the council chamber whence Cornelius, McCarthy, Schmitz and Tveitmoe have governed San Francisco.

DIET AND DO IT.

The question of what a man shall eat is becoming serious, now that the vegetarians propose to run Senator La Follette for President on the platform that his occupation of the White House would make for universal peace, because he does not eat meat. If diet is to be dragged into politics as an issue there is bound to be a realignment of the parties. Even the Prohibitionists are likely to go out of commission, for the question of what a man shall drink is as nothing compared with the row that will be raised when an attempt is made to interfere with what he shall eat.

The vegetarians have come out boldly in the open and now declare that the diet and the do it of life go hand in hand. They say that a meat eater is a fire eater; that the man who chews on hambones and licks his chops over beefsteaks is filled with the lust of blood. Such a man, they point out, becomes brutalized, and the desire to slay is strong within him. And when he eats sausages and wiener wursts there is nothing left but to call out the militia to guard the community against his onslaughts.

On the other hand it is contended that the vegetarian is a man of peace, and that in order to become such it is not all necessary that he shall confine himself wholly to prunes. For he may be both a fruitarian and a vegetarian without doing violence to himself or his better nature, or yet to his neighbors. He can also eat onions, asparagus, rutabagas, crab apples, French fried potatoes and eggs "straight up." He can wash these things down with a glass of milk if he is so inclined and has the stomach to stand it after having read the latest reports of the Board of Health in reference to the sanitary conditions of the dairies. A diet of this nature leads a man's mind to a perfect state of calm.

The vegetarians prove their contentions by making a comparison between candidate La Follette and Mr. Roosevelt, referring to the latter rather contemptuously as "the incumbent," which he appears to be with more or less emphasis according to those who have had occasion to run up against him during the past three years or so. The grass advocates make a comparison of the two men which is supposed to settle all controversy as to what is best for a man to eat.

Perhaps they are right about it. No doubt Mr. Roosevelt is a warlike man. He keeps a bulldog in his back yard and it is known that he has frequently put on the gloves with Mike Donovan and others of his ilk. Senator La Follette, on the contrary, is well known to be a man of the most peaceable instincts and habits. He was here in Los Angeles a few weeks ago, and we all know that he didn't say a mean word about anybody. All he did was to almost raise a riot. Up in Wisconsin La Follette is regarded as the nearest approach to a cooing dove that can be imagined. No one could be better cited as an example of the soothing effect of green diet than Mr. La Follette.

The progress of this great movement to place a grass eater in the White House will be watched with deep interest, not to say concern, from one end of the nation to the other. In the meantime let the beef trust beware, as Heney would say.

The True Meaning of Our Controversy With Japan.

LOS ANGELES, July 22.—[To the Editor of The Times:] We, the people of the Pacific Coast, should always bear in mind the saying that the Pacific Ocean is the Mediterranean of the future, which future is already almost within our own grasp, and certainly within the grasp of our children. And nature having blessed us with the endless opportunities of all that is meant by this promise of the future, we ought to be constantly on the alert and ready not only to develop, but also to defend them, as, unfortunately, on this planet of ours, everything worth having must be defended, because there is always somebody, somewhere, who is eager to take it away from us in one way or another. We, as a nation, for the last decade or so, appear to have lost sight of this.

Invulnerable as we were, we acquired the Philippine and Hawaiian Islands, without having adequately prepared ourselves for a practical defense of such isolated and distant possessions, and afterwards ourselves helped to create a dangerous rival within the coveted zone. There is no doubt that the far Orient underwent a tremendous change during that decade, a change which our statesmen of ten or twelve years ago were unable to foresee and the later ones to forestall.

In the place of a meek, peaceful market for some of our overproduction and a rich field for a few of the most enterprising and energetic captains of our industry and commerce, there was born and enormously strengthened a rival naval and military state with the many advantages of a vigorous colored race. This racial difference, with such characteristics as wonderful imitative ability, fanaticism, hardihood, and the capacity to exist and even prosper upon almost nothing is the most dangerous point. I would not mind any white rival, for our country is great, strong and rich in patriotism and money, but I shrink before a brown being, swayed by usages and emotions totally foreign and incomprehensible to us. He is a heathen in his make-up, an oriental of unfathomable power of spirit, trained to the very edge of obedience to his elders and to faith in his invincibility. At the same time he is armed to the teeth, ready to the last button, and while as clever in international diplomacy as anybody, in addition, he is by nature treacherous.

You cannot argue with him by a mere display of power; you have to have the substance behind that display, while he will keep his mouth shut and most successfully deceive you as to his real strength.

We are told Japan is poor, exhausted and has no gold. But she managed to go successfully through the enormous strain of two years' fight with Russia, and to double and triple her naval and military resources since. If she is poor compared to us, she knows how to get along with but very little, while we are by nature extravagant, and every man costs us ten times more than he costs Japan. We must not allow ourselves to be deceived by this pretended poverty. With such grave issues at stake, Japan will find the means. She is fast becoming independent of any foreign help, so far as her navy and army requirements go—in fact, in every other way, too. We served her long enough with our industrious genius to allow her to become independent. The Japanese are apt pupils; they are today fully abreast of their teachers. Lack of the most precious of human gifts—of creative power—did not deter them from closely following the white man.

I believe that the present American-Japanese friction is created artificially and that the San Francisco incidents are so trivial as to be not worthy of any serious notice. War is an awful thing, and I refuse to believe that such nonsense could result in war. But, at the same time, it is significant and dangerous, as just such jingo talk always precedes real wars and creates the atmosphere and feeling which are necessary to bring some vital incidents about. And in this case, the substance, while yet hidden, is real and consists of the question of future supremacy on the Pacific Ocean. That tremendous question is there, and became suddenly acute because of the history of the last decade, partly, as explained before, of our own doing. There is no doubt that Japanese victories over China and Russia are slowly but surely excluding our commerce from China proper, Japan, Manchuria, Korea. We are already short about $40,000,000 in our exports to the Orient, compared to only a short three years ago. The "open door" of the Japanese fashion is certainly more disadvantageous to us than the Russian closed one. There is every reason to believe that that shortage is going to grow.

Japan is a keen, energetic industrial and commercial rival with a hidden but ardent desire for complete supremacy in the Orient. We furnished and are still furnishing her with the tools to attain it. There is always the temptation of valuable expansion because of the Philippine and Hawaiian Islands, so congenial to Japan as to climate, soil and surroundings, and so utterly worthless to us for these self same reasons. With the present feeling of enmity, which can be fed from time to time at will, a casus belli can be created at any time, within twenty-four hours, if deemed necessary.

I abhor war, and believe it to be the most cruel thing in existence. But I recognize its grim necessity. No peace congresses or arbitration can remedy a condition, when vital interests of a country about a certain piece of territory or sea supremacy are concerned. Guns and men behind them will settle such conflicts for a long time to come yet. And I am afraid that our country is fast approaching a condition, when war with Japan will become inevitable. We, the people of the Pacific Coast, must grow; and our natural way for that growth is our ocean. Our very existence will depend upon the question of supremacy on it. Such supremacy cannot be divided; we must either have it all, or give it all up. We must pay partly for our mistakes in the past, partly for our future, for an unhampered prosperity of our posterity. We must do our best to strengthen our defenses, to prepare for any emergency. We will be the first to suffer. What are the ocean and our harbors good for, if the oriental trade is closed to us? We must not be caught napping; must not rely upon oriental assurances. Si vis pacem, para bellum.

P. A. TVERSKOY.

WHAT WOULDST THOU MORE?

[John Vance in the Midsummer Holiday Century.]

The sun and all the stars shine on thy head,
The grass and blossoms all are at thy feet;
Nature's glad pageantries for thee are spread,
Her winds loosed for thee, seminal and sweet;
For thee young morn binds his bright sandals on;
Pale evening leads thee to the mother-fold;
The patient seasons serve thee; none are gone
Of all the glories thronging from of old.
Hoar silence sings thee her primeval lay;
Apt dream wraps round thee her enchanting light;
August companions walk with thee by day,
They share thy bed in darkness of the night;
The full years pour upon thee of their store,
They gather for thy lap. What wouldst thou more?

HOROSCOPE FOR THIS DAY.

Tuesday, July 23, 1907.

BY COZETTE.

Beware this day of letting quarrels rise. An evil portent reigns then in the skies.

This is the two hundred and fourth day of the year; moon's age, thirteen days. Today the moon is farthest south of the equator.

The planets this day say you must beware of traveling, removing, quarreling and dealing with the opposite sex.

The danger foretold in traveling is only that of discomfort. Forgetfulness will cause you to leave something important behind.

A good day for baking.

Those whose birth date this is are threatened with quarrels, with loss of money and with making changes to their disadvantage. If they avoid quarrel and change, the money loss will be remedied during the year. They should keep themselves quiet.

The child born today will be of an extremely unsettled disposition. He will be a rover. It will be [illegible] very often. If a girl, she will be young.

Was He Ever?

When I see a youth with his hat turned up and his beauty on view,
And over one eye perched a little hat with a ribbon of sky blue,
And the fourteen rings and the pins that he got at his dear old school,
Why, it strikes a chord and I say: "Oh, Lord, was I ever the fool?"

PLAYERS AND PLAYHOUSES.

The news mention in yesterday morning's Times concerning the policy of the new Los Angeles (one-time Hotchkiss) Theater has excited marked comment, for it evidences stronger than any other move of recent months the syndicate's new attitude in respect to the importance of Los Angeles as an amusement center.

The gist of the matter may be stated thus: That as a general rule, the "dollar show" of the syndicate will find its booking at the Los Angeles, while the higher-priced attractions will continue at the Mason Operahouse.

This does not mean that every show at the Mason, slated at $1.50, or more, will be of exactly the stipulated value, but without any doubt we shall continue to receive, from time to time, the traditionally stale and worthless amusement goods which the eastern promoters feel they must work off for from home. The high-priced attraction will not always be high class. The coming of another syndicate house has been made imperative by the lengthening of the "stands." Three or four years ago, three days was considered long enough for a star or a very large company. That limit quickly changed to a week, and has now passed the two weeks, so that the placing of such attractions in one theater is a practical impossibility. Two weeks for a production of the right sort is now a very profitable engagement in this city, no matter what season of the year this piece may be. Maude Adams played here, for her two weeks, to about $30,000. Three weeks in 'Frisco yielded $50,000, so that these two cities alone gave the splendid total of $80,000, to say nothing of profits in many other smaller stands, up and down the coast, a superb testimonial to the value of San Francisco and Los Angeles, theatrically, was telegraphed direct to Messrs. Klaw and Erlanger last Saturday night.

A rumor that Louis James will play at the Los Angeles was denounced as false yesterday, by parties who know, the booking is at the Mason, and his contracts have been signed for that house.

MASON OPERAHOUSE. "Captain Kidd" is a pretty, harmless little comedy whose greatest virtue is its consistent exploitation of delightful Ethel Barrymore.

It is a trifle by Clyde Fitch. It is a little light incident, cievery told and theatrically executed.

"Mme. Trentoni," whose birthplace was Trenton, N. J., and whose name is Aurelia Johnson, lands at the Custom pier in New York after a long absence in musical Europe. She returns to sing at the Academy of Music under Mapleson, and she is met by a number of young gallants, among whom is Robert Carrolton Jinks, playfully referred to by his associates as "Cap. Jinks." There is a wager, and then a falling-in-love, and the usual mixed courses of love: there is a quarrel, a series of interpositions, and finally reconciliation. That is all.

The period is the early '70's, and Mr. Fitch has been exact in his lines and costumes. Here his experienced and polished pen shows wittily: there is much talk of a flying ocean trip in fourteen days, and the "power of the press;" and similar figures of speech of that day, are batted grandiloquently back and forth by the quarrelsome of platitudinous reporters, who have flown to greet the celebrity.

In the second act, Mr. Fitch keenly pokes fun at that old-world absurdity, the antiquated ballet corps. It is bad enough to watch the entrance in street costume, but when the widow, still wearing her cape cap, comes in in fluffy skirts and tights, followed by a vivacious German grandmother, also a ballerina, the "rehearsal" becomes an amusing farce.

The details of costumes, scenery and decorations are pretty correctly observed in the present production. I only note one blur in the rather difficult costume, and that was in the modern policeman's cap of the present-day New York policeman, and the shield-shaped badge.

Los Angeles has never seen Miss Barrymore in such good physical condition. Her face and figure possess a charming and unwonted contour, and there was freshness in her cheeks last night that was undeniably worn before her make-up.

I think the principal factors in her enduring fascination are her insistent girlishness, her subtlety, her intelligence, her finished artistry and her unforcing emotional enthusiasm. With these she raises her small person to heroic size, makes a wee voice rich and large, and maintains herself before us as she is always herself, in whatever guise—as a creature of constantly new interests.

However much or little talent her people might exhibit in any other way, they are well enough in this. Bruce McRae plays Capt. Jinks comfortably and manfully, but no better than a score of actors we know could do it. Eugene Jepson offers us a sort of comic Papa Bellfarti, but a lovable one notwithstanding.

To sum up, the Mason offering is merely a happy edition of Miss Barrymore.

BELASCO. In "Mrs. Dane's Defense" the members of the Belasco company have found a vehicle worthy of their best efforts and, on the whole, the roles have been happily allotted. Although last night's performance was the first of the new bill, it was characterized, for the most part, by finished work.

Robert Bosworth, as Sir Daniel Carey, gave an artistic and forcible portrayal of the role.

Adele Farrington presented the character of Lady Eastney in an original and successful manner.

The one weak spot was the acting of Carey Livingston, as Lionel Carey. Howard Scott as the vicar of Bonningwater, William Yerance as Bloom-Porter, and Eleanor Carey as Mrs. Bulsom-Porter were happily cast. The stage settings are good and the presentation is well worth seeing.

HEIR CALLED EMBEZZLER.

Illinois Supervisor in Jail on Charge of Using Funds of Estate in Which He Shares.

Supervisor Frank K. Whiting of Peoria, Ill., who was arrested Saturday at the instance of persons in Peoria and in Baltimore, is still in the County Jail, awaiting the arrival of an officer from his home city to take him back.

The charge made against Whiting is embezzlement, alleged to have been committed in connection with his administration of an estate of which he was one of the heirs. His own share is said to be much in excess of the amount shortage. A forced accounting, ordered by the Probate Court in Peoria several months in advance of the time said to have precipitated the present situation. Whiting declares that he had court orders for the investments made, and that an incompetent attorney failed to docket them.

Friends of the accused charge that the agency of the Fidelity and Deposit Company of Baltimore, which is on Whiting's bond for $150,000, have permitted the mother of the accused, Mrs. R. H. Whiting, who has been a resident of Los Angeles for some time, to have tried to persuade her to pay

HEIR CALLED EMBEZZLER.

Supervisor in Jail on Charge of Using Funds of Estate in Which He Shares.

Supervisor Frank K. Whiting of Peoria, Ill., who was arrested Saturday at the instance of persons in Chicago and in Baltimore, is still in the County Jail, awaiting the arrival of an officer from his home city to take him back.
The charge made against Whiting is embezzlement, alleged to have been committed in connection with his administration of an estate of which he was one of the heirs. His own share is said to be much in excess of the alleged shortage. A forced accounting, ordered by the Probate Court in which several months in advance of the time set to have precipitated the present situation, Whiting declares that he had court orders for the investments made, and that an incompetent attorney failed to docket them.
Some of the accused charge that officers of the Fidelity and Deposit Company of Baltimore, which is on Whiting's bond for $150,000, have persuaded the mother of the accused,
Mrs. H. Whiting, who has been a resident of Los Angeles for some time, and have tried to persuade her to pay the amount of the alleged embezzlement.
A dispatch to The Times from Springfield, Ill., last night says that Gov.
Deneen yesterday issued a requisition on the Governor of California for the extradition of Whiting, who is wanted on a charge of grand larceny. It is alleged that Whiting was appointed "conservator" for Mrs. Ellen Farnham of Peoria county. The court ordered him to turn over to Joseph W. Maple all the property of Mrs. Farnham, which amounted to $36,591, which he failed to do, and left the State. A warrant was issued last week, charging him with grand larceny, and his arrest in Los Angeles followed.
Deputy Sheriff Andrew Thompson, armed with the requisition papers, is now en route to Los Angeles. Whiting is a prominent real estate and loan man in Peoria. He went to Los Angeles, presumably to get some funds to reimburse the Fidelity Bonding Company of Baltimore, his surety, the agent of which company in Peoria, Lincoln Bowen, made the complaint against him. He claimed to have real estate in Los Angeles. Whiting has been before the public in Peoria in a sensational divorce suit. He sued his wife, and she filed a cross bill. The matter stirred up a scandal, and it was settled out of court, and the wife was allowed to secure separation by agreement.

FIRE NEAR POWER PLANT.

BAKERSFIELD, July 22.—A fire in the timber near Democrat Springs broke out this afternoon and is spreading toward Mill Creek. It is reported tonight from Edison that property at the end of the nine-mile tunnel at Camp Four of the Edison power plant, is threatened. Dell Hill and Benjamin Martin are leading all the men in the vicinity in an attempt to check the fire.

All trains on the Milwaukee, the Northwestern and the Burlington railway systems, between Chicago and St.
Paul, are tied up, the result of a washout following a heavy rainstorm.

The lady from Lordsburg was not heard from yesterday, but a subscription and some coupons sent to headquarters raised her score slightly, if not enough to hold that third peg which she won on Saturday. Edna Wagner, on the contrary, turned in a heavy score and regains her place. She is crowding Stanly Tolley some now.

Muriel Eells is working in Santa Barbara, and sent down a handsome score from the Channel City, which increased her credits by almost 2000 points.

The Los Angeles girl who is going some these days is Mabel Gordon, the Central-avenue clipper. Following up her amazing record of last week, Miss Mabel again scored heavily yesterday, and this morning makes her bow to you from the 17th row—just one below the famous high sixteen. One of her subscriptions was from Lowell, Mass., and another from San Francisco—all the rest being local. Mabel has lots of faith in her home city. She says she can do better right in Los Angeles than at any of the beaches or outside towns. She is right. The best place for Los Angeles contestants to canvass is right in Los Angeles. Mabel's career is attracting much attention and will be watched with interest.

Reta Mitchell is another Los Angeles miss who is getting limbered up in the race. She brought in over 1700 points yesterday, and rises four rows this morning.

SHE WANTS A START.

Geraldine Fuller is anxious to get going as these other girls have. She works hard, but as yet, does not seem to have fairly gotten under way. Geraldine is a native of South Dakota, but has lived in Los Angeles nearly all her life. She is a student at the Polytechnic High School, and has a decided talent for art, which she desires to cultivate. She has a wheel, and will be glad to go anywhere in town where a subscription beckons. Set her going.

MISS YAW'S PROTEGE.

Irene Wadey is now ready to begin her campaign in earnest. For the first three weeks of the contest she was unable to leave home very much on account of illness in the family, and last week she was taken up with her concert singing. Last Thursday evening she appeared at Ellen Beach Yaw's concert at Long Beach before the Chautauqua Assembly in session there. The Long Beach Tribune speaks as follows of Miss Wadey's singing:

"With Miss Yaw on the programme was Miss Wadey, a promising pupil of Mrs. Thorpe, a sister of Miss Yaw. Miss Wadey is a petite blonde of about 16 years, and her progress during the past two years is little short of marvelous. Miss Yaw thinks her voice excellent, and will assist her in every way to study, directing her work abroad when she is prepared to go. Miss Wadey is a native daughter, born and bred in Los Angeles, and is one of the contestants in The Times Scholarship Contest. She has a soprano voice of good volume and large range, and Miss Yaw predicts a brilliant future for her. Her interest in this protegé is great, as she sees her possibilities. Miss Wadey sang 'When the Swallows Homeward Fly,' and her work was so good, and her expression so sweet, that she was forced to respond to an encore, and gave 'When the Birds Go North Again.'"

MABEL GORDON,
Central avenue clipper.

the sweet singer.

Yesterday Irene came to headquarters and left over 1500 points, which raises her score this morning six rows. Here is an opportunity to help a young girl who has real talent, but has not the means to develop it. Irene has no piano on which to practice, in her home, and she would very much like to win that prize down in the window of the Geo. J. Birkel Company.

THE CHINESE MUSICIAN.

Mar Moon Gong, the Chinese young man, who is trying to win a scholarship in some piano school, is a most deserving contestant. Moon's duties keep him so closely employed that it is with difficulty that he can get out to canvass much, and it is rather discouraging. His motives are so high that it seems a pity that he cannot get the opportunity to improve his musical talent. He wants to become proficient in piano playing, so that he can go to Canton and teach his countrymen how to play. A friend of his, who is doing mission work there, writes Moon that there is need of such work. Moon has a fine baritone voice, and sings beautifully. He is so passionately fond of music that he has rented a piano to practice on in his room when he has time to do so. Mrs. Friesner, in whose employ Moon has been for six years or more, has done a great deal to further his campaign. She feels confident that he has real talent along the musical line that ought to be developed.

SHE IS SICK.

Ellen Robinson is sick and unable to be out. She receives the sympathy of all the contestants, and her friends when they learn that the little girl is ill will be sure to redouble their efforts in her behalf. She has been up to Perris to visit some relatives and incidentally to canvass.

A HOME MISSIONARY.

Miss Frieda Riedeman of Prospect Park, the thirteen-year-old daughter of a Methodist minister, sends Margaret Chung 100 coupons, which she has gathered among the neighbors and church members. Miss Frieda writes a friendly little note in which he says: "I am very glad to know that you want to become a missionary, and that is why I would like to make a special friend of you and help you in this contest. I am hustling around on your account to gather coupons, and will try to send 100 of them every week or two. I want you to know that I am trying to help you, and wish to see you get a score large enough so that you can run up the ladder."

If Miss Frieda will supplement the coupons with a few subscriptions, she will still further aid her. If all the neighbors out there who take The Times will pay their subscriptions a few months in advance in Margaret's favor it would build up her score amazingly. And best of all, would be some new subscribers, for those count double the number of points that renewed subscriptions do.

A HARD ROW.

Ralph McNitt is trying hard, with the odds rather against him. He works all day, and has no time to canvass except after office hours. Last night about 7 o'clock he came to headquarters with radiant face, bringing an annual subscription, which raises him three rows in the score this morning. Ralph's sketches and drawings have won praise from expert artists, who say the boy has real talent, and he wants to fit himself for an illustrator. He seeks a scholarship in the College of Fine Arts at Garvanza.

CASH PRIZES.

In accordance with its usual custom during the six previous contests conducted by The Times, special cash prizes will be offered in addition to the scholarship. This year the sum of $1200—$100 more than last year—will be divided among contestants ranking highest. An elegant prize piano will also be offered as a special prize to the contestant scoring highest. The cash prizes are designed to help defray the student's incidental or living expenses while attending school and will be divided according to the following scale:

1	Prize piano.

VICTIMS RECOVERING.

No Serious Results Will Follow Overturning of Carriage by Automobile Near Palms.

Several prominent business men of Los Angeles played the part of the Good Samaritan, Sunday night, when an automobile driven by Mr. Crosby, senior partner of the real estate firm of Crosby & Hopkins, ran down a carriage on the Santa Monica road and the occupants were injured.

C. A. Canfield, the oil magnate, John Llewellyn, of the Llewellyn Iron Works, and others gave up their autos to the wounded and procured physicians and an ambulance. The victims of the accident were reported, yesterday, to be recovering rapidly.

W. H. Entter of No. 553 Gladys avenue, Mrs. Anna Clayton of San Julian street, and Miss Lillie Farrington were among the injured. Accompanied by Mrs. Clayton's two children, the party had been to Venice for the day and were returning to the city.

Near Palms, the carriage was turned toward the side of the road to allow a heavy machine from the city to pass. The lights of this machine shone in the face of Crosby, who was driving his automobile just behind the carriage, and overturned it.

"I reached the scene of the accident, a short time after it occurred," said Mr. Canfield, yesterday. "I looked over the ground. Crosby was doing all he could to help. I saw that he had been going at a slow rate of speed because his machine stopped within a few feet of the spot where the collision occurred.

"I found Mr. Llewellyn there. He went in search of a physician and so did I. I telephoned to Los Angeles for an ambulance and then returned to the scene of the accident. I took one of the women and the two children in my machine and returned to the city. Crosby waited until an ambulance arrived for one of the injured women. He then took Entter in his auto and rushed to the hospital with him."

The Knabe-Angelus

A Knabe Piano in combination with the world famed Angelus Player—the two instruments in one elegant case.

This beautiful combination gives to every individual the means to play or render any composition, with the most distinct, definite, subtle and powerful means of expression devised up to the present hour.

The tone and touch of the piano are not impaired by the installation of the Angelus within its case, so this instrument is perfectly satisfactory to the pianist who plays it by hand as well as to every one who plays it by means of the perforated roll.

You are invited to come in and see the Knabe-Angelus, hear it played, try it yourself.

You can buy it for cash or on our easy payment plan.

The young man was John R. Bundren, and the young woman was Rose McGuire.

Then the parents objected to the match, as parents even now object. Shortly after this love-making had gone on for about five years, the McGuires decided it best to move. So they went to England, which was considered far enough away in those days to cool almost any kind of fervor.

After waiting twenty-two years to hear from the light of his heart, the home-born one, now grown to man's estate, got a hunch that there was a lot of gold in the hills of California, far away. Thinking there might be room for him to get back from the Golden State with a lot of beautifully-engraved mining stocks to his credit before the next sailing vessel got in from England, young Bundren started back.

BACK TO OLD HOME.

Reports have it that he accumulated a fortune, that he finally went back to old Tennessee and bought two homesteads near the place where he was and she used to walk in the gloaming. But still no letter came.

Still faithful, Bundren refrained from chewing tobacco, as the story goes, nor did he smoke or drink, much less look into the eyes of any other woman with those glances that tell the old, old story that still is young. Besides, as he grew older, he took long walks—alone. And thus he kept himself in the pink of condition, so that now, a year past the century mark, his eye is as clear as that of an eagle, and his step is like that of a boy leaping from precipice to precipice in pursuit of the wild goose of Catalina, and his hair and whiskers are as snowy white and very much resemble those worn by the Santa Clauses at department stores about Christmas time.

It seems that it was Blanche Bates in "The Girl of the Golden West" that finally brought these two hearts together once more. Just what part the press agent of Blanche Bates may have had in this affair is not known, but the old man and some of his friends at a reunion on his last birthday, when newspapers of England told of it and who should read that notice but Rose. Why, none other than the pretty little girl of the Tennessee resting place—Rose McGuire—now, indeed, some 99 years old, but still Rose McGuire, for she had remained true to her ideal.

DAWN OF HAPPY DAY.

So she sat down and penned a note to the man who was mentioned as having gone to see Blanche Bates on the one hundredth birthday. And this is what she said, according to the reports that have been sent out:

"Are you the same John R. Bundren that lived in Cane Springs long ago?" Although the writing was quite different from the schoolgirl hand which he had known so well in those days before the vertical system had come into vogue, Bundren's clear eyes, for tobacco and liquor fumes never have been permitted to dim his eyesight, told him that it indeed was that of the girl of yesterday.

He replied at once, with the promise that they be married on her next birthday, the date of, which still was fresh in his memory.

The parents long since gone to their reward, and no one now to say nay, Miss McGuire accepted by return post, and in June, Bundren sailed for England to bring her back with him.

Upon his arrival in England there were house parties and all sorts of entertainments in his honor. In a letter to his grandnephew after the old man had written that he found his "young sweetheart in excellent health and much improved in appearance than he had expected to find her, 'looking to be forty,'" he writes.

Then, after a long paragraph that reads like a passage from a Laura Jean Libbey classic, he winds up by saying he has received greetings from the King of England and other notables, adding a little whisper to the effect that his nephew that is useless to him, as one is a century old before he is ready to marry.

PRESIDENT INVITED.

Before sailing for England to claim his bride, Bundren sent an invitation to President Roosevelt to attend the wedding. The reply, if any was written, has not yet been made public. Owing to the publicity given to the coming event, which is to be turned into a reunion of old "boys and girls," has brought forth many letters, and some poetry, among the latter being three stanzas and a chorus that are to be sung to the tune of "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground."

And what is described as a plethoric package by this happy bridegroom has agreed to pay the expenses of the old "boys and girls" who may attend the wedding and reunion. Several hundred are invited, it is said. Even the attendants for those too old to travel alone are included in the expense account. Mr. Ulrich at Whittier yesterday refused to pay the expenses of Mr. Bundren, the latter laughed the offer to scorn, indicating that, if he attends the reunion, he prefers to pay his own way.

One of the remarkable features of the many notices and photographs received from Bundren, Jr., whose address is No. 3420 Eads avenue, St. Louis, is the youthful appearance of the bride and groom. There also is a great deal about a book that is to be published, containing photographs and histories of those attending.

WONDERFULLY PRESERVED.

A glimpse of the likenesses of this wonderfully-preserved pair is presented herewith, together with the photographs of the good-looking grandson who is to be best man at the wedding. It is plain that, for a woman who is just about to pass the one-hundredth milestone in life's journey, Rose McGuire is exceedingly well preserved, even making allowances for the retouching art of the photographer, for no one will deny that Bundren, Jr., bears a striking resemblance to his handsome relative of 44.

Fascinating the crown of snowy-white hair that clusters in a sort of Rip Van Winkle wig sort of way about the face, and the flowing beard from which, that the young army clerk in St. Louis had made up for the photograph, that would take all the romance out of the story, and no one has been cruel enough to imagine that any such deception has been practised.

Anyway, it is a beautiful story of love grown old that has not grown cold, and the book telling all about it is not be printed until after the wedding ceremony, so no one needs to be surprised unless the ceremony comes off as announced.

Napoleon's Gunnery.

One morning Napoleon perceived just outside his window a hen busily engaged in scratching up the royal flowerbeds, and, calling his valet, demanded a gun so that he might shoot the fowl twelve times he drew on the unfortunate fowl, and only at the thirteenth shot did he lay her low. The valet was sent to fetch the trophy.

"How many shots are there?" said the emperor.

"Sire, sir."

"Impossible! I hit it each time."

"Will your Majesty please look? There is only one mark. The animal must have had an extraordinarily thick skin."—[Bon Vivant.

CLAIMS WALKER AS HUSBAND.

ACTRESS SAYS SHE IS WIFE OF JOHN BRISBANE'S SON.

Announcement of Young Man's Engagement to Niece of E. H. Harriman Causes Footlight Beauty to Tell of Wedding in "Little Church Around Corner."

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHILADELPHIA, July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Having read in the papers that Wilfred Walker, son of John Erisbane Walker, has stated that he is soon to marry a niece of E. H. Harriman, an agonized young woman here has come forward to forbid the bans, declaring that Wilfred Walker is a married man and that she herself is his lawful wedded wife.

This Mrs. Wilfred Walker, now in Philadelphia, will be remembered under the name Miss Beatrice Dilworth, who took the part of the Brunette Beauty in Anna Held's presentation of "Ma'mselle Napoleon." She was also in the sparkling front row in "When Johnny Comes Marching Home."

In her anxiety to save Mr. Harriman's niece from possibly unpleasant consequences, the sorrowing wife has written a tart letter to David Strother Walker, in which she says in most forcible language that she intends to assert her rights. When seen tonight Mrs. Walker unfolded the full details of her story.

"I just knew it was going to be an unhappy marriage when Wilfred Walker took me to the "little church around the corner," July 2, 1904. I thought that I ought to cry out against the very moment that Rev. Dr. Houghton was marrying us, but it seemed as if my tongue was glued to the roof of my mouth.

"I had to leave him in eight days and go home to mamma in Providence. Oh, it was awful during the eight days."

WRECK TO BE INVESTIGATED.

Government Will Inquire Into Cause of Disaster on Pere Marquette Road.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Federal authorities have decided to make an inquiry into the cause of the disaster on the Pere Marquette Railroad at Salem, Mich., on Saturday, in which thirty-two persons were killed.

It was also learned today that the government has found that the manufacturers of brakes, block signals and other safety devices for railways make it a business to buy up and suppress patents on new and improved appliances for guarding against railway accidents. This matter also is to be investigated.

Last week the Interstate Commerce Commission appointed a board of engineering experts to make a study of the various block signal systems used by the railroads. This work was ordered by Congress at the last session, after the Terra Cotta wreck near this city, and $50,000 was provided for the purpose. W. P. Boreland is the secretary of the board.

Mr. Boreland today declared that the Pere Marquette road has practically no block signal equipment whatever, and that if the road had been properly safeguarded by the adoption of the usual precautions, the wreck would not have occurred.

YACHT "SAY WHEN" WRECKED

American Boat Strikes Shoal at Speed of 27 Miles an Hour and Bounds 20 Feet Into Air.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

OTTAWA (Ont.) July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The yacht, Say When, believed to be owned by Cleveland parties, has been wrecked near Cornwell on her way from New York to Thousand Isles resorts. She struck on the Sturgeon Shoal when running twenty-seven miles an hour and bounded twenty feet into the air, throwing the twenty-one passengers and crew in all directions. She settled in five feet of water, but all managed to get ashore, some 200 yards distance, in small boats safely.

The Say When said to be worth $125,000 and insured for $25,000, was built by the Herchels and was very fast. Several women and children, John Jacobs, D. S. Frieman and wife and others were on board and all escaped injury. At the time of the shock the boat almost turned turtle and there was considerable excitement.

The Donnelly Wreckage Company of Kingston, Ont., will try to release the craft. The crew are now at Aultsville near Cornwall.

AUTO TURTLES; TWO DIE.,

Five New Yorkers Thrown to Ground Under Machine Which Overturned in Trying to Avoid Collision.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BINGHAM (Mass.) July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] By an automobile "turning turtle" Frank D. Harmon, a lawyer of New York and Edward B. Ditmars of New York, received injuries from which they died here this afternoon. Others who were with them were badly injured.

The automobile was overturned by the chaffeur's attempt to keep from striking a team, which suddenly appeared in the road. Five occupants of the automobile were thrown to the ground. T. B. Luce, a New York lawyer, was the only member of the party who was uninjured.

POLITICAL.

SEES DANGER IN NAMING JUDGES.

RETIRED JURIST DENOUNCES PRESENT SYSTEM.

Declares That Any Chief Executive May, by Appointing to Federal Bench Men Ready Made, Influence Future Decisions of High Courts.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Gen. Roger A. Pryor, retired from the Supreme Court bench of this district, highly respected by all persons and full of years and experience, views with disapproval the system of appointment to the Federal bench, making it possible for the Executive to select the judges as to cause the courts to reflect his individual opinions in their decisions.

"I have the highest respect and admiration for Mr. Roosevelt as a man," said Gen. Pryor. "I have known him for many years, my acquaintance dating from long before he held public office. I admire his honesty, his ability and his personality, but I cannot help feeling that there is a public menace in the system which permits a President to select men for the various Federal courts who reflect his opinions.

"There may come a day when a President is not honest and conscientious, but is selfish and ambitious. It is easy to see the danger to the Constitution what such a man may bring about.

"All that an Executive has to do, if he wants to influence future decisions of the high courts, is to appoint to the bench men ready made, who hold to his creed and belief. It is within the power of the Federal judiciary to twist and upset every provision of the Constitution.

"I believe the ideal system is that now in force in the State of New York, where the judiciary is elected and the judges come up for election from time to time."

DEMOCRATS AID POPULIST.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LINCOLN (Neb.) July 22.—Upon the refusal today of the Secretary of State to permit the name of John L. Sundean, a Populist, to be placed upon the Democratic ticket in the direct-primary ballot, State Chairman T. S. Allen of the Democratic State Central Committee filed application for a writ of mandamus with the Supreme Court. A special meeting of the court will take place tomorrow to make pleading.

DEFENDS FATHER WITH TOY CANNON.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

THOUSAND ISLE PARK (N. Y.) July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Totally blind and with his fourteen-year-old son, Walter Armed, with a tiny yacht cannon as his only aid, Robert M. Jones, of New York, a summer resident at Jolly Oaks, a resort a mile below here, successfully defended himself against the attacks of a band of burglars. Blank shells were first used, but, as their attitude became more threatening, a shotted shell was substituted and it was only the clumsiness of the unique household weapon and the boy's poor aim that resulted in the invaders escaping uninjured.

PRECIPITATED INTO WATER.

Several Men Drowned When Bridge at Lorain, Ohio, Goes Down Into River.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LORAIN (Ohio.) July 22.—A crew of men were precipitated into the river here today and several were drowned, a bridge crashing beneath them. Two bodies have been taken from the water. Several more are missing.

The men were leaning against a railing waiting for the bridge to be closed when the railing broke and about twenty men were precipitated into the river.

PRESIDENT'S SON WILL MARCH FAR.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LEAVENWORTH (Kas.) July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] When Kermit Roosevelt, son of the President, finishes the overland march he has elected to take with the first squadron of the Thirteenth cavalry, from Fort Leavenworth to Fort Sheridan, a distance of nearly 500 miles, he will be qualified to sit in and swap saddle stories with his distinguished father.

The march is one of the longest ever undertaken in hot weather and young Roosevelt will be in the saddle about five weeks, it being planned to cover at least fifteen miles a day.

The announcement that he was to make the trip caused a stir in military circles and wires are being quietly pulled by officers to get the young man for a guest.

FOLK ANSWERS BREWER.

Missouri Governor Resents Criticism of Jurist Regarding Missouri Rate Legislation.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

JEFFERSON CITY, (Mo.) July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Gov. Folk gave out a statement tonight, based upon the criticism of Missouri laws regulating railroad rates passed by Justice Brewer of the United States Court, in a recent address in Milwaukee. The Governor says:

"The distinguished justice, Judge Brewer, of the United States Court, whom I esteem very highly, in an address in Milwaukee recently, takes me to task for objecting to the action of Federal Courts in arbitrarily suspending State statutes until their validity can be passed upon. He says: 'But suppose, through such railroad laws as Missouri passed, the railroads actually lose money in carrying passengers and freight, will the State make the loss good to them?'

"I answer: 'Suppose the Federal court, after many years of litigation, finds the rates bad, and the laws valid, will the railroads make the loss good to the people of Missouri?'

"To say that each would have a right to bring suit against the other is virtually no remedy at all owing to the fact that in the majority of instances, the litigation would be greater expense than the amount involved. While it is conceded that railroad rated must afford the roads a return on the value of property, the question involved in this discussion is far greater than whether rates fixed by these Missouri laws are rational. It concerns the right of people of a State to self-government. The people of Missouri are not prejudiced against railroads, and if the rates fixed in these statutes are found to be unreasonable, the same sentiment of justice that caused their enactment will acquiesce in the nullification."

NEW YORK CITY'S DEBT.

Larger Than Any Other City in the World—Half as Large as National Debt.

The total bonded debt of the United States is only $925,000,000, and that of New York City is already more than half that of the national government. At the present rate of increase the metropolis will have the largest indebtedness in five years, says the New Broadway Magazine.

The total debts of all the States in the Union amount only to $234,314,190 less than half that of the single city of New York. The total State, county and city indebtedness of the entire United States is less than three times that of the city of millionaires.

The great military powers of the world are much concerned over China and her debt, and yet China has borrowed only $413,000,000 against $500,000,000 for New York. The entire Dominion of Canada owes only $271,000,000, about equal to New York's increase in four years. Yet with all this stupendous debt, the average citizen of Manhattan never gave the matter a second thought when he saw the official figures.

Next to New York the twenty-five larger cities of the United States, in the order of their population, are as follows: Chicago, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Boston, Baltimore, Cleveland, Buffalo, San Francisco, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, New Orleans, Detroit, Milwaukee, Washington, Newark, Jersey City, Louisville, Minneapolis, Providence, Indianapolis, Kansas City, St. Paul, Rochester, Denver and Toledo. Their population, according to the census of 1900, was about 9,600,000, against 3,437,000 for Greater New York. It is not likely that this proportion has changed much. Now, the total bonded indebtedness of these twenty-five cities is about $417,000,000, almost one hundred million less than that of the metropolis.

This means that the per capita debt of the citizen of New York is $145.25, against $43.45 for those of the other large cities. Boston with $116 and Cincinnati with $114 come the nearer to approaching New York's record.

SHADE DISAPPEARS.

There was a heated interview in which several of the Gorwit family played an important part. She was offered a silk umbrella if she would pay the difference, but Miss Kingery said she wanted her own old parasol. They offered her a selection of linen umbrellas, which they explained were even better than her own. But this persistent young lady vowed she would either get her own parasol, or else its money equivalent. Hence the suit for $8.

Several of the friends and relatives of the plaintiff offered their testimony, which was unshaken by a severe cross-examination. When the defendant and his allies took the stand, each in turn told a harrowing tale of abuse and insult at the hands of friends of the plaintiff.

"The worry and mental strain did not pay me," said the defendant, mournfully. "I offered to give the lady any linen parasol in the shop but I would not give a silk umbrella for her mislaid parasol. I am sorry, but what would you have?"

"She did not act like a lady," complained Mrs. Gorwit. "She said we were French highway robbers. We answered not, but offered her anything in stock of equal value."

On the table where the attorneys sat were a number of parasols, some in brown and others in white. The attorneys handled them gingerly and discussed the merits of ruffles and lace, tucks, frills and gew-gaws. The court examined the dainty little feminine gear, and marked them all as exhibits in a business-like way, and looked appealingly at the attorneys as some of the witnesses for the defense endeavored to tell the stories of their lives and forgot the momentous case at bar.

In the rear of the room a number of the friends of Miss Kingery sat or wandered about, exchanging the polite nothings of society. The court clerk whispered in a stage aside that a pink tea was in order, but he was frowned upon by His Honor.

After the case had dragged along for five or six hours, one of the attorneys was unfortunate enough to offer an objection to a portion of the testimony on the ground that it was redundant. The court saw an opening and said solemnly: "Gentlemen, if all the redundant testimony had been stricken from this trial, we should have concluded long ago."

Finally, after rebuttal evidence and eloquent arguments by the opposing counsel on the sins of omission and commission, with especial reference to a white parasol, the court said he could not decide such a case off-hand. He would take it under advisement, and render a decision later.

When Sanitary Inspectors Failed.

Both the medical officer and the surveyor of the Tarvin (Chester) rural district council have condemned a cottage at Caldecott Green, near Farndon, for demolition as unsanitary. But the tenant, an old man, appeared before the council and told a remarkable story "in stay of execution." He stated that he was 73 years old, and lived in the cottage with his wife and three children. For sixty years there had not been a case of illness in his family. His father and mother lived in the cottage before him; his father died at the age of 96 and the mother at 89. He did not think that there could be much wrong with the cottage in face of these facts. In reply to the clerk the old fellow said that personally he had never had a doctor, as the only time a medical man had ever been in his cottage was when his little son had scalded his leg. Under the exceptional circumstances the council decided to adjourn the matter for further inquiries to be made.

EVENTS IN LOCAL SOCIETY.

SOCIETY friends here and in Monrovia are thrilled by the secret marriage of Miss Beulah Allison, a pretty girl of the latter place, and Donnie P. Longsdon, nephew of Mrs. J. B. Brown of this city.

Just two months ago the wedding was solemnized, the young people having eloped to Santa Barbara. There Justice Wheaton performed the necessary rite.

Yesterday the young couple, who have been demurely keeping the great secret, decided that they desired to go to housekeeping. Then the news leaked out. Congratulations followed, of course.

The story of this rather romantic marriage began some months ago, when Longsdon, after having won the girl's heart, proposed to her parents that they should be married. While they in no way objected to the young man, they demurred owing to the youth of their daughter, "She must finish her education now, and we deem her too young," said they. After that all went as usual—to all outward appearances.

The young lovers were busily scheming. They concluded they just could not wait a year, so in secret they devised a plan so innocent and beautiful that it aroused no suspicion.

It was about Fiesta time that their plan was carried out. Longsdon invited his sweetheart, with some other friends and a delightful chaperone, to spend a week at Catalina Island. Longsdon with his fiance were to meet them on the way over. Instead, they went straight to Santa Barbara, where they procured a license and were married. Then back they went to join their friends, who knew not a word of the romance under their very eyes. All this time the marriage has been kept secret.

The bride is one of Monrovia's winsome and pretty daughters, and has many friends here. Her parents are Dr. and Mrs. J. S. Allison. Mr. Longsdon is descended from the fine old English family of Longsdon.

Miss Knox Honored.

In honor of his charming young niece, Miss Marguerite Hurr, who graduated from the local High School, A. G. Langenberger threw open his beautiful country home, Villa Mon Plaisir, at Anaheim on Sunday, entertaining about forty members of the family with a garden party.

The guests arrived in the morning at the station and were conveyed to the home by a drag with four prancing steeds. The home is a pretty spot, set among a grove of trees. At 10 o'clock refreshments were served in the fernery. At noon all the guests appeared, garbed in unique and beautiful medieval costumes, prepared to take part in a comedy luncheon entitled "Mother Goose." The luncheon was served in a secluded part of the grounds beneath a spreading tree. The table had been built around the tree especially, and all the decorations were carried out in cream and gold, the colors of this summer's graduating class of the Los Angeles High School. A charming decorative feature was silver wire, which had been spun in a delicate web above the heads of the guests and over the tree. From this dainty net, huge spiders swung, lazily eyeing the festivities.

All day delightful music was furnished by a string orchestra. As darkness came on hundreds of fairy lights, concealed by Japanese lanters, suddenly shone out, shedding a soft light over all.

Those who enjoyed the day were Mmes. R. Knox, A. M. Jones, C. Halberstadt, A. Schubert, F. Wilson, F. C. Hartman, H. Dickel, E. Lurck, C. Langenberger and Misses Marguerite Knox, Halberstadt, Mahlstead, Schubert, Mabel Jones and Messrs. F. C. Hartman, H. A. Dickel, George C. Knox, E. R. Lurck, Charles Knox, Reginald Knox, Fred Knox, Grover Norris, Arnold Dickel, Frank Jennings, Percy Dickel, Arthur Lurck and A. G. Langenberger.

For College Friends.

At the home of her aunt, Mrs. E. H. Barmore of No. 621 South Grand avenue, Miss Evelyn McCauley entertained yesterday afternoon with a charmingly-appointed luncheon for her college friends, who are spending the vacation here.

The table was artistically decorated with sweet peas and ferns, the flowers in a delicate pink, and places were marked with cards adorned with sketches of pink blossoms.

Those for whom covers were laid included: Misses Gertrude Workman, Andrietta Glassell, Aileen Staub, Constance Britt, Adele Huntsberger, Gladys Rowley, Helen Macleish, Ethel Davenport, Cecilia Lower of Kansas City, Doris Davidson, Florence Clark, Gladys Ackerman, Mary Lindley and Muriel Stewart.

Mrs. Sprague's Tea.

Mrs. J. Wesley Sprague of No. 1740 Harvard boulevard will entertain this afternoon with an informal garden tea for a few of her friends.

At Sierra Madre.

The Misses Hasel and Edith Hearne entertained with a house party at their home on Auburn avenue, Sierra Madre, during the past wek. Those who enjoyed the outing were Misses Josephine and Laura Browne, Edna Porterfield, Charlotte Kingore and Mrs. Jotham Bixby of Long Beach, Louise White, Mauneena McMillan and Minie Girges of Los Angeles, Lulu Reeves of Santa Monica, and Ethel Harris and Ethel Williams of Compton.

Philatheas Entertained.

The Philathea girls of the First Methodist Episcopal Sunday-school, with their young men friends, met at the home of their teacher, Mrs. F. E. Hanna of No. 2020 West Twelfth street, for the semi-annual installation of the class officers. The programme consisted of piano solo, Fannie Lange; song by quartette; recitation by Ada Richardson; vocal solo, Miss Garriott; piano duet, Leona Steelman and Olive Roshong; speech, Mrs. Brodbeck on the "Model Young Woman;" vocal solo, Olive Roshong; recitation, Jennie Troxel. After this the following officers were installed by the superintendent of the school, Dr. H. W. Brodbeck: President, Fannie Lange; vice-president, Ada Richardson; secretary, Gussie Basch; corresponding secretary, Pearl Simmons; assistant secretary, Lida Biddle; treasurer, Catherine Wagner; historian, Ida Lawrence; pianist, Olive Roshong; reporter, Lillian Bradford.

Novel Progressive Feast.

One of the novel and enjoyable functions given by Boyle Heights folk was the progressive dinner which a number of them enjoyed on Monday evening.

Four Boyle Heights women were charming hostesses that evening, and proved themselves incomparable. In response to an invitation from Mrs. Frank Sherman of No. 2525 East Second street more than a score of men and women gathered at the pretty home, which had been handsomely decorated, the tables being decked with dainty pink and white carnations. The place cards held a tiny flag in one corner and fire-cracker under the name. After the second course patriotic quotations were fired, the last save one being given by the host, and was "Be sure you are right, then go ahead." Then E. G. Sherman rose and gave "Though the way through danger be, follow your leader." Then to the surprise of all he arose and asked them to follow him. He then lead them to his own cosy home on Gleason street. Here the home was a bower of beauty, green, pink and white being utilized in the color scheme. Here they found their places by means of dainty cards adorned with hand-painted sketches of flowers, the work of the hostess. After finishing that course they were lead to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chester M. Buck on Pennsylvania avenue, after a short musical programme in the parlors, the line of march was resumed to the dining-room, where from glowing tables they were served, and here cards bore hand-painted figures suggestive of the name of the guest. As they lingered over their coffee here, Mr. Buck arose and requested that they move on, and they did—to the home of Dr. and Mrs. Ernest Allin. That home was aglow with pink and white blossoms. After the ices, cakes and coffees, E. G. Sherman acted as toastmaster, all responding happily. Then they adjourned to the drawing-room, where an hour was given to music, and after an invocation by Rev. Alfred Inwood, the company adjourned to their homes.

Those who enjoyed the unique entertainment were: Rev. and Mrs. Alfred Inwood, Dr. and Mrs. George W. Campbell, Dr. and Mrs. Ernest Allin, Mr. and Mrs. Chester M. Buck, Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Cleveland, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sherman, Mr. and Mrs. Eddy G. Sherman, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Pilkington, Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Glazier, Mr. and Mrs. David Carroll, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Vesper, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Carpenter, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Johnson, Mrs. Hattie Williams of San Francisco, a class mate in college in Toronto, Canada of Mrs. Allin's, whose house guest she has been for a month, Miss Gladys Sherman and Miss Lena Allin.

To Give "Alabama."

A number of young people who have banded themselves into a dramatic club will present a little play, "Alabama," on Thursday evening at the Gamut Club Auditorium. It is a charming play of the old South, and Miss Bernice Marcher, as the interesting heroine, is a clever young amateur. Others who will take part are: Misses Dehmlow, McDonald, Hazel Tobias and Messrs. Jacobs, Ludwig, Thompson, Robinson, Brockseiper, Cox, Buttolph and Phipps.

Gayety at the Angelo.

The guests at the Angelo have enjoyed a series of pleasant entertainments during the past few days. Mrs. Fred Krause and Dr. Helen Hannah gave a novel afternoon that might have been entitled a waffle bake to a number of their friends.

The next day Mrs. Crandall and daughter were at home to a number of Los Angeles and Northern California friends. Among them were Mrs. G. B. Corwin, Dr. Helen Hannah, Mrs. Sam McCurdy and Mrs. W. D. Purviance of Los Angeles, Mrs. Middlehoff of Berkeley, Mrs. Stone and Miss Stone of Oakland, Miss McIntyre of Elsinore, and Miss Pedlar and Miss Claire Pedlar, and Miss Marrin of San Francisco. Miss Claire Pedlar read effectively Bassanio's choice from "The Merchant of Venice."

That evening Mrs. S. A. Brooks gave a charming dinner. Covers were laid for Mrs. J. C. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Corwin, Mrs. Filbert and her daughter, Miss Maude and Dr. and Mrs. Tizzart.

Mrs. Sam McCurdy was hostess at a whist party, at which pink carnations and ferns graced the room.

Mrs. C. W. Cummings entertained the guests of the house and some of their friends with a reading of Frances Hodgson Burnett's "The Dawn of Tomorrow."

Mr. Aylsworth to Leave.

George W. Aylsworth expects to sail August 1 on the White Star liner Cretic for Italy, to be gone a year. He will be accompanied by his daughter Frances, and her friend, Miss Helen Hart. After visiting the principal places of interest, they will go to Milan, where Miss Aylsworth will continue her study of the violin.

"El Contento Club."

Mrs. William Maher of No. 927 East Forty-ninth street, was hostess at a progressive whist party, complimentary to El Contento Club of which she is a member. A lively interest in the game was displayed, and four prizes were awarded. The first one was a beautiful jewel case, second a photo frame of burnt wood, third a dainty piece of neckwear, and last a beautiful table cover, for a "booby" prize. Those present were Mmes. Avery, Austin, Butter, Davison, Decker, Ferris, Forsyth, Gardner, Jones, Lowell, Montgomery, Nelson, Powers, Wideman and Vaughn.

Spend Honeymoon Here.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dilley of Cleveland have been spending their honeymoon here as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Leuschner, No. 1012 East Adams street. They have visited all points of interest here, and departed yesterday for home. Miss Maude Stucker, a High School teacher of Fruitvale, is also their guest for a few weeks. This week she will go to Redlands for a few days to inspect a laboratory. Miss Stucker formerly made her home here and is a graduate of Los Angeles High School and the University of California.

Mrs. Hudson Entertains.

Mrs. E. R. Hudson of No. 130 South Eastlake avenue entertained about twenty young people on Saturday afternoon in honor of the birthday of her daughter, Miss Hazel Hudson. The dining-room was effectively decorated in red and later a musical programme was given by Mrs. William Port, Jr., and by Miss Hudson.

News Paper People's Romance.

Mrs. Oliver D. Hoag and W. E. Rothery were married in Seattle, July 15. Behind this simple announcement is a romance which dates back to 1891, when Rothery, now northwestern manager of a newspaper syndicate, and Miss Olive Draper, afterward a newspaper writer, were lovers in Philadelphia. Shortly after their betrothal Rothery was appointed by President Cleveland to go to Liberia on a secret mission for the government. He and Miss Draper were to be married upon his return. Soon after reaching the African coast he was seized by fever, which continued several months, and, in the absence of news of his condition, a report gained credence that he had died. The following year Miss Draper married M. Hoag, one of Rothery's closest friends.

On his return to Philadelphia, two years later, Rothery learned of his sweetheart's wedding, and five years afterward he also married. He returned to his business in Philadelphia, where he represented Liberia as Consul, serving also as Liberian commissioner to the Columbian Exposition in Chicago. Seven years afterward he went to the Pacific Northwest, engaging in newspaper work, first in Los Angeles and then at Everett, Wash. He and Mrs. Hoag had lost all trace of each other until they met in Spokane, a short time ago, when they learned they were both widowed and the wedding, which was prevented by a chain of circumstances fifteen years before, followed.

Arroyo Tennis Club Entertained.

Aubrey St. Clair of East Avenue 41 entertained the members of the Arroyo Tennis Club with a delightful garden party on Saturday evening. The tennis court and great sycamore trees were strung with Japanese lanterns and electric lights and later delicious refreshments were served. Music and tennis by electric light proved impromptu enjoyment to the young people.

Guests were: Turbese Lummis, Natalie Cole, Larvoka Connell, Delcie Connell, Edwin Gettins, Chris Gettins, Ray McDonald, Marie McDonald and Leona McKay.

TO SETTLE DISPUTE.

While he was here, it was authoritatively announced that the Vice-Governor was going to Nacozari to settle the dispute that has arisen between the contending railroads over the right of way into Nacozari. That his visit was regarded as of the utmost importance was evident from the attention shown him by the rival factions.

During the past four months a great construction outfit has been working from the Southern Pacific five or six miles south of Nacozari, in the cañon, right of way, long since secured by the railroad, traversed the cañon to within a few miles, and then led into the town of Nacozari. Until the last few days the work had not been towards the town. Recently the Southern Pacific crews started the work towards Nacozari, and wherever anything was in the right of way, they started condemnation proceedings.

Scores of shacks were torn down. The Southern Pacific first proceeded in a regular manner, offering to pay Mexican owners. Large, level lots, 50x150 feet. Rich Soil, Pure Water, Fine Climate. All lots, including corners, one price—$90 per lot—no more, no less. You know what you have to pay—$90 per lot—no higher. At Redondo over $2,000,000 has already been expended in grand and substantial improvements. The beautiful "Redondo Villa Tract B" is on the Camino Real (King's Highway) boulevard connecting Redondo with Los Angeles. We have just bought this beautiful tract for $151,000, and believing in the principle that it pays to let our customers make a profit, hence we have decided on this grand profit-sharing plan. We will make a profit and all our purchasers are guaranteed a profit of 25 per cent. within one year, as per our written agreement.

MR. H. E. HUNTINGTON IS EXPENDING OVER A MILLION DOLLARS A ROUND REDONDO IN SUBSTANTIAL IMPROVEMENTS.

Go down to Redondo and see for yourself. At Jefferson street and Grand avenue see the immense stacks of heavy steel rails for the double-tracking of the present two electric lines of the Los Angeles and Redondo Railway Company. The rails are arriving daily. Dirt is now flying. Better buy now. Then there's the Los Angeles-Pacific Railway Co.'s electric line to Redondo, the broad-gauging of which will soon occur. And in addition to the above three electric lines now running to Redondo is the great Santa Fe steam railroad. With four lines of transportation it would seem as if same would be sufficient, but surveyors are in the field laying out the shortest line of all to connect Los Angeles with its choicest seashore suburb—Redondo. Mr. Huntington is now building at Redondo the largest electric power house on the Pacific Coast, to cost $1,250,000, as fast as men and money can do it. Go down and look at the mammoth cement smokestack.

It was here, it was authoritatively announced that the Vice-Governor is going to Nacozari to settle matters that has arisen between the rival railroads over the right into Nacozari. That his visit is regarded as of the utmost importance is evident from the attention given him by the rival factions.

When the offer ...refused, the company would ...the houses and then give it back ...owners. Whenever any one re-...to sell, the company arbitrarily, it is stated, enforced its claim to possession by tearing down the property. In a number of instances, it is alleged, the shacks were pulled down over the heads of their owners.

OPEN WAR.

It is declared that some of the owners, who were unwilling to sell, took their grievances to J. S. Douglas, general manager of the Moctezuma Copper Company, and that they were advised to stand firm.

The climax of the strife between the Phelps-Dodge and Southern Pacific people came when employés of the copper company were dispatched to a certain place to get some lumber. The lumber chanced to be on the Southern Pacific's right of way and when the copper company's employés reached the place, they found a large force of Southern Pacific men seated on the lumber.

The right of way of the Southern Pacific cuts a wide swath through the city. Not only are small shacks included but some pretentious buildings, among them the $50,000 clubhouse just opened for employés of the copper company. Marks have actually been picked on this building by the Southern Pacific engineers, though, orders have been given, it is declared, for the removal from one right of way of a two-story adobe building used as a rooming-house, in conjunction with the Nacozari Hotel.

HISTORY OF MATTER.

About eight months ago it was given out that the Southern Pacific had been granted an entrance to Nacozari, which formerly belonged to the Phelps-Dodge interests, but had been allowed to lapse. The Southern Pacific lost little time. Numerous surveying parties were put in the field and lines were traced all over Sonora. Then several hundred grading outfits were sent from the Salton Sea to the cañon south of Nacozari and there the work was started.

Ever since Nacozari became a big producing camp, it has been dominated solely by the Phelps-Dodge people. Figuratively, it has been a walled city and no one could do business in the town without the consent of the owners. Moreover, such privileges could be revoked upon twenty-four hours' notice. The coming of the Southern Pacific into the town means that the camp will be thrown open.

Interest here in the situation is acute as Douglas has long wanted a competing railroad. The present strife at Nacozari also removes the fear generally felt here that the Phelps-Dodge and Southern Pacific interests would arrive at a traffic arrangement whereby the Southern Pacific would enter Douglas over the Phelps-Dodge Nacozari road.

TERRITORY FLOURISHING.

Railroads, Banks and Even Jails of Arizona Have More Business Than They Can Attend to.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

BISBEE, July 21.—Though equipped with apparently an ample number of the finest locomotives and with hundreds of cars of the largest capacity, the El Paso and Southwestern system seems unable to handle the traffic offered it at the present time. In the single month of June, the cash receipts for freight at the local railroad office amounted to $525,000, an increase of $125,000 over the receipts of the previous month. The Southern Pacific has issued a circular to agents instructing that no perishable freight be received for transfer to either division of the Southwestern. It is reported that there is an almost complete blockade of freight in the Southwestern transfer yards at Benson and that the sidings at El Paso are hardly adequate. The Southern Pacific line into Globe is in bad shape, also, more mining freight being delivered at Bowie than can be handled with the motive power available.

BANKS PROSPERING.

According to the Territorial Bank Examiner's last statement, the Miners' and Merchants' Bank of Bisbee has the highest rating of any territorial banking institution, its liabilities and resources balancing at $1,482,531. The Bank of Bisbee is third, with $1,292,425; the Bank of Arizona at Prescott second, with $1,607,233; the Gila Vellay Bank at Solomonville fourth, with $1,009,422, and the Valley Bank of Phoenix fifth, with $991,837. Altogether in the Territory, excluding national banks, there are twenty-eight banking institutions, with resources of $11,417,911 and deposits of $9,546,181.

Collector M. H. McCord of the Nogales Custom House reports that the revenues of the port for the past fiscal year aggregated $102,000, an increase of $37,000 over the amount received the previous year.

REVALUING PROPERTY.

It has been found that insurance upon the property lately destroyed by the great fire in Bisbee aggregated less than $30,000. Most of the buildings were small and were occupied by the poorer class of residents. The County Assessor is making a revaluation of the property affected, for the purpose of giving credit on the tax rolls for all property lost.

At the late Territorial Grand Council of Red Men, held in Bisbee, Felix Levy of Tucson was elected great sachem and N. E. Hawke of Tucson, great chief of records. Wiley E. Jones of Safford was chosen representative to the Great Council of the United States. The next Territorial council will be held in Tucson next May.

The County Jail at Tombstone is so crowded that Bisbee officers have been notified that no short-term prisoners must be sent there. Unfortunately the local lock-up is hardly equal in capacity to the demands made upon it.

GOSSIP OF THE FOREIGN STAGE.

[STAFF CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

LONDON, July 9.—If betting on theatrical results were a common pastime, a good many wagers probably would be made here as to the chances of Cyril Maude's being able to "save" the American play in which he is now appearing, as he contrived to save another in which he appeared a little time ago. In other words, Londoners are waiting with much curiosity to see if the story of "Toddles" will be duplicated in the case of "The Earl of Pawtucket."

The first-named piece was, of course, an adaptation by Clyde Fitch of Tristan Bernard's "Tripplepatte." Maude produced it at the Duke of York's while he still was under Charles Frohman's management, and everybody who either was present at the first night or read the "notices" next morning prophesied dire failure. But the piece succeeded, all the same, and though it is rather a tendency here to give an English actor all the credit when he succeeds in an American piece, I think it unquestioned that in the case of "Toddles" the ultimate victory really belonged to Cyril Maude. For though business at the Duke of York's was wretched during the first fortnight, by the end of that time Maude had made his impersonation of Toddles the funniest thing in town, and the public was crowding to see it. Everybody declared that the play was "rotten," but enjoined his friends to visit it all the same, and so "Toddles" ran for nearly four hundred nights at the Frohman house, and for something like fifty more at Maude's new theater, "The Playhouse," which was opened with the Fitch adaptation about a month and a half ago.

And now the popular actor has another American show to "save" if he can. For the critics and playgoers generally do not like "The Earl of Pawtucket" any more than they liked "Toddles" at first, and perhaps not as much. The former describe it as poor stuff and are inclined to attribute its big success at home to the fact—as they allege—that it depicts the English nobleman as imagined by the American comic papers. They say that this type is extinct as the dodo, if, indeed, it ever existed. Perhaps they are right, perhaps wrong; without an extended acquaintance among the nobility it is difficult to offer an expert opinion. It is impossible, too, to compare the two productions without having seen Lawrence d'Orsay, but Augustus Thomas told me during the rehearsals at the Playhouse that Maude's performance delighted him.

The fact remains that the fate of "The Earl of Pawtucket" is trembling in the balance here, and that it is up to the star to save the situation. In view of his experience with "Toddles," however, it is likely that Maude is not borrowing trouble, but cudgeling his brains for laughter-making "business," and Americans in London all wish him luck. If he doesn't succeed in making "The Earl" a go he will try a new piece by H. V. Esmond, author of "When We Were Twenty-one," who has not been heard from for some time. Maude's new theater, by the way, is about the last word in the matter of "appointments." There are facilities for letter-writing between the acts, and many similar innovations. One of these takes the form of free cigarettes for the masculine occupants of the "stall" and "dress circle." For his production of "The Earl of Pawtucket" Maude has an almost completely American company—so there's another reason for wishing more power to his elbow.

Up to now, American plays do not bulk very largely in the plans for London's next theatrical season. Only two English managements, in fact, announce them definitely—these being Lewis Waller, who will try "The Squaw Man" at the Lyric, and Lena Ashwell, who means to resume management again at the Great Queen Street Theater and to produce "Clothes" and "The Undercurrent"—that is, if Grace George decides that she does not want "Clothes" for her next visit to London, in the spring. "The Squaw Man," by the bye, will be renamed "The English Cowboy" when produced in London, and Waller is hoping steadfastly that it may prove such another success as his last American play. That was "Monsieur Beaucaire," which ran for goodness knows how many nights at the Comedy, and which Waller revives with success whenever a trump card is needed—which is pretty often. His productions, in fact, have been anything but successful of late, and his latest one, a revival of "Chancarty," has just been withdrawn and replaced by the perennial "Beaucaire."

Waller, however, has another play in his safe which may prove to be one of the most interesting of the coming season. It is called "The Explorer" and is by W. Somerset Maughan, whose first play, "A Man of Honor," made something like a sensation when done at the Avenue two years ago. Maughan's novels, "Mrs. Craddock," "Liza of Lambeth" and "The Hero," must have made him known already in the United States, and his new play, on which he has been working for some time, should be well worth seeing. I believe its explorer hero has a lot of trouble with a girl with whom he falls in love after having sent her brother to death to save him from disgrace. It sounds a promising theme.

New plays are coming, too, from Pinero, whose health has been wretched of late. Alfred Sutro and Stephen Phillips, but regarding none of these pieces has anything been disclosed, save that the first is for John Hare, the second for Marie Tempest and the third for Martin Harvey. Meanwhile, among the other next-season plays that are being awaited with interest is "The Mollusc," the new comedy by Hubert Henry Davies, which Charles Wyndham acquired some time ago and intended to present immediately. His revival of "The Liars," however, packed the Criterion from the start and will run right up to August, and so not until in October shall we see the new piece by the author of "Cousin Kate."

Some of the songs of a new American composer, Mrs. Caroline Curtis Brown, were heard for the first time at Steinway Hall this week, at a concert given by Atherton Smith. One of these songs, sung by Harry Hughes of New York, was a setting of verses by Betty Sage, entitled "When Daddy Was a Little Boy." Another was "In the Garden of the Rose," words by Mrs. Edith Eaton Cutter of Buffalo. The songs were well received.

POLICE GIVES ADVICE.

Householders Intending to Visit Beach Should Put Valuables in Safe Deposit Vaults.

Because of the carnival of robbery in the residence district, acting Chief of Police Paul Flammer yesterday instructed his men to advise citizens to place their valuables in safe deposit vaults before leaving home for the summer. In the past two weeks forty robberies have been reported of unoccupied houses.

Sunday night burglars entered the home of Joseph Melczer, a liquor dealer, at No. 2557 West Pico street. Melczer is at the beach with his family and left the house in the care of a friend. The burglars secured a valuable gold watch, diamonds, jewelry, cut glass and clothing. The jewelry had been left on the dressers in the various bedrooms.

Other robberies, amounting to several hundred dollars, were reported to the police yesterday. In each case the houses entered were unoccupied.

On Hunter street, thieves went from door to door, ringing the bells. If any one answered, they asked if a physician lived there.

Chief Flammer said yesterday:

"These men have been working the city successfully for the past month. They are commonly known as passkey men and their methods are so simple that it is hard to detect them. They do not work under suspicious circumstances and they do not attract attention. They enter a house boldly, lock the door behind them and do their work in broad daylight.

"They are the most dangerous kind of thieves. The chief remedy is to put one's valuables in the safe deposit vaults before leaving town.

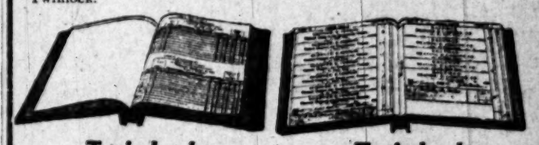
Requires Loose Leaf Devices

The demands for up-to-date systems have made the loose leaf binders, transfers, etc., almost indispensable, and every effort has been put forth to provide the best that can be produced.

The "Twinlock" has reached the highest stage of perfection and is the strongest and best on the market. The current binders may be had with either round or flat backs. All metal parts that come in contact with the desk are covered with leather, while the covers are finished in Russia or corduroy. The double locks are controlled by one key and all sheets are held securely, keeping the edges even. Let us show you the "Twinlock."



Twinlock

Monthly Statement System

With this system, complete statements can be furnished on the first of each month and the total footing of each posted in one entry in the ledger. It is rapidly gaining in favor and is well worth your consideration.

Twinlock

Loose Leaf Invoice Books

The "Twinlock" method should appeal to all persons using the old, heavy, thick back invoice books. A current binder is used in conjunction with a transfer binder and many decided improvements are made possible over the old style methods. Let us explain them to you.

Loose Leaf City Delivery System

The correct way to handle city deliveries. The "Twinlock" system greatly reduces the cost. Receipts are made in duplicate, the one being left with the customer while the other is filed in post binders, which are used as permanent files. Perfect your delivery system. Buy the "Twinlock."

NEWS REPORTS FROM CORRESPONDENTS OF THE TIMES.

TOO LOW YAWN THE AWNINGS.

MANY PASADENA MERCHANTS ARE ARRESTED.

Officers Go About Town With a Measuring Pole and Find Numerous Sunshine Shields Not as High as Is Required by the City Ordinance—Plans of Throop.

Office of The Times, No. 74 S. Raymond avenue.

PASADENA, July 23.—Practically every merchant of the downtown district will be present today in Judge McDonald's court to explain why the awnings over their store doorways were not six feet six inches above the pavement. The number arrested in one wide swoop is forty-five, and this includes every seller of awnings in Pasadena.

For several weeks Chief of Police Favour has been personally visiting the merchants and explaining to them the ordinance concerning awnings. He got many merry jests, and much badinage, but he was unable to persuade any of them to raise their drooping awnings. This morning he started Patrolmen Peck and Haynes out with a pole six feet and a half long. They tried it on every awning, and it was found that forty-five of them violated the law. The owners were promptly put under arrest and ordered to appear for trial.

The postoffice, banks, business houses and offices all disregarded the law. At one store Chief Favour says the iron frame of the awning was only five feet seven inches from the sidewalk, and the owner suavely remarked when chided for it, "That boy let that darned thing down too low again." When the cases come up before Judge McDonald there will be no excuses accepted, as every one has been warned.

Chief Favour says that as soon as this awning proposition is settled, he intends to give a short coure of instruction to auto and horse drivers who prefer the wrong side of the street. This recklessness of driving is very prevalent, and almost daily dangerous collisions are avoided by the merest chance. Certain drivers of automobiles delight in turning corners, often on the wrong side of the street, so that their wheels run in on the sidewalk. The Chief has reasoned with many of these men, and has given long warning of his intention to correct this evil. Many may find themselves mulcted of goodly wads if they do not take this warning and advice.

PLANS OF THROOP.

Students from extreme remote districts have been forced to travel long distances in order to take advantage of the best engineering courses. For this reason and because of the ideal geographical situation and climatic conditions of Southern California the development of Throop Polytechnic Institute of Pasadena, into an engineering college of the highest rank will be watched with interest.

Throop Institute, comprising as it does, several departments or schools, has been one of the leading manual training institutions of secondary grade in the country, and its normal graduates in art, manual training and home economics are filling positions the State over. The call for increased facilities in its engineering college has seemed imperative and only recently a new site of twenty-two acres was purchased and here upon a beautiful campus covered with live and black oaks the buildings will be erected.

Prof. Arthur H. Chamberlain, acting president of the institute, talked of the plans of the school. He expects in a few years to see Throop one of the great engineering schools of the country. "Our removal to a new site," said President Chamberlain, "where for 50 years the campus would be adequate, is an event of the first importance. The new situation is perfect. For many months the trustees have planned and studied the question and they are convinced the best possible choice of site has been made. We shall remain on our present site until we have complete plans drawn and sufficient buildings erected to accommodate the school, when others will be put up as we find it possible. The campus and buildings as projected will form a perfect architectural unit and when completed the institution will be in the very front rank of engineering colleges. Our elementary school will be segregated and made an affiliated school, commercial branches will be offered as heretofore while the high school and normal together with the electrical engineering course will be intensified."

Last year the attendance in all the departments was over 630, while the faculty consists of forty members. Acting President Chamberlain, who was formally the dean of the institute, was recently elected treasurer of the National Education Association. His undergraduate work was done at the University of Chicago, where he gave chief attention to the study of geology. He later took the degrees of B. S. and A. M. at Columbia University, New York City, and holds a higher diploma in technical training from teachers college, Columbia. While in Europe he studied the field of manual and technical education.

APPEALS DENIED.

After long argument both the Pacific Electric Railway and the Edison company yesterday lost their appeals to have the assessments on their properties reduced. For the Pacific Electric the assessment on its water-bearing lands was reduced so as not to include the value of the water. The increase on the property of the Pacific Electric is from $512,000 to $521,000, and the Edison Electric company is raised from $1000 to $10,000.

In passing upon these protests Mayor Earley said that he did not think they were excessive, but he suggested that it might be well to appoint an expert assistant to the Auditor to determine the value of public utility franchises. It is possible that when the next assessment rolls around the Auditor will have the benefit of advice from some man competent to rate the values of these franchises.

In considering the protest of the Pacific Electric Company Mayor Earley went extensively into the figures involved. Tax Agent E. G. Wood admitted that the cost of laying and equipping tracks on asphalted streets was $25,000 per mile, and claimed that the assessment should be only 60 per cent. of this, or $15,000. Auditor Don M. Kellogg had fixed the assessment on a basis of $18,000 per mile. The Mayor confronted the tax agent with the statement of Attorney Dunn, that it would cost $60,000 double-track the business street a distance of less than a mile. Considering that this statement was made by a representative of the company to the City Council, the Mayor included that the assessment of $1[illegible] per mile of double track was not excessive. He also stated that the electric railway which preceded the Pacific Electric in this city, offered to pay $500 per month for the exclusive rights in the city of Pasadena. Considering that the Pacific Electric enjoys practically exclusive rights in the city the Mayor and Council did not think that a tax of $4000 per year on the franchise was more than the traffic would bear. The only reduction secured was on eighteen acres of water-bearing land, from $10,000 to $100.

PASADENA BRIEFS.

President E. T. Off of the State Board of Pharmacy has issued a notice to all druggists of the State that the laws concerning the sale of opiates will be strictly enforced and no leniency will be extended to culprits on the plea of mistake or negligence. President Off says it is his purpose to publish the names of all druggists convicted of violating the law in future and thus hold them up to public scorn.

Wallace Porteous of No. 982 Del Mar street fell from a ladder yesterday and dislocated his shoulder and fractured a small bone. The victim is 70 years old. He was hurried to the Emergency Hospital and the injuries attended to by Dr. A. D. S. McCoy. It is believed that the man will recover, although his age is against him.

Work on the extension of the Pacific Electric line to Altadena, on North Fair Oaks avenue, began yesterday. When completed as expected, within thirty days, the Pacific Electric will have a track running on North Fair Oaks avenue from Mariposa street to Oneonta Park, and it will then abandon the use of North Raymond avenue as a railway high road.

Two plans were also submitted to H. E. Huntington for the extension of the Lincoln-avenue line. One proposes a road west on Montana avenue to Lincoln avenue and thence to Orange Grove avenue. The other plan is to continue the line on Lincoln avenue to the intersection of Fair Oaks avenue at Throop Institute. The former plan is believed more acceptable, as some of the residents on Lincoln avenue below Orange Grove object to a car line on that street. Mr. Huntington has asked for maps of the location.

It cost John Tallman, an engineer on the line between San Bernardino and Barstow, just $3 to woo his lady love on the High School steps. Tallman has been sick and got a furlough from the hospital to visit the young woman. They thought the High School steps was an ideal place, but as the janitor has objected to spooning there, the police were vigilant. Tallman was in a hurry to go back to the hospital and waived the filing of a complaint and paid his little fine like a good sport and left the city.

Miss Katherine Dold and her daughter, Katherine, of Louisville, Ky., are visiting R. E. and Mrs. Hardesty on San Pasquale and Rose avenue.

Prof. and Mrs. James S. Curry have returned to Cleveland, O., after a sojourn with Mrs. John L. Decker of San Pasquale and Rose avenue.

Everett Stout, 29 years old died yesterday evening at No. 628 Center street. He had resided here nine months. The funeral will be held today at 4:30 o'clock at the parlors of Reynolds & Van Nuys, and the burial will be at Mountain View Cemetery. Rev. Stephen G. Emerson of the Congregational Church will conduct the services.

Chief of Police Favour says that the people who are angry because the Overland Club exists will have to show him some better evidence than has been presented so far, before he will take steps to raid the club as a "blind pig." The Brotherhood of St. Paul and one of its members, Mr. Lord, are greatly incensed at this club and make dire threats against it, but, so long as it conforms to law, there is little reason to believe that the members will ever take seats in Chief Favour's patrol wagon.

Members of the Christian Church assembled last night at the home of William and Mrs. Baker at a reception to their acting pastor, Edward C. Riley, and Mrs. Riley. Mr. and Mrs. Riley are returning to their home in Kentucky, where Mr. Riley will complete his college course. Hopes are expressed that Mr. and Mrs. Riley may return to Pasadena as permanent residents.

POMONA.

POMONA, July 22.—The Pomona Mutual Building and Loan Association has accepted plans for a $13,000 office building to be erected on the lot on Thomas street recently purchased and now occupied by a couple of wooden buildings, which will be moved away. The new building will be of brick, the front being of the gray pressed variety.

Charles E. Walker, Walter A. Lewis, Allen P. Michols and Dr. David P. Barrows returned last night from a two days' tramping trip into upper San Antonio Cañon and about Mt. San Antonio.

Dr. F. Garcelon and his daughter, Mrs. George Jess, who were successfully operated upon for appendicitis at the Pomona Valley Hospital two weeks ago, have so far recovered as to be able to be removed to Dr. Garcelon's home on West Center street.

Mrs. J. H. Clancy and Miss Anna Fleming, who were seriously injured in a runaway here last Tuesday, are convalescing. Mr. Clancy has come from his home in Tucson to attend his wife.

Mrs. A. B. Cooper of Denver, who has been visiting her brother, J. A. Fitch, for two weeks, has left for Yuba City to visit her brother-in-law, who is a large fruit land owner there.

COVINA.

COVINA, July 22.—Fire destroyed fifteen tons of baled hay on the Chapman Heights ranch this morning. The fire started in the stack and is believed to have been of incendiary origin. About two weeks ago a five-room house on the south part of this large stock range also mysteriously took fire and was totally destroyed. Col. Chapman, owner of the property, believes that both fires are the work of some miscreant. The prompt assistance of neighbors this morning prevented the flames spreading to the pasture and adjoining stubble fields.

Five cars of building material arrived this morning to be used in the construction of the depot for the Pacific Electric. The depot will be located on the corner of Second street and Hadillo avenue. When completed it will be one of the most commodious and ornate depot buildings on Huntington's suburban lines.

CALL ELECTION LONG WAY OFF.

OCEAN PARK TRUSTEES STICK TO POSITIONS.

Name a Date in Next April as the Time for the Electors of the City to Express Their Wishes on the Question of Disincorporation—Woman Offers Feathers.

VENICE, July 22.—There was something decidedly dramatic in the mass meeting held on Windward avenue this evening. The band was there. And for many there were comfortable seats. In the middle of the avenue, fronting the City Hall, a platform had been improvised for the speakers. In the distance the waves pounded mournfully, and over the tops of the Venetian turrets a moon that was all but full peeped and cast a mellow light over the assemblage.

The populace had been summoned to rally by the Executive Committee in charge of the disincorporation movement. Property owners and residents had been invited to come and be near the City Hall during the regular session of the City Trustees of Ocean Park. At this session it was presumed that the board would adopt the resolution calling the disincorporation election as prayed for by a larger number of voters than had cast ballots at the last municipal election. It had practically been promised that the election would be called tonight, and the object of the meeting of the taxpayers was to demonstrate to the Trustees the fact that the people were really in earnest in the matter and wanted to vote on the question.

David Evans, a member of the board, who had been in Utah on important business, came post haste from Salt Lake City to attend the meeting. And it was Evans who sat alone in the Council Chamber throughout the indignation meeting. He sat with his face to the open window and heard all that was said by the speakers who denounced the Trustees for some of the alleged wrongful things they had done and condemned them for not doing some of the things which it was thought they should have done.

After waiting until after 9 o'clock for the city officials to assemble, the indignant citizens dispersed, while the band played patriotic selections. Just before adjournment, the chairman of the evening caught sight of Trustee Evans and called upon him for some remarks. Evans declined to discuss the question, but stuck his head out of the City Hall window and spoke these words:

"I am here for the purpose of attending to my legal and official duty."

The crowd cheered, but Evans remained firm and resumed his seat in the Council chamber, awaiting the arrival of his colleagues.

The mass meeting was called to order by John A. Stanwood, of Santa Monica, who has extensive property interests in Ocean Park and is president of the Venice Chamber of Commerce. T. W. Aisbitt was introduced as president of the evening, and in a memorable speech on municipal matters he said the people had met to ratify the expected action of the Trustees. "You have asked your servants to call an election, and now you want to ratify their action." He suggested that if the election were not called tonight an indignation meeting would be held every night until the election was called.

John G. French president of the Ocean Park Board of Education, also spoke, saying the will of the people must be obeyed. It is supreme and no Board of Trustees can overlook it.

Resolutions of the Chamber of Commerce were read, in which the Trustees were condemned in that they do not in word or act represent the people whom they were chosen to serve, and declaring that the beach "should not be held back or the time and energy of our people wasted by the selfish and blind tyranny of a handful of malignant men or of foolishly led dupes."

"We want to be relieved of a Board of Trustees," declared the resolution, "which bestrays our interests and in which we have no confidence."

The speaker of the evening was Attorney Jud R. Rush of Los Angeles, who discussed city affairs for forty-five minutes from the viewpoint of one who sees panacea for the declared present ills through the medium of disincorporation. That was the only way to get rid of the incubus. Rush declared it was only an aggravated case of "swell head" with the Trustees and admonished his hearers to be not discouraged—to cheer up, as the worst was about over. He reviewed the several acts of the Trustees concerning which complaint is made and said the people have a right to say whether they or the Trustees should rule.

But the meeting was orderly throughout, although one woman was overheard to remark that she had donated the feathers out of two pillows. And as the last strain of the band's final number died away in the distance, a large gathering of the society and business and home-owning residents dispersed to their several abiding places, gnashing their teeth as they cast a parting glance at the Council chamber where the Trustees were not. After the crowd had dispersed the Trustees held a meeting at which there was a long debate. This debate was followed by the adoption of a resolution calling a disincorporation election for April 9, 1908. That date is near the time of the next general municipal election, and, if the special election be not held till that time, the present Trustees will not be officially eliminated till the terms of three of them have almost expired.

HURL KILLS JAP.

Teamster Receives Fatal Injuries in the Neighborhood of Monrovia.

MONROVIA, July 22.—At the Coroner's inquest this morning a verdict of "death by accident" was returned in the case of K. Cohoako, a Jap who was hurled from a wagon Saturday night and instantly killed. He was a teamster in the employ of the San Gabriel River Rock Company.

Saturday evening, after driving into camp south of Butler, or East Duarte, he removed the bridles, hanging them on the hames, in order that his horses might feed. Returning an hour later from supper in the camp dining tent, he sprang into the wagon, forgetting to replace the bridles. The horses broke into a run and Cohoako's efforts to control them were futile. He was thrown from the wagon soon after the frantic team had crossed the Santa Fé track.

A rear wheel passed over his head, crushing the skull. He was about 30 years of age and unmarried. He had been a member of the Jap colony of Berry growers south of Monrovia, but had removed to Sierra Madre, where he is said to have lived previously.

TIES FOR TROLLEY ROAD.

The steamer Pasadena and one other coastwise vessel, at dock in San Pedro, will begin unloading tonight their cargoes of ties for the extension of the Monrovia Pacific Electric branch to Glendora. They have 15,000 ties, which will suffice for six miles of single track. There are steel rails enough stacked at Monrovia to double-track to Glendora, the terminus of the line until connection to San Bernardino is made. Track-laying will be rushed as rapidly as ties can be obtained. The present shipment is from Northern California, but it is said that a much larger consignment is en route to Japan.

MONROVIA BRIEFS.

Messrs. Cramlet, Baldwin and Silvas, who have been camping for the past ten days on the West Fork of the San Gabriel River, returned this morning and report fine fishing. While in the hills Mr. Baldwin shot two deer.

INSTITUTE OPENS.

SANTA MONICA, July 22.—A hundred teaching sisters, whose homes are scattered throughout the diocese of Los Angeles and Monterey, attended the opening session of the fourth annual institute today. The session opened at Columbia Hall, with Bishop Conaty presiding. The morning lecture was delivered by James F. Chamberlain of Los Angeles, who discussed geography in relation to other studies. He said that study had a cultured side and should be considered in its social and ethical values. In the afternoon Miss Therese Finn of St. Louis spoke on the subject of music, discussing it from the standpoint of the child. There was a lecture by Charles H. Keyes of Hartford, Ct., on "The Place and Purpose of History in the School Curriculum."

BIGGEST SAILING SHIP.

German Vessel Arrives at San Pedro. Carries Fifty Thousand Square Feet of Canvas.

SAN PEDRO, July 22.—The big German sailing ship R. C. Rickmers, Capt. Walsen, arrived tonight, 103 days out from Hamburg. Her cargo is 26,000 barrels of cement, consigned to James Maynard, Jr., of Los Angeles.

The R. C. Rickmers is the biggest and fastest sailing ship afloat. She is 441 feet long. She weighs 3350 tons and has a carrying capacity of 8000 tons. Her complement, besides the captain, is two mates and fifty-nine seamen. The height from the deck to the truck of the mainmast is 177 feet and her main yard is 100 feet wide. She carries 50,000 square feet of canvas and has steel masts.

THUMPS HOODLUM.

LOS NIETOS, July 22.—"I'm a cowboy from Arizona. Just wait till I get my dollar on and I'll clean out the entire family," bluffed a hoodlum to David Cooper yesterday, as a preliminary to a match which lasted only about as long as the Jackson-Fitzsimmons bout of recent date. At the close the bad man from Arizona decided not to wait for his collar, and departed hastily in the direction of Los Angeles, bearing with him, in its stead, a beautiful collection of bumps and bruises. The belligerent youth, in company with several companions, interrupted the Cooper family picnic, and ended by threatening to mistreat the youngsters of the affected party. Cooper heard the disturbance, and went to the aid of his children with such readiness that the rowdy got the surprise of his life.

BUTCHER'S REVENGE.

Breaks Nose and Blacks Eye of Former Customer Because of Two-Dollar Meat Bill.

Because E. C. Lyon, who lives at No. 233 East Twelfth street, refused to pay a $2 meat bill, A. Jones, a butcher, who has a shop at Twelfth street and Maple avenue, assaulted him. Lyon's nose was broken and he also received a black eye. He was treated at the Receiving Hospital. He swore to a complaint against Jones, who was arrested and deposited $20 bail for his appearance in court this morning.

Lyon admits that he owes the meat bill, but insists that Jones's method of attempting to collect it is illegal. Lyon was accompanied to the Receiving Hospital by his wife, who will appear as a witness in court today.

Jones admitted the assault, but says that Lyon moved from his former address without notice, and stopped trading with him.

Unable to Sleep, Man Goes Into Dark Pantry and Swallows Strychnine Instead of Nerve Medicine.

Henry Kruse, 65 years old, who lived at No. 440 Towne avenue, swallowed several grains of strychnine, last night, by mistake, and died before a physician reached the house. He took the poison, thinking it a white powder prescribed to quiet his nerves.

When Kruse had been in bed an hour and was unable to sleep, he got up and went into the pantry to take his medicine. Presently Mrs. Kruse heard him groaning. She rushed into the pantry and found him in convulsions. He died in ten minutes. The body was taken to Bresee Bros.' morgue.

FAITHLESS LOVER ARRESTED.

Fails to Keep Marriage Promise and Girl, in Door of Hope, Charges Him With Seduction.

E. T. Murphy, who left Agnes Crogsend in the lurch on the day set for their marriage, November 15, was arrested last night. He faces a charge of seduction, sworn to by the young woman. Broken-hearted, Miss Crogsend is now at the Door of Hope.

For several months Miss Crogsend believed that Murphy would return and marry her. Not until she was taken to the charitable institution would she agree to prosecute him. She appeared before Justice Rose on June 1 and swore to the complaint upon which a warrant was issued. She came to this city from Illinois about a year ago and worked as a domestic. Murphy was formerly employed by the People's Gas and Coke Company.

The Navajo Indians.
A circular from Marion A. Moore, field representative of the Indian Industries League of the Navajo Indian Reservation, Crystal, N. M., has been received by The Times, saying:
"We are making every effort to foster and improve the Indian industries, and the results are encouraging us to go on and get the Indians to earn their own living like any citizens of the United States, and to help them do it without being supervised by politicians and office holders, and held like prisoners within the bounds of their reservation.
"The government has never given these Indians rations or annuities, they are and have always been self-supporting. But such support is meager to the verge of starvation for the majority of these poor mountain Navajos, who have only their annual crop of wild hay to depend on. This is always badly damaged and sometimes entirely lost, by the heavy summer rains. This last year they lost nearly 100 tons within a radius of twelve miles, because they had no baler or hay press with which to save it. They could have sold the greater part of this hay at the agency for $30 per ton, if they could have delivered it there in good condition.
"We are asking donations to buy them a good machine of this kind. Will you and your friends help us with a contribution? It can be sent to the league, or direct to me. If sent to the league, please state that it is to be used toward buying a hay press for the Navajo Indians.
"All contributions will be promptly and gratefully acknowledged."

NEWS REPORTS FROM CORRESPONDEN

SAYS WHITE FLY WAS SMUGGLED.

HORTICULTURAL OFFICER SAYS $60 IN SAN BERNARDINO.

Tells of the Way the Pest Is Said to Have Gained a Foothold About Marysville—From Florida to California by Way of Another State Instead of Direct.

SAN BERNARDINO, July 22.—Through the trickery of a former resident of Florida the white fly pest gained a foothold in Marysville. This declaration is made by Horticultural Commissioner S. A. Pease in his official report to the Board of Supervisors, filed and read before the Board this morning.

The report is of especial interest as it is the first official expression from Mr. Pease since his return from the infected district, and although he makes no reply to the utterances against him emanating from the State University at Berkeley, the report contains a significant statement as to the attitude of Prof. Clark of Berkeley toward the State Horticultural Board. Prof. Clark indorsing the work of the board, and giving it proper credit for the fight waged against the pest.

The report states that a person returning recently to Marysville from Florida was very desirous of bringing a certain plant from his old home. Owing to the strict quarantine in this state because of this same white fly, he could not ship this plant direct so, in order to evade quarantine, he entered into an agreement with a nurseryman in Ohio. The desired plant was shipped to the Ohio nurseryman from Florida, and by him consigned to Marysville.

Commissioner Pease states that it is absolutely necessary to keep experts in the Marysville district for at least a year, inspecting carefully the district over and over, so that if one speck of infection appears it can be immediately stamped out. The report gives credit to the State board for having succeeded in grappling with the pest without the necessity of appealing to the courts to obtain permission to cut back the trees and ruin the infected locality. At first the growers were up in arms and many ones had contributed to a fund to enjoin the board. By careful management, the commission removed all opposition, and now the infection is under check, 1500 or more trees having been cut back, and a great number of these defoliated.

HALF-MILLION TRUST DEED.

A trust deed to secure a bond issue of $500,000 was placed on record today, whereby transfers to the Los Angeles Trust Company all the property present and future, of the Redlands Central Railway Company, in trust for certifying to the bonds, which are to be of denominations of $1000, maturing July 1, 1937. The bonds are to be issued at once, and thus secured belong to pay for the electric railway, purchase of railway stock, and, in fact, set-up of the company, which exists now on paper, up in business. The company promises to be a rival to the Redlands interests, as concentrated efforts to make San Bernardino Valley Traction Company, Redlands-Arlington Railway Company and the new road proposes to build from the Yucaipe Valley country, and Redlands, and eventually connect with this city, unless the Huntington interests control, which is not known by the public.

SAN BERNARDINO BRIEFS.

Jesus Lara, a Mexican of good address, was arraigned this morning by Judge Conrey, and sentenced to serve six years in San Quentin. Lara has been convicted of burglary in the first degree. The crime was committed in this city. He took a room in a Third street rooming-house, and in the night attempted to break into the proprietor's room. When the police arrested him he was found crouching in a corner of his room, grasping a dirk, and but for the quickness of the police, would have put up a lively fight. In his possession was found plunder identified by the roomer in the house.

Edmond and G. S. Madden of Redlands have sold to F. J. Ward of San Bernardino and J. H. Blagge of Los Angeles a group of six claims in the Holcomb mining district. Blagge has since sold his interest thus acquired to the Show Mining Company of Los Angeles.

SHOT RIPS ARMS OF HUNTERS.

TWO HURT BY GUN ACCIDENT NEAR RIALTO.

Hunting Party Is Driving Over a Rough Road a Lurch of the Wagon Is Followed by Discharge of a Shotgun and Injury of the Men—Wild Ride for Aid.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN BERNARDINO, July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] P. P. Bunnell, son of a prominent resident of Urbita, and his companion, Harry B. Herst of Fairfield, Mo., were injured in a peculiar manner this afternoon by the accidental discharge of Bunnell's gun, while the two were hunting in the northwest of Rialto.

Herst was wounded in the left arm above the wrist, and Herst received the contents of birdshot in the left arm just below the shoulder, the shot tearing away the muscles and passing completely through the arm at the shoulder, mangling the arm and causing a wound which may result in amputation.

Fearing their wives, Bunnell and Herst had left San Bernardino in a buggy early in the afternoon. Mrs. Bunnell, who was occupying a rear seat with Mrs. Herst, was driving, and just before the accident had handed the reins to Bunnell, warning him to turn on the edge of a deep declivity.

Bunnell had hardly uttered the warning when the horses plunged into a gully and at the same instant the weapon was discharged, both women escaping injury, although the shot flew between their heads. The women quickly used their husbands' wounds as handkerchiefs and started on a run for this city.

Drs. Harris and McConico attended the wounded men, finding that the shot had ploughed the arms of both, carrying away large portions of flesh and bone, but probably not injuring the bones of the arms.

POWER AT OXNARD.

Ventura County Company Establishing a Large Substation at That Place.

OXNARD, July 22.—The Ventura County Power Company, which has spent $600,000 in the last year in the equipment of a complete power system over Ventura county, has about completed a brick substation at its local power plant, and a 33,000-volt transformer is being installed to be used as soon as the county company taps the Edison company's line at Castaic in Los Angeles county.

The transformer will be utilized in reducing this high voltage line down to a sufficient voltage for the local lines. A condensing apparatus for the condensing of water has been installed and will be in operation in the near future. The foundation work has also been completed for the reception of a large 600-horse-power, direct-connection engine, which is due to arrive within a day or so.

When it is installed the present switchboard at the power plant will be increased from a six to a twelve-panel board. The company is also busy taking care of a million feet of lumber consigned to it from the schooner Mahukona, which is having great trouble in discharging the large cargo at the Hueneme wharf, owing to the high tides and rough water.

SON ARRIVES FROM ENGLAND.

Lady Broome, who is a wealthy property owner of Oxnard and Santa Barbara, has been given a happy surprise by the arrival of her son, T. F. Broome, from London. The mother was especially overjoyed by the event on account of not having seen the boy for fourteen years, and having been in doubt for many months as to whether he was still alive. She made a trip to England in 1902 for the express purpose of seeing the boy, but upon reaching London discovered that he had enlisted as a volunteer and was fighting the Boers in South Africa. She returned home disappointed, and for a long time did not know whether the soldier had survived the war.

Coronado is always comfortable.

VENTURA.

VENTURA, July 22.—Norman F. Maw, who has been manager of the Bank of Fillmore since the founding of that institution, has retired. F. L. Fairbanks, formerly of the Bank of Hueneme, has been selected to fill the position.

The Sansome band of this city has had erected a fine pavilion on the beach, and Sunday gave its first open-air concert before a large crowd.

All the iron work of the Ventura bridge over the river at Casitas Pass is now on hand, and is being rapidly put in place by a big gang of men. The bridge will be completed before the summer is over and automobilists will have a clear run to Santa Barbara from Los Angeles without having to ford the river.

Free ice water at Coronado.

LOMPOC.

LOMPOC, July 22.—Lompoc streets will, after the first of the month, be lighted by electricity. C. F. Baird, manager for the electric lighting company, having contracted with the city this week to furnish thirty-five 36-candle-power lights and five 16-candle-power lights for the principal streets in town.

Capt. Robert Sudden of San Francisco is in town looking after his extensive ranching property that is located near here. Capt. Sudden is one of the largest property owners and taxpayers in this county.

Coronado is the place for you.

RIVERSIDE.

RIVERSIDE, July 22.—Mrs. Gertrude Morris, the Conora negress, who several weeks ago was found guilty of attempting to secure money by sending blackmailing letters through the mail, was sentenced by Judge Densmore this morning to serve one year in San Quentin. Mr. Gill has given notice of appeal.

The crime charged against Mrs. Morris is that of having sent a letter to Mrs. Lucy Call of Corona, threatening that unless she left $250 in a designated spot, her little daughter's eyes would be put out, and her house would be burned. This letter was introduced in the trial, and the handwriting was identified as that of Mrs. Morris.

An approaching wedding which has caused quite a flutter of interest on account of the popularity of the young people, is that of Charles L. Moorman, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Moorman of Riverside, and Miss Marie Preston of Los Angeles. The marriage will take place in Los Angeles Wednesday morning. That evening the bride and groom will be given a dinner party at the Glenwood, and they will leave soon after for the San Bernardino Mountains, for their wedding trip.

Coronado climate is the best.

CHANNEL CITY THRILL.

Trio of Incidents Causes Excitement While Concert Is on in Santa Barbara.

SANTA BARBARA, July 22.—A runaway horse attached to a runabout containing two young men plunged into the heavy surf at the Plaza del Mar yesterday afternoon, and started to swim the ocean; a fight in which two men were arrested, and a fire in pampas grass, all within ten minutes, and within a radius of one block of the bath-house park, occurred yesterday afternoon, in the course of a band concert.

The concert was the first of a series under the patronage of the city, and the free music attracted crowds, autos, bicycles and horse-drawn rigs of many sorts. In the midst of the concert C. L. Brown and C. J. Taft, two young men about town, got into a fight. They were at it fiercely when Police Captain Wylie dashed up on his roan nag and nabbed the pugilistic pair. Justice Price fined them $25 each this morning.

The excitement over the fight had not subsided when an automobile frightened a livery team containing two young men, from out of town. They were dressed "fit to kill," and the horses, instead of dashing into the crowd of merrymakers, struck for the breakers. Into the foam they went, and out beyond the white line. The occupants, seeing the course laid for Japan, leaped out of the vehicle and swam ashore. The team, describing a pretty circle far out, with the buggy trailing behind, came ashore, very much cooled off, some distance down the beach. The men caught the team, reentered the wagon, and drove away, refusing to give their names.

While the attention of the crowd was still turned oceanward, there was a cry of fire. It came from the hill in the rear of the bath-house, and thither a large part of the crowd turned. The fire department responded to a hurry call, only to find that the crowd had extinguished the flames. There was more excitement in that ten minutes than Santa Barbara has seen in a long time. And the band never missed a note.

Coronado is the coolest resort.

SALOON MEN KNOCK BONDS.

SAY THEY'LL DEFEAT THEM IF TOWN STAYS "DRY."

Santa Ana Liquor Element Opposed to Issuance of the City's Credit Unless Licenses for a Few Drinking Places Be Issued—Driver Seriously Injured by Frantic Horse.

SANTA ANA, July 22.—Saloon sympathizers have openly stated on the stret that they will fight every proposition to bond the city for good streets or new schools as long as the city is dry.

"No saloons, no bonds," is the slogan they have adopted.

Today J. S. Haywood stated that the liquor element voted against the school bonds at the election ten days ago, and that the same people would vote against them again unless they are given a saloon or two and restaurant liquor licenses. The saloon sympathizers do not deny that the bonds ought to carry, that the schools need the additions proposed by the Board of Eductaion, but they declare that they will fight every such proposition until they get the saloon back again.

One member of the Board of Education has been approached and offered a big block of votes for the school bonds if he would use his influence to have the liquor question again submitted to the people. Santa Ana in the past has twice voted "dry" and, with the exception of a few agitators and their backers, the question is considered finally settled.

IS HURT BY HORSE.

Harvey Gardner, a driver for the Santa Ana Steam Laundry Company, was dragged by a horse about the laundry yard at noon today, and received a severe blow in the chest from the horse. The animal was frightened last Saturday when he was being unhitched. Today he seemed nervous when he was being taken from the harness. Suddenly he jumped. Gardner held to the bride. He was thrown between the animal's forelegs, and was dragged over several barrels and a heap of boxes. He managed to turn the frantic animal into the engine-house, where he had to stop. Gardner received a terrific blow on the chest, and blood came from his lungs. The full extent of his injuries will not be known for several days.

SANTA ANA NOTES.

County Clerk W. B. Williams received today 400 hunter's tags from the Fish Commission, and all but seventy-five of them were distributed to men who have already paid the $1 license fee and who have taken receipts. So far 825 licenses have been issued in this county. The oldest hunter in the $25 is Henry Sievers of San Juan Hot Springs, aged 83, and the youngest are Jesse and Leroy Bush of Olive, and Charles Campbell of Los Angeles, both aged 11 years.

Charles Engeles of Los Angeles died at the home of his sister, Mrs. A. J. Visel, here last night, as the result of an attack of appendicitis.

Marriage licenses have been issued to William C. Shelton, aged 42, of Santa Ana, and Mary R. Yost, aged 44, of Belding, Mich.; Ulpiano Larco, aged 24, of Santa Barbara, and Fanny Hansen, aged 21, of Los Angeles; John Sloan, aged 37, of Tropico, and Lizzie Owings, aged 36, of Los Angeles; Fred S. Patch, aged 24, of San Diego, and Ellen E. Cromwell, aged 21, of San Francisco; Don Rose, aged 38, and Frances E. Van Voree, aged 21, of Cedar, Ariz.; Ernest Schroeder, aged 22, and Flora Schimming, aged 20, both of Anaheim.

HUNTINGTON BEACH.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 22.—The Huntington Beach Union High School district has found itself in the position of the man who buys a piece of ground with a bad title. W. F. Johnston, to whom the county sold $35,000 worth of bonds for the erection of a schoolhouse at Huntington Beach, has writte na letter to County Clerk W. B. Williams, saying that his attorneys have advised against the purchase of the bonds, and that he will not take them. It seems that the reason is that the Los Bolsas Union High School district had several lawsuits when it was in existence, some three districts breaking away from it. The Los Bolsas Union High School district changed its boundaries materially, and afterward its name was changed to Huntington Beach Union High School district.

BURNS OVER CEMETERY.

Candle Placed on Grave at Tia Juana Results in Flames Sweeping Burial Place.

SAN DIEGO, July 22.—In the Roman Catholic cemetery at Tia Juana yesterday, José Rominquez, a Mexican lad, not yet in his teens, lighted a candle upon his mother's grave, in observance of a religious ceremony. The result was that it set fire to the grass and before the flames could be extinguished they had burned over all of the cemetery and much of the surrounding country, forty acres all told. Clouds of smoke drifted over the hills, driven by a strong sea breeze. Other than the burning of the dried grass and weeds, no serious damage was done, save to blacken the appearance of the place of burial of many people.

STEAMER FOR DEEP DREDGING.

Lawrence Jensen has just completed building the steamer Alexander Agassiz for the use of the marine biological station at La Jolla, the cost being approximately $14,000. She is 75 feet over all; 55-foot water line, 20-foot beam and 4 feet draft. She is copper-fastened throughout and is copper-sheathed. She is especially designed for sea dredging. She is ketch-rigged and will spread 2700 square feet of sail. Her mainmast is 72 feet, mizzenmast 44 feet and bowsprit 14 feet. For auxiliary power the boat has two 25-horse-power engines of four cylinders each. A 12-horse-power gasoline engine will drive the hoist used for sea dredging. Four men will be required for the crew, in addition to work performed by the biologists.

COUNTY AUDITOR DEAD.

The sudden death last evening of Eugene Shaffer, County Auditor, removes one of the most active men in the business and social life of the community. Mr. Shaffer was born in Contra Costa county in 1860, and came to San Diego in 1870. For many years he has held the office of County Auditor during which time he twice refused offers to become Deputy State Comptroller under Mr. Colgan. For fourteen years he was connected with the firm of Arnold & Schneider, booksellers and stationers, and he was also connected with other enterprises. He was a Knight Templar, an Elk, a Knight of Pythias, and was a member of the Order of Workmen, the Woodmen of the World, Odd Fellows and Eagles. He leaves a widow and three sons, and a brother, George Shaffer, who is cashier of the First National Bank of Los Angeles.

Company Expends Nearly Million and Half in Controlling Colorado River.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P. M.]

IMPERIAL, July 22.—The task of controlling the Colorado River, which the Southern Pacific undertook at the request of President Roosevelt, was completed tonight.

During the period of operations the railroad company has expended nearly $1,500,000. Affairs at the river will now be turned back into the hands of the California Development Company.

A report of the needs of the Imperial Valley, as regards irrigation development, has been forwarded by Cpl. Randolph to New York, where the future policy of the California Development Company will be formulated.

SETTLERS WON'T LOSE.

IMPERIAL, July 22.—The report from Los Angeles that several hundred settlers in the Imperial Valley may lose their holdings through the government survey, which has been ordered, is said to be without foundation. Congress five years ago passed a special bill for the resurvey of the valley, in which it was provided that all who had actually filed claims should hold them. The resurvey has been delayed by red tape, with the result that, pending the work, title cannot pass to claimants.

Why Poor John Died.

Dinny had hurriedly summoned a doctor to administer to an acquaintance who had accidentally taken poison. After the physician had given the sick man a dose of medicine he remarked that the medicine was an antidote for the poison, and that he hoped the patient would pull through all right. In spite of the antidote, however, the sick man grew rapidly worse and died.

That night at the wake Dinny was loud in his denunciation of the doctor. "Poor John 'd 've been aloive this noight," he exclaimed bitterly, "if thot docther hadn't hastened his death wid wan iv his anecdotes."—[Harper's Weekly.

Hatpin in Body Eight Years.

To have a hatpin six inches long making excursions about one's interior department was the unusual experience of John Weichers, of Grundy county. At times for the past eight or ten years Weichers, who is eighteen years of age, has had excruciating pains, which led the parents to believe he was afflicted with appendicitis. The doctors thought differently, as the pain moved about. Yesterday surgeons performed an operation on the young man and removed the hatpin. The head was near the surface of the body and the point near the large intestines, which, fortunately, it had not punctured. About the pin was an accumulation of rust and mineral deposit that increased the size to that of a lead pencil. The mystery of how the pin got into the boy's body will probably never be solved. That it has been there for many years is apparent from the mineral depesits that had accumulated. Weichers is recovering nicely from the operation, and bids fair to make a permanent recovery.—[Waterloo (Iowa) dispatch to New York Herald.

The Brique factory at Pittsburg Landing, about two miles west of Antioch, Cal., was destroyed by fire early yesterday. It was owned by the Charles R. Allen Coal Company of Oakland. The loss will be about $80,000.

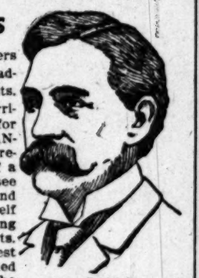
Lives of Many Men Ruined

By Contracted Diseases



DR. TAYLOR, The Leading Specialist.

Progress in the study of contracted diorders in the past few years has resulted in my advanced methods of securing permanent results. In my practice I use special methods or irrigation, and a method of my own devising for installations that cure gonorrhoea PERMANENTLY in from 3 to 10 days. I make frequent inspections of the canal by means of a small electric light, which enables me to see and to treat each inflamed part separately, and I am also enabled to show the patient himself the conditions that actually exist. Following my treatment there are no evil after results. There is no stricture to fear nor the slightest chance of a chronic condition (sometimes called gleet), but there is COMPLETE healing of the inflamed and poisoned tissue. Never use harsh injections or drastic internal remedies to stop the discharge, for if you do it is certain that in the future you will find you state worse than ever. I guarantee you a PERFECT AND A PROMPT CURE, and as well as that,

You Can Pay When Cured

If this announcement does not have particular reference to YOUR trouble, drop in and tell me what bothers you. I shall be glad to give you advice as to your condition that is sure to be of benefit to you. That will cost you nothing. It will save you an amount of nervous suffering and MAY greatly PROLONG YOUR LIFE. Be wise; don't delay. As I have stated frequently, to delay and neglect all the very serious and so-called "incurable" cases are due.

MEN Have VARICOCELE AND DON'T KNOW IT

So many men are suffering from this disease and its effect. They are dragging along daily more dead than alive. No appetite, constipated, losing weight, night losses, nervous, weak, irritable and unable to sleep soundly. Yet, if you ask them the real cause they could not tell you.

I want to say to all men with these symptoms—you are treading on dangerous ground. They're the warning signals that Nature is sending out. It is the beginning of the breakdown that is sure to follow. Take heed before it is too late or you will repent in pain and misery all the balance of your life.

How I Cure It

The cure of VARICOCELE, as I cure it, is very simple—not a moment of your time is taken from your business. Improvement is noticeable from the very first day. In a week's time your appetite will have returned, your sleep will be sound and restful, your weight will increase and in a few weeks you will again be able to enjoy the pleasures of life with a vim that will surprise you.

Examination and Consultation Free

Many men have Varicocele, yet they are not aware of it. They know that something is wrong, as they have periodical spells of weakness and a rundown feeling. I want these men to call and see me and let me examine them. It will not cost you one cent. If you have not got the disease, I will tell you so. I don't want one cent of any man's money unless I can give him value received. I also want to talk to the man that knows he has Varicocele and who has been doctoring for it without receiving any benefit. I know if you will come and see me I can prove to your satisfaction that I can cure you. My methods, my examination, my explanations are so full of good, sound common sense that you will be convinced that I have the only rational cure for Varicocele, and will cure when every other method fails.

Now, don't delay; come in today. Remember, not one cent for consultation and advice. If you cannot call, write.

Vital Decline Can Be Cured

About nine years ago here in Los Angeles I wrote and published (in The Times) the first responsible information on the TRUE CAUSE and successful treatment of premature weakness. I pointed out the direct connection of the prostate gland with weakness of the organs, and proved to the profession that my treatment would cure these cases which heretofore had practically resisted all forms of treatment. Since that time nearly all of the prominent specialists in the large eastern cities have adopted my methods, with marked success, while at the same time for years my advertisements have been continually copied, often word for word, by pretended, self-styled specialists all over the land, who knew absolutely nothing of my plan of treatment. By thoroughly understanding the true causes of this trouble, I am able to give the desired result by removing the trouble by natural and scientific means.

U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, Los Angeles, July 22.—[Reported by A. B. Wollaber, Local Forecaster.] At 5 o'clock a.m. the barometer registered 29.86; at 5 p.m., 29.91. Thermometer for the corresponding hours showed 64 deg. and 73 deg. Relative humidity, 5 a.m., 86 per cent.; 5 p.m., 44 per cent. Wind, 5 a.m., northeast, velocity 2 miles; 5 p.m., west, velocity 11 miles. Maximum temperature, 83 deg.; minimum, 62 deg. Barometer reduced to sea level.

Weather Conditions.—Fair and somewhat warmer weather has prevailed on the South Pacific Slope during the last twenty-four hours, due to the influence of a high-pressure area which yesterday moved eastward over the North Pacific States to the eastern slope of the Rocky Mountains. Scattering thunder-showers are reported along the lower lakes and in Northern Arizona and Northwestern Montana. Elsewhere in the United States no precipitation of consequence is reported. The temperature continues above the seasonal average in the Eastern States. The indications are for fair weather in Los Angeles and vicinity during the next thirty-six hours, with nearly seasonal temperature. The winds will be light and mostly westerly.

Forecasts.—Local forecast for Los Angeles and vicinity: Fair tonight and Tuesday; winds mostly westerly.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—Weather forecast:

San Francisco and vicinity: Cloudy Tuesday, with fog in the morning and at night; fresh west wind.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

Business opened with a brisk demand in all lines of produce and fruits yesterday morning. The egg market was firmer, and the jobbing price shows a slight advance over Saturday. Several sales were made on 'change yesterday at 24½c for case count offerings. Local ranch candied eggs were selling throughout the market at 26@27 cents. Prospects are for still higher quotations this week.

Creamery extra butter advanced to 65c a roll at the market yesterday, and creamery firsts were marked up to 60 cents.

Fancy selected butter will now sell at 75@80c in a retail way. Complaints are heard on all sides from the retail stores, but wholesale jobbers state the advance is caused by the law governing supply and demand. Reports are that there is less than one-half the amount of butter in storage throughout the United States this year than last. Northern cheese has advanced one-half cent.

Potatoes and onions are featureless.

The fruit market was well supplied with all varieties and prices did not change. Prices did not change on many of the fruits. Cantaloupes continue in light supply and firm. Peaches declined to 60@1.00 a box.

Tomatoes were in oversupply and declined. Cucumbers were reduced to 20@25c a box.

Sales on 'change—One carload of eastern butter; 10 Northern cheese; 16 cases of local case-count eggs; 5 sacks of choice potatoes.

The receipts of produce as reported for Saturday's and Sunday's exchange were as follows: Eggs, 466 cases; butter, 18,864 lbs.; cheese, 13,356 lbs.; potatoes, 1375 sacks; onions, 60 sacks; beans, 1 sack; sweet potatoes, none.

NEW YORK MARKET.

SHARES AND MONEY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, July 22.—Operations for an advance in a limited group of stocks, which distinguished the stock market at all times last week, were discontinued today. The tone was promptly responsive and became dull and heavy, as these operations made up about all there was of last week's market. The action of the market had little in the news to explain. Speculative sentiment may have been affected to some extent by the tone of warning among the banking and financial authorities for threatened inadequacy of money market resources to any considerable speculative undertaking in the stock market. This influence was not directly effective in the money market, however. Substantial difficulties were pointed out in the carrying out of the supposed readjustment of control of Burlington by the Northern Pacific and the Great Northern. An installment fell due today of $14,000,000 on Union Pacific convertible bonds, which falls mostly to the underwriters, and with a considerable interval to elapse before another payment it was believed that an immediate motive for stimulating the market for the bonds through the stock was withdrawn. Reports of labor troubles in the iron mines had a bad effect on United States Steel. The pressure on stocks was not severe at any time and quite general recoveries ensued on the marking up of Southern Pacific and Atchison at the last hour. The closing was heavy. Bonds were steady. Total sales, par value, $878,000. United States 2s advanced ½ and the coupons declined ¼ per cent. on call.

The Spinster's Conclusion.

Dr. Emil Reich, the famous lecturer and historian, was once discussing marriage at a dinner in New York.

"That was a wise saying of the old Greek philosopher," murmured an electrician—"Whether you marry her or not, you will regret it.'

"I know an old maid in my native Eperjes," said Dr. Reich, "who once got off a saying almost as good as the immortal Greek one."

"'Auntie,' said her little niece to her, 'what would you do if you had your life to live over again?'

"The lonely spinster with a sour smile answered:

"'Get married before I had sense enough to decide to be an old maid.'"—Ex.

Gulls as Life Savers.

"I wouldn't no more kill a gull than I would a baby," said the sailor.

"Why not?"

"Why not? Because gulls has saved my life, that's why not. Gulls is life savers. They've saved the lives of thousands of seamen. They ought to all wear round their sleek white necks a pink silk ribbon with one of them there Andy Carnegie medals tied to it.

"Wunst, off the Orkneys, in a fog, we lost our bearin's, and we'd a-run aground and drowned, sure, if the loul screamin' of the gulls on the cliffs hadn't give us timely warnin'.

"So it goes. Time after time, in black, stormy nights, in mists and fogs, gulls' cries, as good as any fog horn, warns sailors what has l

JEALOUS, SHE SHOOTS HIM.

Young Woman Kills the Man She Loves.

Surrenders to Police and Then Has Hysterics.

Bennett Slain for Leaving Her, She Says.

George T. Bennett, owner of the Bennett Electrical Company, No. 414 Germain Building, was shot to death by Estella Carwell, known as "Mrs. Bennett," about 9:15 o'clock last night. She called him out of the residence at No. 809 North Figueroa street, where he was visiting friends, to slay him. Fifteen minutes after the shooting Miss Carwell was driven to the Police Station in a cab, and gave herself up. She was accompanied by Miss Selma De Silva.

Two shots of the four fired by Miss Carwell took effect. The bullet which was fatal passed through the back of Bennett's head and came out of his mouth. Another bullet shattered the index finger of the left hand.

Jealousy was the cause of the shooting. Miss Carwell gave a detailed account of the affair, which the detectives think is correct. With composure, she told about buying the gun, hiring the cab, and driving to North Figueroa street. The cabman called Mr. Bennett out and she emptied the gun at him on the sidewalk, as he turned to go back into the house. After being locked in a cell in the women's department of the City Jail, she became hysterical, and it was necessary to give her medical attention.

LYING IN POOL OF BLOOD.

The shooting aroused the neighborhood and several persons were on the scene in time to see the cab driven rapidly away. Bennett's body was found lying face downward on the sidewalk, in a pool of blood. The police were notified of the shooting, but three different house numbers were given. Officers were sent out on each call. The ambulance took the body to the Receiving Hospital, and later to Bresse Bro's. Morgue, where an inquest will be held today.

Miss Carwell lives at No. 1323 South Hill street, where she is known as "Mrs. Bennett." She has lived there for eight months and Bennett was a frequent visitor, it is said. Miss Selma De Silva lived in the same apartments for some time.

Miss Carwell declared in her confession to the detectives that she had been living with Bennett as his wife for six years, but that he had recently been paying attentions to other women, and she was jealous. Rumors, she explained, of his engagement had driven her to kill him.

"I had been watching him for days," she said, "to see if he was really paying attentions to another woman. When I was waiting for the car to go home last night, I saw him in an automobile with several persons. I decided to follow him. I hired a cab, and after buying a second-hand revolver and a number of cartridges, I called for Miss De Silva and took her with me.

FOLLOWS HIM IN CAB.

"I followed Bennett about the city and finally found where he was visiting. I sent the cabman to call him out. Bennett came out on the porch and talked with the cabman. I got out of the cab. He walked down the steps and said he did not want any trouble. He tried to stop me from talking and turned back to go up the steps again. I opened fire".

Miss Carwell burst into tears after she had completed her story. Miss De Silva told practically the same story to the detectives. When Miss Carwell arrived at the Police Station she went into Lieut. Murray's office and surrendered the revolver. She is a large woman, with black eyes and jet black hair, and is 28 years old.

George Bennett was a widower, 40 years old. He has two children. His father, G. W. Bennett, and his mother live at Del Mar, San Diego county. His mother departed for Denver last night and it was while he was returning from the depot with a party of friends that the Carwell woman saw him.

HEAT BRINGS STORM.

Rain, Wind and Lightning Ravage Phoenix, Ariz., Doing Much Damage to City.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Three weeks' very hot weather culminated last night in a wind, rain and electrical storm of unusual severity. Copious precipitation was needed and the general result of the storm is very beneficial, but slight damage was done in many quarters and several persons had narrow escapes.

Awnings were blown down, plate glass broken, trees uprooted and struck by lightning, and the electric lights and the telephone systems were temporarily put out of business.

An electric-light wire set fire to one residence during the storm, but the fire was extinguished before much damage was done. The heaviest financial loser is the Phoenix Iron Works, which was damaged to the extent of $2000.

A business man named Morden was shocked by proximity to lightning and for some hours was believed to be seriously hurt, but is all right today.

A young couple who were driving on a country road, when the storm broke, hitched their horse under a tree and sought shelter under the bridge over the Grand Canal. A few minutes later the horse was struck and killed by lightning.

HEALTH HELP FOR PUPILS.

SCHOOL BOARD WIDENS SCOPE OF EXAMINATIONS.

Special Attention Will Be Given to Eyesight, Hearing and Physical and Mental Condition, With Directors and Physicians in Charge. Reports Show Educational Growth.

Provisions for the closer examination of pupils in the public schools as to their physcial condition, eyesight, hearing, and mental condition, with more frequent examinations than have been held in the past, were made at the meeting of the Board of Education last night. At the recommendation of the Health Committee of the board, it was decided to enlarge the working force for carrying out the work of keeping the school children free from disease and physical defects, wherever possible.

In the high schools a director, who at the same time shall be a director in science teaching, will superintend the task of keeping the pupils healthy. He will have two assistants, and, if possible, two physicians. The officers of the staff will be located at the Los Angeles High School. In the grammer grades, the duty of making examinations of the children will fall upon the teachers, under the direction of the superintendent.

Some of the ailments which will be particularly watched for are those affecting the eyesight and hearing, indications of adenoids and large tonsils; condition of teeth, chest development, superficial indications of heart weakness, and general physical and mental condition of pupils.

After the principal and teachers have examined and reported, as far as they are able, the examiners will further examine such cases as may be sent to them from time to time, by teachers and other members of the school department, particularly all pupils in special schools and ungraded rooms. In addition, teachers will be obliged to inspect the schoolrooms of the city.

Anthropometric examinations, to be conducted by the director and his assistants, are to be limited to the following points: Condition of eyesight, hearing, teeth, breathing and heart action. Whenever examination shows defective conditions in these particulars, it will be the duty of the teacher, the principal or the examiner to report to the child's parents immediately, with the suggestion that the family physician be consulted at once, and the defect, if possible, remedied. In case the parents fail to consult the family physician, if action is not taken within a reasonable time, it will be the duty of the teacher or principal in charge to so report to the director of the anthropometric laboratory, and if in his judgment the case in question is serious enough to warrant such action, it will be his duty to arrange to have the child attended at one of the clinics of the city, or by a physician from among those who may have volunteered their services for this purpose.

The resignations of Henrietta L. Brayton and Louise Kleinsorge were accepted by the board; and leave of absence was granted to Lucy A. Robinson to February 1, 1908. Luella Delp, having passed the required examination, was elected substitute teacher in domestic science. J. B. Lillard and George B. Culver were elected as emergency substitutes in the high school department, under the rule governing emergency appointments. Elizabeth N. Pepper was promoted to the position of assistant special teacher of music in the primary and grammar grades.

The report of the superintendent of schools for the past year showed that the average daily attendance has been 30,341 out of a total enrollment of 42,998 pupils. The percentage of attendance was given at 94. The number of pupils "demoted" was 248, and there suspended during the year totaled but 58. Cases of corporal punishment numbered 254. Teachers in the grammar grades were tardy 658 times. The schools of the district show a gain in enrollment over last year of 4738. Books in the school libraries number 60,648, valued at 332,789.

The annual report of the superintendent to the county superintendent of schools, based upon the annual statistical report, showed three high schools, with 112 principals and teachers, 74 primary and grammar-school principals, 220 teachers in grammar grades, 587 teachers in primary grades, 101 teachers in kindergarten classes, 2 teachers in deaf classes, 10 teachers in boys' evening school and 12 special teachers, making a total teaching force of 1020, a gain of 155 teachers over last year. Of this number, 91 are men and 923 are women.

The total valuation of all school property is $4,376,095, and the total outstanding bonded indebtedness of the district is $1,617,850—$1,190,850 for the common schools and $429,000 for the high schools. The average annual salary of all teachers, principals and superintendents was $824.25. The average cost per pupil enrolled in the kindergartens was $21.15; in the primary and grammar schools, $26.03; and in the high schools, $38.08, an increase over the figures of last year.

Plants Have Short Lives.

A mushroom growth in a night. The plants of Karroo sprout, bloom and die during an April shower. The Karroo is a broad, elevated tract of country situated in Cape Colony, with an altitude of from 1800 to 3000 feet, slight rainfall, and a semi-desert vegetation.

The shrubs are mostly a dull, grayish green. Pretty little annuals occur under the shelter of larger bushes, flowers and fruit appearing in seedlings only one or two inches high, and these cotyledons are still fresh and green. The adaptation these ephemeral plants exhibit to a dry climate turns on the short duration of their lives, a single shower being sufficient to enable them to pass through the whole cycle of their development.—[Chicago Tribune.

STUDYING INDIAN LANGUAGES.

Prof. Kroeber Finds That the California Tribes Have a Grammar.

Prof. A. L. Kroeber of the University of California, department of anthropology, says that the Indian languages are not a random jargon as is popularly believed. In a pamphlet issued recently from the university press on the Yokuts and Yuki languages, Kroeber sets forth that the Indian languages possess an elaborate and difficult grammar, though this is entirely unknown to the Indians themselves, and must be extracted by the laborious investigations of scientists. The two languages which Prof. Kroeber selected for experiment had absolutely no similar words. They are those more different than English and Russian, for instance. The Yuki live in Northern California in the Coast Range, their principal territory being on the headwaters of Eel River. The Yokuts are located in the interior of South Central California and in the southern end of the San Joaquin Valley. The Yuki and the Yokuts are not in territorial contact and show no signs of common origin. Though Prof. Kroeber found that the grammatical structure of their language was identical at nearly every point, the words were wholly dissimilar. The two languages are like houses built according to the same plan, but of entirely different material.

The sentence structure employed in the two languages, according to Dr. Kroeber, is full of interest. The order of words, while not definitely fixed and entirely a matter of idiom and custom and not of syntax, differs quite thoroughly. In Yokuts the adjective precedes its noun; in Yuki it follows. Yokuts tend to place the verb at the head of the sentence; Yuki at the end. The numerical systems of the two languages are radically different; that of the Yokuts being strictly decimal; that of Yuki quaternary.

It is noted by Dr. Kroeber that California has more totally distinct Indian languages per square mile than any other State. The reason for this great variety of languages has never been properly accounted for. The present bulletin indicates some former connection or common influence, and is therefore regarded as a first step to the solution of the puzzle.

Saving Her Husband's Hair.

Women seem to have the capacity for thrift. Possibly generations of enforced "skimping" to make the "house money" go around has made them thrifty. I know one woman whose thriftiness is one of her marked traits. The first time she had a row with her husband she jerked a handful of hair out of his head. The row ended, and all was forgiven, and they kissed and made up. While they were beaming on each other and begging each other to forgive, the husband noticed that his wife was winding the lock of hair around into a little ball. He asked about it and she remarked:

"I don't believe in wasting anything. I'll just put it in that vase, and perhaps in time, I'll have enough to stuff a pillow."

Despite that rather startling outlook the husband would not be wise to seek a separation, for if he continues the partnership she will make him rich.—[Sunday Magazine.

CIRCULATE THESE Big Facts

The series of three impressive articles, in The Sunday Times, on the developemnt of Los Angeles, have been assembled in a single half-size 8-page sheet and are now ready for widespread distribution.

Eight Captivating Pages.

These facts, shown in the imposing tables and charts, are convincing evidence of the wonderful strides in population, finance and manufacturing industries made by Los Angeles, the freest city in America. A wide dissemination of this "meaty" literature will forever set at rest the "doubting Thomases" and jealous neighbors who are harping against the "City of the Angels."

Therefore, all the text and tables of demonstration have been printed in a convenient, 8-page sheet, and are now offered to merchants and others (who will mail them abroad) on the following basis:

In 5000 lots, $5 per thousand. Purchasers to have the privilege of having a red line printed on the front page, reading, "Compliments of John Jones," without extra charge. In addition, The Times will insert, if desired, a page advertisement for any purchaser, charging only the cost to the office in addition to the $5 per thousand.

In less than 5000 lots and down to 2500 copies, $7.50 per thousand, same conditions as 5000 lots.

Less than 2500 and down to 1000 copies, $10 per thousand, same conditions as in 5000 lots.

1000 copies or less, 1c per copy straight, with no extra printing. Send 2c for a single copy.
